In bidding farewell to their school days and matriculating in the school of life the class of 1902 presented at the opera house last evening one of the most interesting programs ever given by a graduating class in this city.

Comprising as it does 16 members, the class showed to great advantage that both literary and musical acccomplishments were not lacking.

Quite a pretty innovation in the program was the appearance of two tiny spirtes, Geraldine Ikirt and Louise Betts, selected from the prrimary grade.

The stage was beautifully decorated. In the center and well toward the back a large arch resting upon pillars had been placed. This was covered with hundreds of little flags. Just behind the curtain at the front of the stage an immense flag, made of red, white and blue crepe paper was hung, and from this other stands of the paper in the national colors were carried to the rear of the stage to meet the arch in which curtains of the paper were caught back in artistic fashion. The canopied effect of the three colors was most pleasing.

BEAUTIFUL EFFECT WAS PRESENTED

As the orchestra played a popular march, the class, led by the two tiny maids, passed beneath the arch to the front of the stage. The effect was most beautiful, with the snowy white dresses of the girl graduates and the conventional black of the boys, the costumes of the youthful maids lent the only touch of color. Little Miss Betts was gowned in green lawn over silk of the same eshade, while Geraldine Ikirt wore a dress of pink point d' esprit over pink silk. Both little dresses were made in French style and were complete from the large bows on the crowns of their heads to the new pink and green slippers. Thus was shown the class colors. Bearing over their shoulders, as did each of the graduates, a long chain made of pink ribbon and carnations and sprays of asparagus, the little maids advanced to the front of the stage and as they parted, leading each line in an opposite direction, the true beauty of the march was seen.

Standing in a semi-circle, an opening was made, and Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart, accompanied by Supt. R. E. Rayman, entered, the former making an earnest appeal to God for His protection of the clas in the years to come in their various walks of life.

To the tunes of a march the class now passed to the sides of the stage, where each member left his part of the floral strand in the arms of the two little girls. These, in turn, when they had fastened the strands in an artistic manner at the ends of the stage, met in the center and passed out.

A SUPERB PROGRAM OF MUSIC AND ORATORY

Now began the regular program, interspersed throughout with musical selections. These were all unusually fine. The first selection, "Distant Chimes," was rendered in a pleasing manner by a selected chorus. "I Want to Be a Military Man," sung by about 25 high school boys and accompanied by Miss Shrader upon the piano, was especially good and won from the audience prolonged applause. "The American Girl," the words of which were written by Miss Rubiena Ikirt, was sung by a girls' chorus, and it in turn received vociferous applause.

The American Girl.

Of the American girl we will now sing.
We need but to say she is up to date in everything;
Few are the tasks which she cannot surmount with her tact and skill.
This is why she stands in preeminence still.

Chorus:

The American girl with her frolic and fun you will see everywhere you go;
Not only at home is she cherished and loved but by other nations also;
Many laurels will she win in the coming years.
So let the maidens of other climes
Hail the American girl!

In song and story she is ever apt with her pretty verse;
Yet not in her knowledge of book and lore is she less terse;
But in the world of fine arts where is her peer?
Or in the field of sports what need she fear?

Chorus.

A musicale, classical and popular, was given by Misses Shrader and Bloor, and in this both young ladies won for themselves not a little favorable comment.

WORK OF MUSICIANS OF GREAT RENOWN

Miss Shrader spoke of the work of such musicians as Mendelssohn, Chaminade and Chopin, and played beautifully upon the piano a selection from each. They were the "Spring Song," "The Flatterer" and "Valse." Miss Shrader plays beautifully and won for herself new laurels. Miss Bloor then sang in her inimitable manner a number of popular songs, with Miss Shrader as accompanist. Among the selections rendered were Ethelbert Nevin's "Rosary"; Reginald DeKoven's "O Promise Me" and Alfred Solman's "Lenore, My Own Lenore." "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was then sung by Mr. Blaine Cochran, accompanied by Miss Shrader upon the piand and twenty boys who sang the chorus. This was excellently rendered and was followed by "Marching Through Georgia" by the orchestra. "Nearer, My God, to Thee," with variation was played in a faultless manner by Miss Shrader, who again won rounds of applause.

Previous to the presentation of diplomas Supt. Rayman spoke upon the advance of education in our city. He also announced that Miss Ida Watson had carried first honors during the four years' course and was therefore entitled to a four years' scholarship in Delaware college. Mr. Rayman then handed the diplomas to the two little girls who taking them in their arms distributed the much coveted documents among the class. The high school then sang the "Star Spangled Banner," and the benediction being pronounced by Dr. Taggart, the curtain fell upon the high school life of the class of 1902.

The opera house was crowded to its full capacity.

A synopsis of the orations, in the order they were delivered, follows. The exercises were interspersed with suitable selections played by Nowling's orchestra.

HIGH PLACES ARE WON BY MEN OF LOFTY AIMS

"Corners," the subject discussed by J. Harry Birkett, presented an excellent opportunity for original ideas, and the speaker took advantage of this, portraying, in a logical and plain line of thought and argument, why the people of our great country should launch out from the small corners in which they are set and by industry, ambition and zeal rise not only to the highest positions afforded in the universe; but broaden and branch out from the smaller corners until they have attained the larger ones and thereby make the utmost of their advantages.

We are confronted at all times by men that are continuously trying to advance through influence and integrity, and were we to stop and let them go on without making a strenuous effort ourselves we would remain in the

CITY TAX LEVY FOR 1903 FIXED

The Rate Will Be 9 1-2 Mills, or 2.3 Less Than the Legal Maximum.

HOW IT IS APPORTIONED

The New Rate as Fixed by Council Will Raise for the City a Total of $54,011.39 on a Valuation of $5,685,410.

Only five members were present at the called meeting of council held Thursday evening for the purpose of fixing the tax levy required to meet the city's obligations. After well considering the question and figuring the proportion the clerk was instructed to certify the levy as follows to the county auditor:

General fund, 1.065; street, 1.15; fire, 1.9; police, .2; light, 1.4; interest, 2.; sanitary, .5; library, .5; park, .2.

The levy totaled amounts to 9.5, which is 2.3 less than is lawfully allowed. Many citizens and a few of the councilmen were under the impression that a levy exceeding 9 would be not in conformity with the law, but the solicitor, after investigating, found that it would be perfectly legal to levy 11.8 . One mill is equal to $5,685.41, and therefore the 9.5 equals $54,011.39. The total valuation of the city's property is $5,685,410.

A GRAND RALLY OF THE K. OF C.

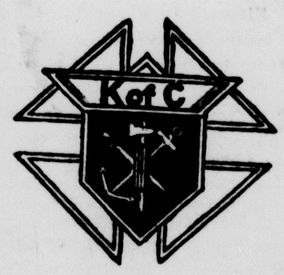

Five Hundred Visitors Came to East Liverpool to Witness the Exercises.

VERY IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Followed By an Enjoyable Banquet at Which Were Made Eloquent Speeches Dealing With the Order's Aims And Objects—Degree Work.

No less than 500 members of the Knights of Columbus and their friends made East Liverpool their residence for a day, yesterday, and it will be an event that will long live in the memories to those who made the trip. On the early morning trains members of this order and their friends began to arrive in the city, and about 10 o'clock a special train bearing members of the order from Dennison and Steubenville came in.

The Youngstown delegates and their friends, accompanied by a few knights from Beaver Falls and other towns in western Pennsylvania, arrived on the train due at 10:06. All met at the Knights of Columbus hall in the Stevenson building, Fifth and Market streets, where a brief social session was held. The visiting knights did not long remain here, however, as the day was to be filled with business, and the ranks once formed the mebers attenled a high mass service at St. Aloysius church, at which Rev. Father Thomas J. Mahan officiated. At 10:30 o'clock, following this service, which is one of the most impressive of all Catholic services, members of the order assembled at Brotherhood hall, where a class of between 40 and 50 men had conferred upon them the first degree of the order. This work was in charge of the Youngstown council, and continued from 12 o'clock until after 1 p. m.

This was followed by a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, which was in charge of the members of the Ladies' Catholic Mutual Benefit association. Covers were laid for 300, but not all of this number attended the banquet. Some of the visitors took advantage of the intermission to make a visit to Rock Springs park.

The banquet, which commenced at 2 o'clock, was a success in every particular, and due credit should be given the ladies for making it such. The hall was tastefully decorated with the national colors, which were intermingeld with the emblems of the order and its colors, purple and white.

During the banquet the following musical program was rendered in an excellent manner by McGraw's orchestra:

Institute march, Seitz; selection, "Il Puritana," Bellini; morceau, "Sparkling Eyes," Puerner; march, "New England Finest," Clarke; Tipperary march, Fulton; overture, "Olive Branch," Schlepegrall; intermezzo, "Cupid's Garden," Eugene; "A Pickaninny Christening," Wiley.

The menu was servel in the following order:

Sherbet.
Olives, Radishes, Pickles,
Sliced tomatoes, Sliced cucumbers
Baked Fish, Parsley Sauce
Cold Slaw, New Potatoes,
Pears, Punch a la K. of C.
Lobster Salad, Mayonaise Dressing.
Potato Salad, Cheese Sticks,
Assorted Cakes.
Strawberries, Brick Ice Cream,
Assorted Fruits, Bon Bons,
Coffee, Cigars.

During the early part of the banquet Toast Master James H. Grafton announced that a few of the visitors desired to talk, and this was the sentence that brought unusual quiet to the hall. Telling of the arrangement of the day and the amount of work yet to be done, the speaker introduced Rev. Father T. J. Mahan, of this city. His subject was "Our Church," and his speech was very brief. His remarks were confined to the work of the Catholic church, and of the lives of the members of the church.

This address was followed by Attorney P. A. Gavin, of Toronto, who had for his subject "Our Country." The address was one of the best heard during the afternoon. In part the speaker said:

"It is fitting on this occasion, when a mourning but grateful people are stwewing beautiful flowers over the silent resting places of the nation's dead—over the graves of those patriotic hearts which beat time to the

A DAY OF JOY

FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN OF THE CITY.

The Little Ones Have Complete Possession of Rock Springs Park Today.

The annual outing to the scholars of the East Liverpoool public schools was held today at Rock Springs, and to say that the little folks enjoyed themselves is to express the matter but mildly. Early this morning the children began to assemble at the various schools, and at 9:30 o'clock those children attending the Central school marched to Union and Third street, where ample transportation was provided free by the Rock Springs street railway to the park.

Each scholar had a free transportation permit, but many children attending the outing were taken there by their parents. Quite a large crowd of parents visited the park this afternoon and baskets containing enough food were taken to provide for several meals. All the cars were well filled with park visitors this afternoon and an immense crowd is expected to visit the park this evening.

The children were in charge of the teachers of the rooms they have been attending during the past term, and all were looked after by Supt. R. E. Rayman.

THROWN FROM A BUGGY

William Simpson and Family of East Liverpool, Have an Accident at Lisbon.

Lisbon, May 31. — (Special) — As William Simpson, of East Liverpool, with his wife and two little girls were driving on Washington street here yesterday morning, his horse became frightened at a locomotive and ran away. They ran against a tree and threw the family out. One little girl had her front teeth knocked out, but none of the rest were seriously hurt.

The horses were considerably scratched, one having a shoulder sprained and a knee cap broken. The buggy was badly smashed. The horses were owned by W. H. Kountz, of East Liverpool.

PURSUED BY A CROWD

Harry Moson, Colored, Narrowly Escaped Rough Treatment.

Harry Mason, a well known negro, was badly frightened last evening. He was doing something he should not have done, and a crowd on Second street chased him to beat him. Bricks and stones were thrown by the crowd at Mason, but did not hit him. He ran into the Hotel Lakel, and there was soon lost to the angry crowd following him. After waiting for him to come from his hiding place for an hour the crowd dispersed.

A SERIOUS FIRE

Which Caused Complete Loss of a Sebring Merchant's Stock.

Sebring, O., May 31.—(Special)—A fire occurred here Thursday night about midnight which caused a damage of not less than $1,500. The fire started in the shoe store of Samuel Kulse, caused by the bursting of an electric light globe which set fire to a can of gasoline near the light. The stock of the store is a complete loss.

Other property adjacent was damaged.

Memorial Day at Lisbon.

Lisbon, May 31. — (Special) — The Memorial day exercises here were unusually well attended and impressive. Hon James A. Martin delivered a fine address.

GRANDLY IMPRESSIVE WERE THE EXERCISES OF MEMORIAL DAY

Due Honor Paid to the Dead Heroes of This City by Surviving Comrades.

THE DAY AN IDEAL ONE AND EXERCISES GRAND

Solemn Services at the Cemetery In Which Oratory Was a Feature.

ELOQUENT AND NOBLE WERE THE SENTIMENTS

In the Tributes Uttered to the Memory of Those Who Died For Freedom and Their Country—Memorial Oration by L. T. Farr.

Memorial day was observed in a most fitting manner yesterday under the direction of General Lyon post No. 44, of this city, assisted by the Ladies' Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans and Veterans of the Spanish-American war. The day was all that one could desire, and the program as published in this paper Thursday was closely followed.

Over a month ago members of the local post commenced to arrange for this day, and well their work was done. Shortly after noon yesterday those who proposed to take part in the parade assembled on Fifth street, near Washington, where the parade formed, the right resting on Washington street. It was about 1:30 o'clock when Chief Marshal Daniel McLane shouted "Forward March," and to the tune played by Howard's drum corps, the parade covered the following route: From Washington to Broadway, to Fourth, to Market, to Diamond, where transportation was provided to the cemetery.

The formation of the parade was as follows:

Members of City Police Force.
Howard's Drum Corps.
Chief Marshal McLane And Staff.
Grand Army and ex-Soldiers of the Civil War.
S. O. V. Drum Corps.
Sons of Veterans.
Spanish War Veterans.

Along the route of parade the streets were well filled with people, and on more than one occasion a tear drop was seen in the eye of an elderly person, who was thinking probably of the days when these noble sons fought for a cause that was most righteous. Owing to the age of the veterans, the parade did not march to the cemetery, as has been the custom in past years, but the participants were transferred to Riverview cemetery by street cars and other conveyances.

A more beautiful sight never met the eye than was that presented by nature at Riverview cemetery. Beautiful flowers, green trees and bending shrubbery lent additional beauty to the scene. Quite near the Memorial chapel, which was dedicated only a few years ago by the Grand Army, and upon which occasion Congressman R. W. Tayler delivered the dedicatory address, was erected a small mound by Sexton Whitaker, of Riverview cemetery. This commemorated the many soldier graves throughout the beautiful resting place, and about which the Grand Army of this city and the several auxiliaries assembled upon entering the cemetery.

Here the solemn ritual of the dead was read by Commander McLane, of General Lyon post. This was responded to by the several officers of the post, and was followed by the firing of three salutes over the mound by the firing squad of Garfield camp, Sons of Veterans. In a distant part of the cemetery a salute of 13 guns was given by the gun squad of the camp. During this intermission the parade was again formed, and the march to the speakers' stand was rather slow, in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion. This stand was decorated with the national colors, and all the seats were occupied by members of the Grand Army, visitors, speakers and ladies. The exercises of the day were opened by Commander-in-Chief Daniel McLane, of Post 44, who said:

"Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, Ladies of the Woman's

In bidding farewell to their school days and matriculating in the school of life the class of 1902 presented at the opera house last evening one of the most interesting programs ever given by a graduating class in this city.

Comprising as it does 16 members, the class showed to great advantage that both literary and musical acccomplishments were not lacking.

Quite a pretty innovation in the program was the appearance of two tiny spirtes, Geraldine Ikirt and Louise Betts, selected from the prrimary grade.

The stage was beautifully decorated. In the center and well toward the back a large arch resting upon pillars had been placed. This was covered with hundreds of little flags. The canopied effect of the three colors was most pleasing.

BEAUTIFUL EFFECT WAS PRESENTED

As the orchestra played a popular march, the class, led by the two tiny maids, passed beneath the arch to the front of the stage. The effect was most beautiful, with the snowy white dresses of the girl graduates and the conventional black of the boys, the costumes of the youthful maids lent the only touch of color. Little Miss Betts was gowned in green lawn over silk of the same eshade, while Geraldine Ikirt wore a dress of pink point d' esprit over pink silk. Both little dresses were made in French style and were complete from the large bows on the crowns of their heads to the new pink and green slippers. Thus was shown the class colors. Bearing over their shoulders, as did each of the graduates, a long chain made of pink ribbon and carnations and sprays of asparagus, the little maids advanced to the front of the stage and as they parted, leading each line in an opposite direction, the true beauty of the march was seen.

Standing in a semi-circle, an opening was made, and Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart, accompanied by Supt. R. E. Rayman, entered, the former making an earnest appeal to God for His protection of the clas in the years to come in their various walks of life.

To the tunes of a march the class now passed to the sides of the stage, where each member left his part of the floral strand in the arms of the two little girls. These, in turn, when they had fastened the strands in an artistic manner at the ends of the stage, met in the center and passed out.

A SUPERB PROGRAM OF MUSIC AND ORATORY

Now began the regular program, interspersed throughout with musical selections. These were all unusually fine. The first selection, "Distant Chimes," was rendered in a pleasing manner by a selected chorus. "I Want to Be a Military Man," sung by about 25 high school boys and accompanied by Miss Shrader upon the piano, was especially good and won from the audience prolonged applause. "The American Girl," the words of which were written by Miss Rubiena Ikirt, was sung by a girls' chorus, and it in turn received vociferous applause.

The American Girl.

Of the American girl we will now sing.
We need but to say she is up to date in everything;

Chorus:

Chorus.

A musicale, classical and popular, was given by Misses Shrader and Bloor, and in this both young ladies won for themselves not a little favorable comment.

WORK OF MUSICIANS OF GREAT RENOWN

Miss Shrader spoke of the work of such musicians as Mendelssohn, Chaminade and Chopin, and played beautifully upon the piano a selection from each. They were the "Spring Song," "The Flatterer" and "Valse." Miss Shrader plays beautifully and won for herself new laurels. Miss Bloor then sang in her inimitable manner a number of popular songs, with Miss Shrader as accompanist. Among the selections rendered were Ethelbert Nevin's "Rosary"; Reginald DeKoven's "O Promise Me" and Alfred Solman's "Lenore, My Own Lenore." "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was then sung by Mr. Blaine Cochran, accompanied by Miss Shrader upon the piand and twenty boys who sang the chorus. This was excellently rendered and was followed by "Marching Through Georgia" by the orchestra. "Nearer, My God, to Thee," with variation was played in a faultless manner by Miss Shrader, who again won rounds of applause.

Previous to the presentation of diplomas Supt. Rayman spoke upon the advance of education in our city. He also announced that Miss Ida Watson had carried first honors during the four years' course and was therefore entitled to a four years' scholarship in Delaware college. Mr. Rayman then handed the diplomas to the two little girls who taking them in their arms distributed the much coveted documents among the class. The high school then sang the "Star Spangled Banner," and the benediction being pronounced by Dr. Taggart, the curtain fell upon the high school life of the class of 1902.

The opera house was crowded to its full capacity.

CITY TAX LEVY FOR 1903 FIXED

The Rate Will Be 9 1-2 Mills, or 2.3 Less Than the Legal Maximum.

HOW IT IS APPORTIONED

The New Rate as Fixed by Council Will Raise for the City a Total of $54,011.39 on a Valuation of $5,685,410.

Only five members were present at the called meeting of council held Thursday evening for the purpose of fixing the tax levy required to meet the city's obligations. After well considering the question and figuring the proportion the clerk was instructed to certify the levy as follows to the county auditor:

General fund, 1.065; street, 1.15; fire, 1.9; police, .2; light, 1.4; interest, 2.; sanitary, .5; library, .5; park, .2.

The levy totaled amounts to 9.5, which is 2.3 less than is lawfully allowed. Many citizens and a few of the councilmen were under the impression that a levy exceeding 9 would be not in conformity with the law, but the solicitor, after investigating, found that it would be perfectly legal to levy 11.8 . One mill is equal to $5,685.41, and therefore the 9.5 equals $54,011.39. The total valuation of the city's property is $5,685,410.

This was followed by a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, which was in charge of the members of the Ladies' Catholic Mutual Benefit association. Covers were laid for 300, but not all of this number attended the banquet. Some of the visitors took advantage of the intermission to make a visit to Rock Springs park.

The banquet, which commenced at 2 o'clock, was a success in every particular, and due credit should be given the ladies for making it such. The hall was tastefully decorated with the national colors, which were intermingeld with the emblems of the order and its colors, purple and white.

During the banquet the following musical program was rendered in an excellent manner by McGraw's orchestra:

Institute march, Seitz; selection, "Il Puritana," Bellini; morceau, "Sparkling Eyes," Puerner; march, "New England Finest," Clarke; Tipperary march, Fulton; overture, "Olive Branch," Schlepegrall; intermezzo, "Cupid's Garden," Eugene; "A Pickaninny Christening," Wiley.

The menu was servel in the following order:

Sherbet.
Olives, Radishes, Pickles,
Sliced tomatoes, Sliced cucumbers
Baked Fish, Parsley Sauce
Cold Slaw, New Potatoes,
Pears, Punch a la K. of C.
Lobster Salad, Mayonaise Dressing.
Potato Salad, Cheese Sticks,
Assorted Cakes.
Strawberries, Brick Ice Cream,
Assorted Fruits, Bon Bons,
Coffee, Cigars.

During the early part of the banquet Toast Master James H. Grafton announced that a few of the visitors desired to talk, and this was the sentence that brought unusual quiet to the hall. Telling of the arrangement of the day and the amount of work yet to be done, the speaker introduced Rev. Father T. J. Mahan, of this city. His subject was "Our Church," and his speech was very brief. His remarks were confined to the work of the Catholic church, and of the lives of the members of the church.

This address was followed by Attorney P. A. Gavin, of Toronto, who had for his subject "Our Country." The address was one of the best heard during the afternoon. In part the speaker said:

"It is fitting on this occasion, when a mourning but grateful people are stwewing beautiful flowers over the silent resting places of the nation's dead—over the graves of those patriotic hearts which beat time to the

A DAY OF JOY

FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN OF THE CITY.

The Little Ones Have Complete Possession of Rock Springs Park Today.

The annual outing to the scholars of the East Liverpoool public schools was held today at Rock Springs, and to say that the little folks enjoyed themselves is to express the matter but mildly. Early this morning the children began to assemble at the various schools, and at 9:30 o'clock those children attending the Central school marched to Union and Third street, where ample transportation was provided free by the Rock Springs street railway to the park.

Each scholar had a free transportation permit, but many children attending the outing were taken there by their parents. Quite a large crowd of parents visited the park this afternoon and baskets containing enough food were taken to provide for several meals. All the cars were well filled with park visitors this afternoon and an immense crowd is expected to visit the park this evening.

The children were in charge of the teachers of the rooms they have been attending during the past term, and all were looked after by Supt. R. E. Rayman.

Bricks and stones were thrown by the crowd at Mason, but did not hit him. He ran into the Hotel Lakel, and there was soon lost to the angry crowd following him. After waiting for him to come from his hiding place for an hour the crowd dispersed.

Memorial Day at Lisbon.

Lisbon, May 31. — (Special) — The Memorial day exercises here were unusually well attended and impressive. Hon James A. Martin delivered a fine address.

GRANDLY IMPRESSIVE WERE THE EXERCISES OF MEMORIAL DAY

Due Honor Paid to the Dead Heroes of This City by Surviving Comrades.

THE DAY AN IDEAL ONE AND EXERCISES GRAND

Solemn Services at the Cemetery In Which Oratory Was a Feature.

ELOQUENT AND NOBLE WERE THE SENTIMENTS

In the Tributes Uttered to the Memory of Those Who Died For Freedom and Their Country—Memorial Oration by L. T. Farr.

Memorial day was observed in a most fitting manner yesterday under the direction of General Lyon post No. 44, of this city, assisted by the Ladies' Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans and Veterans of the Spanish-American war. The day was all that one could desire, and the program as published in this paper Thursday was closely followed.

Over a month ago members of the local post commenced to arrange for this day, and well their work was done. Shortly after noon yesterday those who proposed to take part in the parade assembled on Fifth street, near Washington, where the parade formed, the right resting on Washington street. It was about 1:30 o'clock when Chief Marshal Daniel McLane shouted "Forward March," and to the tune played by Howard's drum corps, the parade covered the following route: From Washington to Broadway, to Fourth, to Market, to Diamond, where transportation was provided to the cemetery.

The formation of the parade was as follows:

Members of City Police Force.
Howard's Drum Corps.
Chief Marshal McLane And Staff.
Grand Army and ex-Soldiers of the Civil War.
S. O. V. Drum Corps.
Sons of Veterans.
Spanish War Veterans.

Along the route of parade the streets were well filled with people, and on more than one occasion a tear drop was seen in the eye of an elderly person, who was thinking probably of the days when these noble sons fought for a cause that was most righteous. Owing to the age of the veterans, the parade did not march to the cemetery, as has been the custom in past years, but the participants were transferred to Riverview cemetery by street cars and other conveyances.

A more beautiful sight never met the eye than was that presented by nature at Riverview cemetery. Beautiful flowers, green trees and bending shrubbery lent additional beauty to the scene. Quite near the Memorial chapel, which was dedicated only a few years ago by the Grand Army, and upon which occasion Congressman R. W. Tayler delivered the dedicatory address, was erected a small mound by Sexton Whitaker, of Riverview cemetery. This commemorated the many soldier graves throughout the beautiful resting place, and about which the Grand Army of this city and the several auxiliaries assembled upon entering the cemetery.

Here the solemn ritual of the dead was read by Commander McLane, of General Lyon post. This was responded to by the several officers of the post, and was followed by the firing of three salutes over the mound by the firing squad of Garfield camp, Sons of Veterans. In a distant part of the cemetery a salute of 13 guns was given by the gun squad of the camp. During this intermission the parade was again formed, and the march to the speakers' stand was rather slow, in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion. This stand was decorated with the national colors, and all the seats were occupied by members of the Grand Army, visitors, speakers and ladies. The exercises of the day were opened by Commander-in-Chief Daniel McLane, of Post 44, who said:

"Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, Ladies of the Woman's

CHICKEN FIGHTS

AND OTHER FORMS OF DECORATION DAY DESECRATION.

Great Cocking Main at Mill Creek. East Liverpool and Other Sports Promoters.

Over 100 chickens fought in the vicinity of Mill Creek yesterday, and no less than 200 sports from Pittsburg, Beaver Falls, Rochester, Steubenville and Toronto witnessed the fights which were fast and furious. Of the fights in which East Liverpool birds took part, six were won by the local sports, while four were lost. The honors in the other fights were about evenly divided, and no less than $1,000 changed hands during the day.

Intermingled with the chicken fights were several fist fights between some of the visitors. However, no East Liverpool people were mixed in these affairs, and as soon as the fights in which the local sports were interested were over they left for their homes. The crowd commenced to arrive on the early morning trains, getting off at the East End, and walking up the track to a ferry that had been provided for the occasion, whence they were taken to the battle grounds. Some of the visitors returned on the later trains last evening, while others did not return until the 5 o'clock train this morning.

FLAGS AND CROWDS

WERE CONSPICUOUS IN THE CITY YESTERDAY.

Excursions Brought Numerous Visitors—An Ideal Day, Full of Enjoyment.

East Liverpool was filled with visitors yesterday, and if the small boy had been permittel to explode some fire works, one would have thought the Fourth of July was at hand. All the stores were closed, and while a few departments in several of the potteries were working, the majority of the plants closed down for the day. As to the weather, nature was at its best. Scattered about the city on the several larger buildings was displayed the American flag, and as there was a slight breeze all day, the sight was most pleasing.

The large flag was floating from the huge staff in the Diamond, and also from the large pole in front of the office of Charles A. Smith. It will be remembered that the flag was raised just four years ago yesterday, during the time of the Spanish-American war. While the flag was being raised, lined on both siles of Washington street members of the Grand Army were assembled, and when the beautiful emblem of liberty had been pulled to the top of the pole, the old veterans gave three hearty cheers. Not so yesterlay. There was no flag raising, but the city was decorated to some extent in honor of the nation's dead.

During the day thousands of people spent a few hours at Rock Springs park. Eight cars were operated all day on the Chester line and it was not an unusual sight to see 100 to 150 persons on one car bound for the park. A special train composed of 10 coaches bearing members of Smoky City lodge, K. of P., of Pittsburg, arrived at Chester during the morning, and this train was followed by a special train from Dennison containing members of the Knights of Columbus order.

The side wheel steamer, Elizabeth, brought several hundred people from Pittsburg and intermediate points, arrived shortly after noon, and a number of persons were present from Steubenville, Wheeling, Toronto, New Cumberland and Wellsville. Smith's Ferry and Georgetown also furnished their share of visitors. Taking the day as a whole, it is estimated that at least 2,000 strangers were in the city.

NOW OUT ON BAIL

Col. Albert Brewer, Accused of Murder, Waives Hearing and Is Released.

Tiffin, O., May 31.—The case of Col. Albert Brewer, charged with murdering Dairyman Luther Hershey, took a surprising turn Thursday, when Brewer was taken before Mayor Magers despite the fact that the preliminary hearing had been set for the next day. Brewer waived an examination and was bound over to the next term of the grand pury without bail. Instead of being taken to jail, however, he was immediately brought before Julge Schaufelberger, of the common pleas court, where a motion was heard to admit him to bail. Upon evidence submitted, the court released the prisoner on $5,000 bond.

Brewer, well known as a former pottery owner, is said to have assaulted Hershey in a saloon, and Hershey died 18 hours later.

BAR ROOM FOUND IN A DUG-OUT

LOTS OF BEER AND WHISKY

In an Underground Location—The Joint Run By a Colored Man, Acting, It Is Said, for an East Liverpool Saloonist.

An up-to-date bar room on a small scale was discovered by Chief Hiram Alllison, of Chester, yesterday morning. With the assistance of Officer Hassey, Jefferson Smith and Manager J. Howard Maxwell, of Rock Springs park, the bar room was raided, and when the proprietor returns to dispense liquid refreshments he will find only a lot of cracked ice in his ice box, and that will be all.

Chief Allison received word from Sheriff Allison at New Cumberland Tuesday morning that a large amount of beer and whisky had been shipped to Chester from East Liverpoool, and the park officials, hearing this, soon located the liquor. The man who is believed to be running the place is Bill Brown, but he was only a hired man for an East Liverpool saloonist, it is said. The negro has been residing in a small shanty boat near the mouth of Mill Creek, which, by the way, is property owned by the Rock Springs company, and it is said that liquor has been sold to all who came and asked.

Brown had dug a good sized cave in the small hill at Mill creek, and in it he placed a large ice box, and after placing a large amount of ice in the box filled it with beer and a small amount of whisky. To a friend Brown is said to have remarked that he was going to East Liverpool to see the man for whom he was working, and during his absence from the place Chief Allison and his assistants took the hinges from the door leading to the cave, and the first sight which they saw was a lot of beer glasses and a bottle of whisky. Then the ice box was looked into and there packed among the cracked ice was said to be about 200 bottles of beer. These were loaded into a wagon that had been employed by the park management for several weeks, and taken to city hall, where Mayor Shrader will be asked to pass an opinion as to the disposition that will be made of the "stuff."

For several weeks, it is averred that a crowd of mill employes have decided that the shanty boat where Brown has been living should be moved and arrangements were made a few nights ago to place a lot of brush about the boat and apply the torch. This, however, was not done, and now that Brown has made his escape it is hard to tell what disposition will be made of the craft.

Chief Allison stated last evening that several parties would be willing to make an affidavit that they had purchased liquor from Brown.

Some person entered the Chester jail last night and carried off all the liquor that was taken during the raid in the afternoon. During the night the Chester officers were looking for Brown, and he was taken into custody this morning. He will be given a hearing later.

THE NEW RESERVOIR

NOW THE SOURCE OF THE CITY'S SUPPLY.

Repairs Which It Will Require Weeks to Complete to Begin on Old Basin Monday.

The water works department on Monday will put a force of men at work placing a layer of concrete on the old reservoir, which will require several weeks to complete. This was decided upon by the water works officials several months ago, as the work was to begin just as soon as the new basin was filled. For several days the new basin has been the source of supply for the city, there being anywhere from 14 to 20 feet in the basin for the past week. After the concrete has been allowed to dry the walls and floor of the old basin will be washed with castile soap, as was done on the old basin, where it has been found to be an excellent coating.

In order to decrease the consumption of water the department has been installing a number of water meters in various places of business during the past fortnight, and the scheme has been found to be well worth the expense. Other meters will be installed very soon, and the consumption will be decreased as much as possible, in order to stop what Supt. Morley terms "wilful waste of water."

RETIRES FROM HIS PLACE

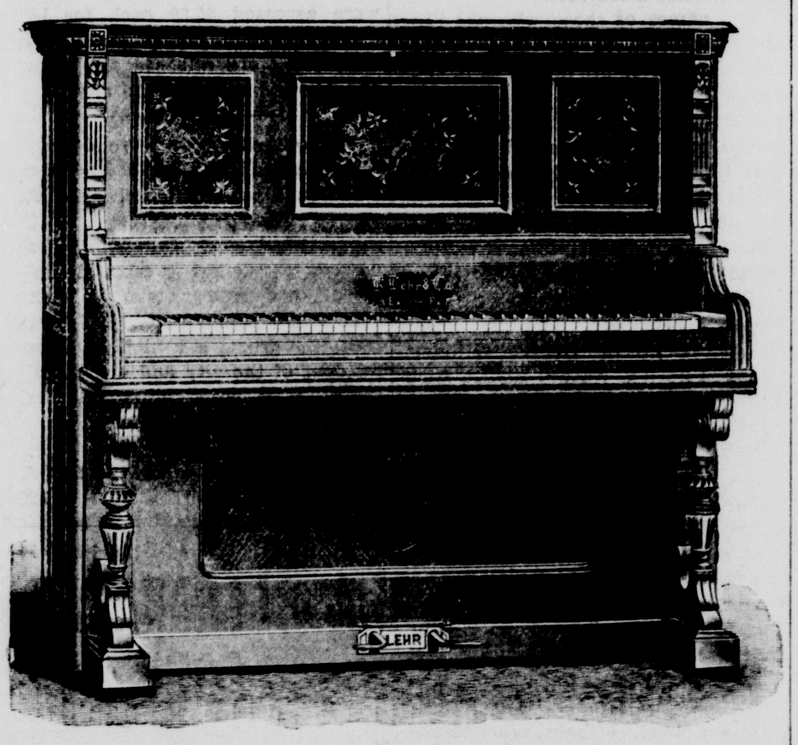

Supt. R. J. McElravy, of Rock Springs Street Railway, Resigns His Position.

Robert J. McElravy, of Carrollton, who has been employed by Charles A. Smith, of this city, for a number of years, will sever his connection with that firm tris evening. Mr. McElravy came to this city when practically a boy, and by hard work and close application to business, he has worked his way up until about a year ago, he was placed in the responsible position of superintendent of the East Liverpool and Rock Springs street railway, which position he has since held. He has always proved himself capable in any emergency, and his leaving the company will be regretted by a large circle of friends.

After a short visit to his old home at Carrollton, Mr. McElravy will return to this city, but when seen today would not announce future intentions.

Many Engineers and Others Vote to Go Out on Monday.

ARMED MEN BEING SWORN IN.

Philadelphia and Reading Company Will, If Necessary, Allow 36 Collieries to Become Flooded, but Will Protect Others.

Scranton, Pa., May 31.—At a meeting attended by over 100 engineers, pumpmen and firemen employed at the eight collieries of the New York, Ontario and Western company, held here yesterday morning, the strike order calling out the men next Monday was indorsed. District President T. D. Nichols addressed the meeting and his talk brought many of the men into line. A secret ballot was taken at first, showing 58 in fa favor of and 44 against a strike. A motion to indorse the strike order was then unanimously carried.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 31.—A largely attended meeting of engineers, firemen and pumpmen was held at Donnolly's hall, this city, last night. It is said every colliery in the Wyoming valley was represented. Addresses were made by John Fallon, member of the national board of United Mine Workers; Henry Collins and D. J. Reese, members of the executive boards. The speakers impressed upon their hearers the necessity of standing together in the contest now on with the operators. A resolution endorsing the strike order of the executive board, calling out the engineers firemen and pumpmen, was adopted by a vote of 315 to 57. The result was received with cheers.

Doubted by the Employers.

Representatives of the coal companies doubt the correctness of the vote. They claim there were not that many men at the meeting and that an overwhelming number of those present were firemen. The coal operators still insist that a majority of the engineers will not desert their posts on Monday.

The committee of engineers from the Lackawanna region, who came to this city to have President Mitchell and the executive committee rescind the order calling out the engineers, firemen and pumpmen, returned to their homes last night when they learned that President Mitchell would not reach here until late today. All hope of having the strike rescinded has now been given up.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 31.—An agent of the West Virginia Coal company, who has been in the city the past week, hiring men to go south, was assaulted by striking miners and their sympathizers at a Slavish settlement in the northern part of this city yesterday. The party making the assault said the agent was endeavoring to get the anthracite miners to go to West Virginia to take the places of strikers there. The representative of the coal company tried to escape by jumping on an electric car as it was passing, but he was pulled from the car and severely beaten. Cooler heads in the crowd saved him from probably fatal injuries.

Coal Companies Arming Men.

Hazleton, Pa., May 31.—All the coal companies here are commissioning special officers to guard their property. Fifty-five special policemen were sworn in by G. B. Markle & Co. yesterday, and an additional 50 before Monday. Coxe Brothers have deputized their office clerks and trusted men to do guard duty. A meeting of the engineers, firemen and pump runners employed at the collieries north of the city, which includes the Coxe, Markle and Kemmerer men, will be held Sunday.

Shamokin, Pa., May 31.—At a meeting of colliery firemen, engineers and pumpmen between Hickory Ridge and Centralia, Thursday night, it was decided by a vote of 122 to 4 to go on strike next Monday unless the operators grant an eight-hour work day at the present scale of wages. It was reported that if the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company cannot man the fire room of 36 collieries in the district without the necessity of guarding those who may wish to work, the operations will be allowed to fill with water. The company, it is stated, will keep the fires going at three collieries in Schuylkill county at any cost and will protect those in the fire rooms with a guard of 300 coal and iron policemen.

HOT DEBATE EXPECTED

U. P. Assembly to Consider "Membership Covenant" Report, Today.

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED.

Business of the Church Was Stopped Yesterday to Hold Services—To Meet Next Year In Tarkio, Mo.—37 Old Soldiers In Assembly.

Pittsburg, May 31.—The principal feature of today's sessions of the United Presbyterian general assembly will be the debate on the membership covenant report, which was made yesterday. There is said to be some strong opposition to the report, especially among the older ministers, and a spirited discussion is promised before final action is taken on the matter.

The principal event of the afternoon session yesterday was the memorial service. Moderator Wilson appointed Rev. Dr. P. McNary, of Tarkio, Mo., to preside. The service opened with the singing of the forty-sixth psalm, which was followed with prayer by Rev. Dr. David Barclay.

Speeches were made by Rev. Dr. W. C. Williamson, of Keokuk, Ia., W. S. Heade, of Cambridge, O., and Dr. W. T. Meloy, of Chicago.

Accepted Missouri Invitation.

The order of the day was then taken up and an invitation was accepted to visit the United Presbyterian Orphans' Home in Allegheny. Rev. R. B. A. McBride, pastor of the Tarkio, Mo., United Presbyterian church, presented an invitation to the general assembly to meet next year in his church, which was accepted. College Springs, Ia., was selected as the place for the next meeting of the committee on home missions.

The committee appointed by the last general assembly to report a revised and amended form of membership covenant for overture to the presbyteries offered their report.

BAR ROOM FOUND IN A DUG-OUT

LOTS OF BEER AND WHISKY

In an Underground Location—The Joint Run By a Colored Man, Acting, It Is Said, for an East Liverpool Saloonist.

An up-to-date bar room on a small scale was discovered by Chief Hiram Alllison, of Chester, yesterday morning. With the assistance of Officer Hassey, Jefferson Smith and Manager J. Howard Maxwell, of Rock Springs park, the bar room was raided, and when the proprietor returns to dispense liquid refreshments he will find only a lot of cracked ice in his ice box, and that will be all.

Chief Allison received word from Sheriff Allison at New Cumberland Tuesday morning that a large amount of beer and whisky had been shipped to Chester from East Liverpoool, and the park officials, hearing this, soon located the liquor. The man who is believed to be running the place is Bill Brown, but he was only a hired man for an East Liverpool saloonist, it is said. The negro has been residing in a small shanty boat near the mouth of Mill Creek, which, by the way, is property owned by the Rock Springs company, and it is said that liquor has been sold to all who came and asked.

Brown had dug a good sized cave in the small hill at Mill creek, and in it he placed a large ice box, and after placing a large amount of ice in the box filled it with beer and a small amount of whisky. To a friend Brown is said to have remarked that he was going to East Liverpool to see the man for whom he was working, and during his absence from the place Chief Allison and his assistants took the hinges from the door leading to the cave, and the first sight which they saw was a lot of beer glasses and a bottle of whisky. Then the ice box was looked into and there packed among the cracked ice was said to be about 200 bottles of beer. These were loaded into a wagon that had been employed by the park management for several weeks, and taken to city hall, where Mayor Shrader will be asked to pass an opinion as to the disposition that will be made of the "stuff."

For several weeks, it is averred that a crowd of mill employes have decided that the shanty boat where Brown has been living should be moved and arrangements were made a few nights ago to place a lot of brush about the boat and apply the torch. This, however, was not done, and now that Brown has made his escape it is hard to tell what disposition will be made of the craft.

Chief Allison stated last evening that several parties would be willing to make an affidavit that they had purchased liquor from Brown.

Some person entered the Chester jail last night and carried off all the liquor that was taken during the raid in the afternoon. During the night the Chester officers were looking for Brown, and he was taken into custody this morning. He will be given a hearing later.

THE NEW RESERVOIR

NOW THE SOURCE OF THE CITY'S SUPPLY.

Repairs Which It Will Require Weeks to Complete to Begin on Old Basin Monday.

The water works department on Monday will put a force of men at work placing a layer of concrete on the old reservoir, which will require several weeks to complete. This was decided upon by the water works officials several months ago, as the work was to begin just as soon as the new basin was filled. For several days the new basin has been the source of supply for the city, there being anywhere from 14 to 20 feet in the basin for the past week. After the concrete has been allowed to dry the walls and floor of the old basin will be washed with castile soap, as was done on the old basin, where it has been found to be an excellent coating.

In order to decrease the consumption of water the department has been installing a number of water meters in various places of business during the past fortnight, and the scheme has been found to be well worth the expense. Other meters will be installed very soon, and the consumption will be decreased as much as possible, in order to stop what Supt. Morley terms "wilful waste of water."

RETIRES FROM HIS PLACE

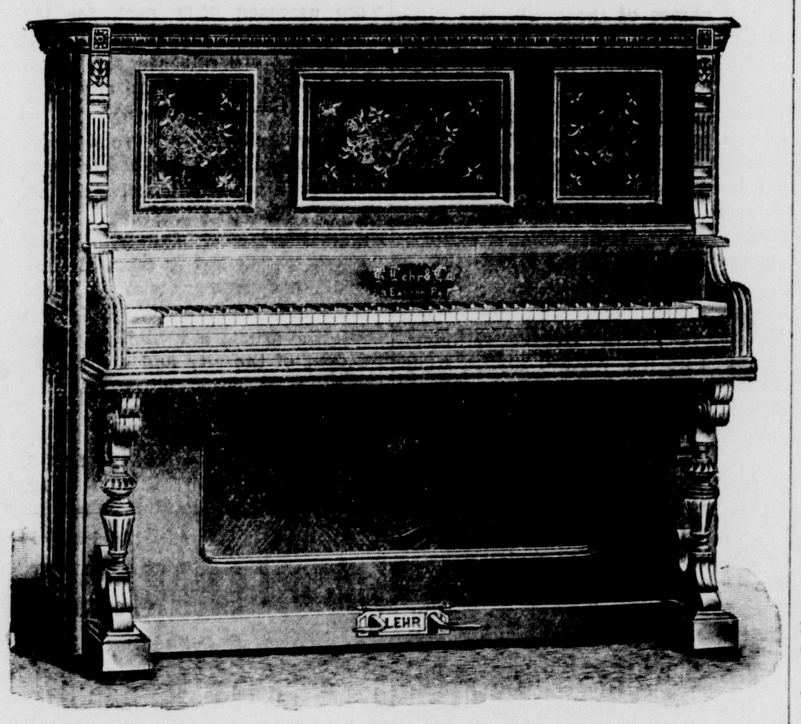

Supt. R. J. McElravy, of Rock Springs Street Railway, Resigns His Position.

Robert J. McElravy, of Carrollton, who has been employed by Charles A. Smith, of this city, for a number of years, will sever his connection with that firm tris evening. Mr. McElravy came to this city when practically a boy, and by hard work and close application to business, he has worked his way up until about a year ago, he was placed in the responsible position of superintendent of the East Liverpool and Rock Springs street railway, which position he has since held. He has always proved himself capable in any emergency, and his leaving the company will be regretted by a large circle of friends.

After a short visit to his old home at Carrollton, Mr. McElravy will return to this city, but when seen today would not announce future intentions.

The orations have been spoken, good advice and diplomas have been presented and another class has gone forth from the East Liverpool high school. It is a strong class mentally, as the orations delivered at commencement would attest, even if there were no other evidence of the fact. Better commencement speeches have rarely been delivered in this city, and the class of 1902 is to be congratulated upon the success of its efforts and the success of the commencement exercises generally. But the young graduates should remember that a diploma, although it means much, does not mean everything. It will not do to rely upon to achieve fortune or make success for its possessor. It is a basis to build upon, representing a good start, and nothing more. School days have perhaps ended for a majority of the graduates, but days of thought and study have not ended for those who would keep abreast of the times and make themselves useful to the world. One's talent cannot be buried in a napkin and made of more value. It is those who add constantly to their store of knowledge who make the most of life and get the most enjoyment out of it. No one, graduate or non-graduate, can keep abreast of the times, unless he keeps posted on the doings of the world and familiarizes himself with the trend of current opinion, reads of the latest discoveries of science and keeps informed of what the busy world is doing. The men and women who have achieved fame and success have continued students to the end of their days. Fortunately our system of living and working is such that few of us fail to have spare moments or leisure hours, for reading and recreation. A part of this spare time should be devoted to mental cultivation, for which opportunities abound. Unless a person pursues this course, even a graduate may soon become a back number.

The senate naval committee has laid aside the Corliss bill providing for a Pacific cable at government expense. It appears that the government can get the service which it needs without laying the cable. The Commercial Cable company has already begun work on the project and will have a line from San Francisco to Honolulu in a few months. The government is given the right to fix its rates for government messages and to exercise censorship when necessary. Other promises are held out, which, if kept, will obviate the necessity of Uncle Sam either owning or operating a Pacific cable.

The Knights of Columbus had a taste of East Liverpool hospitality yesterday. Many of the visitors were no strangers and those who came as strangers apparently felt perfectly at home in a very short time. It was an enjoyable affair all through, and well managed in every respect.

Senor Felipe Buencamino, once a member of Aguinaldo's warlike cabinet, is as peaceful as a tame rabbit. He has landed in this country and seen some of its greatness, is full of praise for the American officers in the islands, and evidently thinks the best thing that ever happened to his people was to fall into the hands of the United States. If a few more of the more intelligent islanders could be induced to make this country a visit, they might do some exceedingly useful missionary work on their return.

Memorial day in East Liverpool was celebrated in the usual patriotic spirit and with due impresiveness. The Memorial oration was a most impressive one, and the day most beautiful. Everybody who took part in the solemn services will not only feel better, but be better for so doing.

Almost an even dozen candidates for congressional honors already, and none of the back townships heard from. The value of the prize which some good Republican will land next fall seems to be well understood and appreciated.

A DAY OF GREAT SPORT FOR GUN CLUB MEMBERS.

Best Score of the Day Made By I. N. Crable—Many Out-of-Town Sports Present.

The East Liverpool Gun club held its third tournament on its new grounds in Chester yesterday. In many respects it was the most successful yet held. There were many out-of-town lovers of the sport present, some of whom entered in the different races. Mr. J. B. Bookwalter, of Dennison, who holds a gold medal for a score of 93 out of a possible 100, won in Pennsylvania, was present in the morning, but took part in but one event of the afternoon. The members of the club are unanimous in their praise of C. A. Smith for providing them with such fine grounds for shooting.

I. N. Crable, of East Market street, made the best score of the day, killing 23 out of 25 birds. The prize winners in the various events were as follows:

Ten bird race--Brunt, Lewis and Edmonston, Johnson, Dr. Parke, of Wellsville.

Fifteen bird race—Dr. Parke, Brunt, Lewis, Dr. Jackman.

Ten bird race—Lewis, Brunt, Edmonston, Parke.

Fifteen bird race—Edmonston, Brunt, Little, Johnson.

Twenty-five bird race—Edmnoston, and Brunt, Lewis, Parke and Little, Foutts.

Twenty-five bird race—Crable, Foutts, Edmonston, Johnson and Lewis.

TWO ALARMS OF FIRE

Were Sounded Yesterday, But the Damage Was Slight in Both Cases.

Two small fires occurred yesterday. The covering over a heating coil at the East Liverpool pottery caught fire early yesterday forenoon, which caused the department to make a run to the plant. The flames were soon extinguished.

In the afternoon fire was discovered in a box car on the Horn switch, which caused several firemen to take two extinguishers to the car. A quantity of straw was found burning near the car door, which is supposed to have been set fire to by some small boys who have been in the habit of playing about these cars.

DON'T FORGET THE NATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF OPERATIVE POTTERS' PICNIC JUNE 2.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE POTTERIES

Kilndrawers' local No. 17, who have been attempting to form a benefit feature for several months, are having up-hill work, and it would not be surprising to see the matter dropped. It was the desire to have not less than 20 names as applicants for the charter, but so far only 14 names have been obtained. It is to be regretted that more interest is not taken in this matter.

The committee having in charge the Brotherhood outing, which will be held at Rock Springs Park Monday, has completed its labors, and to say that it has done its work well is expressing the matter but mildly. Ever since the committee was appointed the members have been working like Trojans, and now the larger part of the task has been finished. The following statement relative to the outing Monday was made by Chairman Leroy Orr: "It is quite a hard matter to tell just how many persons will attend the outing, but as a matter of fact the largest representation of potters will be from this city. A special train will be run from New Cumberland and Wheeling, while a special train which will be run from Alliance over the Ft. Wayne road will bring large crowds from Alliance, Sebring, Salem, East Palestine, Beaver Falls, and New Brighton. There will be delegations from Ford City, New Castle and Youngstown, but it cannot be told whether these will be able to come on the excursion train. If not they will be here on the regular morning train, arriving here at 10:06. Quite a crowd will attend the outing from Steubenville, Toronto and Wellsville, a special train being run from Steubenville for their accommodation. All the special trains will leave late in the evening, and this will give the visitors an opportunity to visit their friends in this city during the evening hours."

The following committees have charge of the outing:

No particular program of sports has been arranged, the only event so far being a base ball game in the morning between the team representing pressers' local No. 4, of this city, and local No. 2, of New Cumberland.

The summer shut down is being given no little consideration by the operative potters just now, but very little information can be obtained bearing on the matter from the manufacturers. While a number of manufacturers have been interviewed, almost all agree that there will be a short rest, but for not more than two weeks. One manufacturer stated that he did not relish the idea of shutting his plant down, but if the trade conditions were no better at the first of July than now, he would most likely close the factory. Another manufacturer said that his plant would take about two weeks, but during this time the machinery would be overhauled and needed repairs made to the kilns. As trade is slow, and unless conditions change, some of the plants will surely take a few weeks during the last of June or the early part of July. Of course several local plants are enjoying a very good business, and have no occasion for any prolonged shut down.

There will be no meeting of local No. 32, Printers and Transferers, next Monday evening on account of the Brotherhood picnic, which will be held at Rock Springs park. It is likely that other locals meeting on that evening will defer their meetings for one week.

It will not be long now until the committee appointed by the officials of the Brotherhood to confer with the sanitary manufacturers of the east, relative to the adoption of a uniform scale, will commence their work. An eastern paper has stated that this session was to have been held last Monday, but at the offices in this city the officials denied that any date had been set as yet. The committee representing the Brotherhood that will confer with the sanitary manufacturers is composed of the following persons: Frank H. Hutchins, Trenton; Frank Van Fassen, New Castle; Joseph T. Catton, Trenton; C. L. Baine, Kokomo, Ind.; A. C. Potts, Trenton; William Mushet, Elizabeth, and T. J. Duffy.

William DeBee, a biscuit kilnman at the Diamond, who had a finger of his right hand mashed a few days ago by a broken sagger falling on it, is recovering, and will be able to resume work in a few days.

Kilnmen's local No. 9 held no session last evening on account of the hall being occupied by the Knights of Columbus. The usual meeting will be held Friday evening of next week.

George Burgess has taken the position of making ewers at the Diamond, made vacant by George Kirkham leaving for the new sanitary shop at New Castle last Monday morning.

At a meeting of the jiggermen a few evenings ago, two transfer cards were granted and one new member was received by transfer. No other important business was considered.

Colonel W. A. Rhoades, who has been in the east for several weeks in the interest of a local company, has returned to the city.

Fletcher Massey, formerly employed at Chetwynd's, has taken a position making cover dishes at the Diamond.

Edward Daugherty, formerly of this city, has taken a position as jiggerman at the Chelsea, at New Cumberland.

The orations have been spoken, good advice and diplomas have been presented and another class has gone forth from the East Liverpool high school. It is a strong class mentally, as the orations delivered at commencement would attest, even if there were no other evidence of the fact. Better commencement speeches have rarely been delivered in this city, and the class of 1902 is to be congratulated upon the success of its efforts and the success of the commencement exercises generally. But the young graduates should remember that a diploma, although it means much, does not mean everything. It will not do to rely upon to achieve fortune or make success for its possessor. It is a basis to build upon, representing a good start, and nothing more. School days have perhaps ended for a majority of the graduates, but days of thought and study have not ended for those who would keep abreast of the times and make themselves useful to the world. One's talent cannot be buried in a napkin and made of more value. It is those who add constantly to their store of knowledge who make the most of life and get the most enjoyment out of it. No one, graduate or non-graduate, can keep abreast of the times, unless he keeps posted on the doings of the world and familiarizes himself with the trend of current opinion, reads of the latest discoveries of science and keeps informed of what the busy world is doing. The men and women who have achieved fame and success have continued students to the end of their days. Fortunately our system of living and working is such that few of us fail to have spare moments or leisure hours, for reading and recreation. A part of this spare time should be devoted to mental cultivation, for which opportunities abound. Unless a person pursues this course, even a graduate may soon become a back number.

The senate naval committee has laid aside the Corliss bill providing for a Pacific cable at government expense. It appears that the government can get the service which it needs without laying the cable. The Commercial Cable company has already begun work on the projcet and will have a line from San Francisco to Honolulu in a few months. The government is given the right to fix its rates for government messages and to exercise censorship when necessary. Other promises are held out, which, if kept, will obviate the necessity of Uncle Sam either owning or operating a Pacific cable.

The Knights of Columbus had a taste of East Liverpool hospitality yesterday. Many of the visitors were no strangers and those who came as strangers apparently felt perfectly at home in a very short time. It was an enjoyable affair all through, and well managed in every respect.

Senor Felipe Buencamino, once a member of Aguinaldo's warlike cabinet, is as peaceful as a tame rabbit. He has landed in this country and seen some of its greatness, is full of praise for the American officers in the islands, and evidently thinks the best thing that ever happened to his people was to fall into the hands of the United States. If a few more of the more intelligent islanders could be induced to make this country a visit, they might do some exceedingly useful missionary work on their return.

Memorial day in East Liverpool was celebrated in the usual patriotic spirit and with due impresiveness. The Memorial oration was a most impressive one, and the day most beautiful. Everybody who took part in the solemn services will not only feel better, but be better for so doing.

Almost an even dozen candidates for congressional honors already, and none of the back townships heard from. The value of the prize which some good Republican will land next fall seems to be well understood and appreciated.

PUPILS ADVANCED TO HIGH SCHOOL

List of Those Who Have Been Promoted From the Grammar Grades.

UNUSUALLY LARGE CLASS

Whose Members Have Successfully Passed the Examination Ordeal. Promotion Made Following Patriotic Exercises In the Schools.

Following the patriotic exercises in the schools yesterday forencon, came the long and anxiously awaited promotion announcements.

The names of those who are regularly promoted to the high school from the four eighth grades in the city are as follows:

DISCUSSED GRADES

COUNCIL AGREES TO HAVE THAT OVER PANHANDLE CHANGED.

Much Discussion Over Carolina Avenue—Matter Finally Referred for Investigation.

There was much discussion among the councilmen at their meeting Thursday evening regarding the grade of Carolina avenue. A few of the members expressed dissatisfaction with the present grade, while the majority seemed to think the existing grade met all requirements, no kicks having been registered by any of the property owners on the street.

The matter finally terminated in a motion, which was passed that the council meet with the city engineer on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 and look over the grade. If found to be satisfactory no further action will be taken.

The East Liverpool & Rock Springs street railway, through J. Howard Maxwell, requested council to allow the company to raise each end of the bridge crossing over the Pannandle railway on Third street, the bridge being crossed by the line, so as to coincide with the grade established by the town, making the street level instead of having a slight incline on each side of the bridge as at present. After considerable disquisition among the solons the request was granted and Third street was ordered closed until the work has been completed, thus avoiding delay to the double tracking of the road.

Mr. Maxwell also requested council to draw up an ordinance accepting the new road east of Rock Springs park, a part of the road being within the town limits. The road has already been accepted by the county commissioners. The matter was deferred until the next meeting night, the street committee to inspect the road in the meantime and report on same at the nexe meeting. Council then adjourned.

same small corner. What would our presidents and other great men have accomplished had they been content to listlessly sit and watch the men of the world move on? No man ever became great that practiced life in that way. It requires push and energy. By these we can all soar to the loftiest heights.

WOMAN'S VOCATION AND PROPER SPHERE

"The Vocation for Girls," as made apparent by Miss Blanche Carey, reaches far into every profession. None are beyond the grasp of the intelligent and energetic girls of today. They are possessed of the power and spirit of attaining the highest. The doors leading to them are open wide for the admittance of all who aspire to reign behind the great walls. Let us pause and consider well our path in life. Choose the path for which you are best fitted and follow it with all your heart and talents until you have accomplished that for which you desired.

Woman's highest sphere is in the home. Here she can make a most noble record. By the careful handling of the home and its surroundings she can make herself loved, adored and more useful than probably in any other vocation. The women of today are not as they were a quarter of a century ago. They now have equal chances with men and by taking the opportunities presented can be their equal in any vocation.

THE LESSONS TAUGHT BY LIVES OF THE GREAT

"One Great Lesson" was Miss Florence C. Harris' subject, and it was skilfully handled. There are few names on history's page which do not suggest some great lesson. What was it that elevated James A. Garfield from the lowly cabin boy to the presidency? It was the industry and invincible perseverance of a noble character. No qualification is more essential to a successful life than self-confidence. It is the foundation of all success. Without it, man is a splendid slave; with it, he is equipped for the battle of life.

Those who rely on others accomplish little. Those who are strong in themselves, and who, when confronted with new trials and difficulties, put on a more determined mien and push forward to remove obstacles, make their lives count. It is the boys and girls who solve their own problems who win their way. God never intended that strong, independent beings should cling to others like the ivy to the oak. Difficulties and hardships should serve to make us stronger. It is said that a self-confident person is conceited, but this need not be. The conceited person boasts of what he can do; the self-confident person says nothing, but knowing his capability, goes to work and removes obstacles.

INSPIRATION FOUND IN POETS' WORDS

"Gems of Thought," was the subject of a thoughtful essay by Miss Hattie Orin. She began by allusion to Scottish ballads, English poems and American verse, saying that each clime seemed to inspire its own poets. From Scotland's borders, for example, comes the voice of Burns, who rose from a clay-built cottage to the most exalted place among the peasant poets. The speaker quoted from his works and then turned successively to England's master bard, Shakespeare; and the American poets and Longfellow, Holmes, finding in their works inspiration for youth to follow in learning's pleasant ways. She would have youth adopt as a motto the words of the poet who says:

"Be what thou seemest; live thy creed;
Hold up to earth the torch divine;
Be what thou prayest to be made;
Let the great Master's steps be thine."

HOW TO OVERCOME THE TEMPTER'S ART

Miss Ida B. Watson, in "A Battle Fought and Won," graphically depicted the strife and temptations which enter into each human life at some time or other. Drawing a picture of a man surrounded by the war of the elements, she portrayed also a storm raging within his soul. The man, his evil passions contending for the mastery of the good, his manhood struggling for supremacy, was swayed perhaps more violently than by any storm that ever swept the earth. While the conflicting elements raged he knelt and prayed, earnestly and long.

As the storm without subsided and the dawn brightened and birds sang and finally the sun flooded the earth with gladness, the man arose, his face that of a conquerer. His battle had been fought and won. Evil had been slain and good had triumphed. As in temporal, so in spiritual affairs; oftimes tempest is followed by sunshine and calm—"that serene and blessed mood in which the affections gently lead us on."

ATTRACTIVE SUBJECT, THE AMERICAN GIRL

"The American Girl" was Miss Edna Z. Smith's attractive and interesting subject. She went back to the days when the Indian maiden was the American girl, and drew a pretty picture of her in her forest home. When the Puritan maiden appeared on the scene she was such an example of purity and innocence that poets have sung her praises ever since. But the American girl changed with the progress of the nation and we soon beheld her as a stately maiden with powdered hair and for amusement dancing the minuet or the Virginia reel. If found reading a novel she was punished by being sent to practice upon the spinet.

The American girl of today is found in every walk of life. In the business world she excels the women of other nations. She has found a place in literary life and achieved notable success. She is a many sided and bewildering creature, and attracts attention both abroad and at home. The present viceroy of India and many men of title and distinction have come to America for wives. The American girl is a leader in the world's business, literary and social circles today. What will she be a century hence" Certainly we can picture her one of the most self-sacrificing and reverential factors in the world's history.

HUMORS AND BENEFITS OF ADVERTISEMENTS

As her subject Miss Hattie A. Poe chose "Advertising," and in a most convincing argument explained what the greatest writers of the age are attempting to impress upon the modern business man. Advertising has become one of the most important and essential factors of the business world, and it cannot be queestioned that the prosperous condition of any business house is due to the efficient managers and also the uniqueness of its advertisements. One never picks up a magazine ...at he does not see an attractive and fascinating short story introducing a most necessary household article.

One very important fact that we learn through the advertising columns is how to become beautiful, if we are homely, and rich if we are poor. To be poor argues that you fail to take advantage of the vast sums of money which are given away as prizes to any person who will send two cents in postage stamps. To be homely argues that you do not care for beauty; for, while Malvina is the only reliable cream, Milk Weed improves the complexion and Oriental is a magical beautifier and quickly removes tan, freckles, and all other facial blemishes. The speaker ended her most interesting argument with a high tribute to the advertising value of the columns of local dailies, and a humorous poem, describing the visit of two ladies, who made a tour of all the principal stores of East Liverpool and returned at night, weary but satisfied, with just one dozen hooks and eyes.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE IN EDUCATION.

Miss Mary Rubiena Ikirt asked and answered the question, "Wherein Doth Lie America's True Greatness?" Man, the noblest work of God, walks through a labryrinth of grandeur and beauty, without recognizing its value and significance, until every phase of nature and the marvelous works of civilization has been revealed by the light of knowledge. Education is a companion which no misfortune can depress, no clime destroy and no enemy ensiave. At home it is a friend; abroad it is an introduction; in society it is an ornament. Its price is a dear one, but when once that price is paid, man has gained a prize imperishable.

It is one of the chief virtues of America that its citizens have equal rights and advantages as regards school education. The advantages of yesterday cannot be compared with those of today. Had Abraham Lincoln, who got his little schooling in a log school house, been enabled to enjoy the privileges of the Fourth street school, he would have deemed himself thrice and four times blessed. The amount of money spent on American schools is enormous, but the results are grand. The American home itself is becoming more cultured. There is the ideal sanctum wherein is trained the true American citizen. We have as yet seen only the fair seeds and beginnings of this great republic. Whether those prolific seeds shall mature into autumnal ripeness, or perish, leaving no harvest, will depend upon the training of the American people.

THOSE WHO HAVE SUNG FOR A WORLD TO HEAR

Miss Emma R. Bloor dealt entertainingly with the "Lives and Reminiscenses of Popular Composers." The world is prone to forget its great singers. The great author bequeaths to future generations his literary masterpiece; the composer his immortal composition; the artist, his undying work of beauty; but the poor singer, when he passes to his reward, leaves only the memory of his achievements, which is likely to grow fainter as time goes on until only a tradition remains. A peculiar and a pathetic interest therefore attaches to the records of the lives of old-time noted vocalists, whose tones once stirred great audiences and held royalty, nobility and the populace spellbound.

America, for a young nation, has produced composers richly endowed, and music that will stand comparison with the best of European countries. Numerous illustrations of this fact were cited by the speaker, and the address was pleasingly interspersed with song.

ORATION APPROPRIATE TO MEMORIAL DAY

William G. Dorff, in his oration "The River of Freedom," gave utterance to many fine sentiments appropriate to Memorial Day. The speaker drew a picture of a peaceful stream, flowing through a fertile valley surrounded by beautiful hills. The stream on whose banks our city stands is such a river. Its shores afforded to the far-sighted the place for an empire. One class looked upon it as a river of freedom. To the enslaved negroes of the south it seemed like the River of Death to Christian souls. Beyond it lay paradise. The ordinance of 1787 which forever prohibited slavery north of the Ohio was one on which our country's progress depended. It was bitterly fought, but it stood, and was enforced.

When the struggle to abolish slavery came Ohio alone gave over 313,000 able-bodied soldiers, 37 per cent of northwest territory's quota and 16 per cent of the whole Union army. Today the fallen heroes have been remembered, and at their graves their comrades have told of their deeds of valor. Each year the company of mourners grows less. There are people here tonight who may out-live the soldiers of the Grand Army, but not one who will outlive the day set apart for the commemoration of their priceless deeds and valor in the Civil war.

ULYSSES S. GRANT AND HIS GREATNESS

Miss Rest Humrickhouse began her oration on "Grant" by the declaration that the names of Lincoln and Grant will always be inseparably associated in connection with the events of the war of the rebellion. The two had many traits in common. Both were of humble origin and both spent their early life in close acquaintance with hard work. Grant's greatness lay in the fact that he always perceived early the situation before him and adapted his means to the end. His grim determination was shown in his utterances, such as "I propose to move immediately upon your works," "unconditional surrender," and "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

Grant accepted every call to duty as it came. He did not choose his part, but allowed others to choose for him. When the war ended his popularity was boundless—as great in the south as in the north. Yet it was not war with its glories and triumphs, but blessed peace that filled his mind as he saw the end. May this noblest and greatest of his qualities be always with us, wherever our authority may extend, whatever our sphere of influence may be. It is by the art and blessings of peace that our Christian civilization is to be extended. Revering the hero's memory, may we enjoy the psalmist's benison, "Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces."

A BRILLIANT SOLDIER, GALLANT GEN. SHERIDAN

"Sheridan" was the theme chosen by Miss Edna Donovan, who eloquently sketched the career of an Ohio man who was universally beloved by Union veterans and universally admired as a type of the American soldier. It was the Civil war which brought out the best in Philip H. Sheridan. Starting as a lieutenant, his promotions were rapid. Brilliant as he was in raid and pursuit, it was not until the great raid on Richmond that he achieved fame. If there had been nothing in his career but his celebrated ride from Winchester, his name would have been imperishable.

Sheridan, like Grant, abhorred war, and was known to say that the time was coming when the killing of a thousand men would be looked upon as a thousand murders. Yet he did his duty as a soldier thoroughly and well. One of the greatest tributes that could be paid to anyone, especially a soldier, was surely paid to Sheridan, in that the most promient officers in the contending armies thought that he was fit for greater commands than those which he actually exercised. This tribute was partially inspired by the fact that he was, first of all, master of his profession, and that he was always ready to give more service than was expected.

THE LIFE AND CHARACTER OF WILLIAM M'KINLEY

Miss Mayme Randall spoke on "McKinley" and gave a true representation in speech of the martyred man's life and subsequent death. "Peace on earth, good will toward men," was the motto of our late president. Before the decisive steps taken in the Spanish war he was the one to remain calm. Although chided by the entire nation, he showed the wisdom which ultimately gave to the United States the glory of a conquering nation that had unscrupulously gone too far in wrong-doing. At the age of 18 he entered the civil war as a corporal and through bravery and meritorious work he rose to the rank of captain and brevet major. Had he been ambitious and selfish he might have risen higher, but he was content to stop where his merit had taken him. To his noble mother, for whom he always cared tenderly, is given the credit for his

If found reading a novel she was punished by being sent to practice upon the spinet.

The American girl of today is found in every walk of life. In the business world she excels the women of other nations. She has found a place in literary life and achieved notable success. She is a many sided and bewildering creature, and attracts attention both abroad and at home. The present viceroy of India and many men of title and distinction have come to America for wives. The American girl is a leader in the world's business, literary and social circles today. What will she be a century hence" Certainly we can picture her one of the most self-sacrificing and reverential factors in the world's history.

HUMORS AND BENEFITS OF ADVERTISEMENTS

As her subject Miss Hattie A. Poe chose "Advertising," and in a most convincing argument explained what the greatest writers of the age are attempting to impress upon the modern business man. Advertising has become one of the most important and essential factors of the business world, and it cannot be queestioned that the prosperous condition of any business house is due to the efficient managers and also the uniqueness of its advertisements. One never picks up a magazine that he does not see an attractive and fascinating short story introducing a most necessary household article.

One very important fact that we learn through the advertising columns is how to become beautiful, if we are homely, and rich if we are poor. To be poor argues that you fail to take advantage of the vast sums of money which are given away as prizes to any person who will send two cents in postage stamps. To be homely argues that you do not care for beauty; for, while Malvina is the only reliable cream, Milk Weed improves the complexion and Oriental is a magical beautifier and quickly removes tan, freckles, and all other facial blemishes. The speaker ended her most interesting argument with a high tribute to the advertising value of the columns of local dailies, and a humorous poem, describing the visit of two ladies, who made a tour of all the principal stores of East Liverpool and returned at night, weary but satisfied, with just one dozen hooks and eyes.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE IN EDUCATION.

Miss Mary Rubiena Ikirt asked and answered the question, "Wherein Doth Lie America's True Greatness?" Man, the noblest work of God, walks through a labryrinth of grandeur and beauty, without recognizing its value and significance, until every phase of nature and the marvelous works of civilization has been revealed by the light of knowledge. Education is a companion which no misfortune can depress, no clime destroy and no enemy enslave. At home it is a friend; abroad it is an introduction; in society it is an ornament. Its price is a dear one, but when once that price is paid, man has gained a prize imperishable.

It is one of the chief virtues of America that its citizens have equal rights and advantages as regards school education. The advantages of yesterday cannot be compared with those of today. Had Abraham Lincoln, who got his little schooling in a log school house, been enabled to enjoy the privileges of the Fourth street school, he would have deemed himself thrice and four times blessed. The amount of money spent on American schools is enormous, but the results are grand. The American home itself is becoming more cultured. There is the ideal sanctum wherein is trained the true American citizen. We have as yet seen only the fair seeds and beginnings of this great republic. Whether those prolific seeds shall mature into autumnal ripeness, or perish, leaving no harvest, will depend upon the training of the American people.

THOSE WHO HAVE SUNG FOR A WORLD TO HEAR

Miss Emma R. Bloor dealt entertainingly with the "Lives and Reminiscenses of Popular Composers." The world is prone to forget its great singers. The great author bequeaths to future generations his literary masterpiece; the composer his immortal composition; the artist, his undying work of beauty; but the poor singer, when he passes to his reward, leaves only the memory of his achievements, which is likely to grow fainter as time goes on until only a tradition remains. A peculiar and a pathetic interest therefore attaches to the records of the lives of old-time noted vocalists, whose tones once stirred great audiences and held royalty, nobility and the populace spellbound.

America, for a young nation, has produced composers richly endowed, and music that will stand comparison with the best of European countries. Numerous illustrations of this fact were cited by the speaker, and the address was pleasingly interspersed with song.

ORATION APPROPRIATE TO MEMORIAL DAY

William G. Dorff, in his oration "The River of Freedom," gave utterance to many fine sentiments appropriate to Memorial Day. The speaker drew a picture of a peaceful stream, flowing through a fertile valley surrounded by beautiful hills. The stream on whose banks our city stands is such a river. Its shores afforded to the far-sighted the place for an empire. One class looked upon it as a river of freedom. To the enslaved negroes of the south it seemed like the River of Death to Christian souls. Beyond it lay paradise. The ordinance of 1787 which forever prohibited slavery north of the Ohio was one on which our country's progress depended. It was bitterly fought, but it stood, and was enforced.

When the struggle to abolish slavery came Ohio alone gave over 313,000 able-bodied soldiers, 37 per cent of northwest territory's quota and 16 per cent of the whole Union army. Today the fallen heroes have been remembered, and at their graves their comrades have told of their deeds of valor. Each year the company of mourners grows less. There are people here tonight who may out-live the soldiers of the Grand Army, but not one who will outlive the day set apart for the commemoration of their priceless deeds and valor in the Civil war.

ULYSSES S. GRANT AND HIS GREATNESS

Miss Rest Humrickhouse began her oration on "Grant" by the declaration that the names of Lincoln and Grant will always be inseparably associated in connection with the events of the war of the rebellion. The two had many traits in common. Both were of humble origin and both spent their early life in close acquaintance with hard work. Grant's greatness lay in the fact that he always perceived early the situation before him and adapted his means to the end. His grim determination was shown in his utterances, such as "I propose to move immediately upon your works," "unconditional surrender," and "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

Grant accepted every call to duty as it came. He did not choose his part, but allowed others to choose for him. When the war ended his popularity was boundless—as great in the south as in the north. Yet it was not war with its glories and triumphs, but blessed peace that filled his mind as he saw the end. May this noblest and greatest of his qualities be always with us, wherever our authority may extend, whatever our sphere of influence may be. It is by the art and blessings of peace that our Christian civilization is to be extended. Revering the hero's memory, may we enjoy the psalmist's benison, "Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces."

A BRILLIANT SOLDIER, GALLANT GEN. SHERIDAN

"Sheridan" was the theme chosen by Miss Edna Donovan, who eloquently sketched the career of an Ohio man who was universally beloved by Union veterans and universally admired as a type of the American soldier. It was the Civil war which brought out the best in Philip H. Sheridan. Starting as a lieutenant, his promotions were rapid. Brilliant as he was in raid and pursuit, it was not until the great raid on Richmond that he achieved fame. If there had been nothing in his career but his celebrated ride from Winchester, his name would have been imperishable.

Sheridan, like Grant, abhorred war, and was known to say that the time was coming when the killing of a thousand men would be looked upon as a thousand murders. Yet he did his duty as a soldier thoroughly and well. One of the greatest tributes that could be paid to anyone, especially a soldier, was surely paid to Sheridan, in that the most promient officers in the contending armies thought that he was fit for greater commands than those which he actually exercised. This tribute was partially inspired by the fact that he was, first of all, master of his profession, and that he was always ready to give more service than was expected.

THE LIFE AND CHARACTER OF WILLIAM M'KINLEY

Miss Mayme Randall spoke on "McKinley" and gave a true representation in speech of the martyred man's life and subsequent death. "Peace on earth, good will toward men," was the motto of our late president. Before the decisive steps taken in the Spanish war he was the one to remain calm. Although chided by the entire nation, he showed the wisdom which ultimately gave to the United States the glory of a conquering nation that had unscrupulously gone too far in wrong-doing. At the age of 18 he entered the civil war as a corporal and through bravery and meritorious work he rose to the rank of captain and brevet major. Had he been ambitious and selfish he might have risen higher, but he was content to stop where his merit had taken him. To his noble mother, for whom he always cared tenderly, is given the credit for his Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans and Fellow Citizens: It is unnecessary for me to stop to inquire the purpose of this assemblage. This is the nation's Sabbath. A more beautiful and impressive scene could not be witnessed than that of a redeemed nation turning aside from its daily toil and gathering around the graves of its defenders, bearing offerings of flowers and giving suitable expressions of love and gratitude which a great people feel towards those who gave their lives in defense of their country.

"To every union soldier it is a day filled with sweet and precious memories. Unlike the dead of other wars, the memory of our comrades never fades. They still walk by our side. With enfeebled step we still carry the flag they loved so well. We interpret your presence here today to mean that we have your sympathy in our years of decline, and still further as a mark of the respect and confidence that the loyal, patriotic citizens of our good city bears towards the Grand Army."

Lincoln's address at Gettysburg was then read by Post Commander Daniel McLane as follows:

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war; testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add to or detract from. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

An invocation by Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart followed, after which "America" was sung by the post quartet and the audience. The Memorial day address was then given by L. T. Farr, of Rogers, who in part said:

"Mr. Chairman, Members of the Grand Army, Ladies and Gentlemen: I know not how I might better introduce my remarks to you this afternoon than by quoting briefly from that splendid oration delivered by its gifted author upon the consecrated soil of Gettysburg, soon after its sod had been crimsoned with the life blood of the flower of our American manhood, and when he said: 'It was appointed by law in Athens that the obsequies of her citizens who fell in battle should be performed at the public expense and in the most honorable manner. Their remains were carefully gathered up from the battle plain or the funeral pyre and brought home to the city.

"There for three days before burial they lay in state beneath tents of honor, to receive the native offerings of friends and relatives — flowers, weapons, precious ornaments, painted vases and wonders of art—which after 3,000 years adorn the museums of modern Europe were laid there, the last tribute of surviving affection. Ten coffins of funeral cypress received, one for each of the tribes of the city and an eleventh for the unrecognized dead, and of those whose remains could not be recovered.

"On the fourth day the funeral procession was formed in which it was expected that all citizens, aside from friends and relatives, should bear a part. Thus marshaled they moved to the place of interment in that famous Ceramicus, the most beautiful suburb of Athens, which had been adorned by Cimon, the son of Miltiades, with walks and fountains and columns; whose groves were filled with altars, shrines and temples; whose gardens were kept forever green by streams of living water flowing down from the surrounding hills; whose pathways gleamed with the monuments to the illustrious dead, the sublime work of the most matchless skill that ever gave life to marble.

"'There, in the midst of that eloquent silence of God and nature, underneath the over-reaching plain trees upon a lofty stage erected for that purpose, it was ordained that the funeral oration should be pronounced by some citizen of Athens in the presence of the assembled multitude.'

"Such were the tokens of respect required to be paid at Athens to the memory of those who had fallen in defense of their country; such, my fellow citizens, is the purpose for which we have assembled today; after the flight of more than 23 centuries, we come in the spirit of Roman patriotism and in the light of a better civilization, to stand at the grave side of our fallen countrymen and pray to honored dust the tribute of our love, and I feel today, as never before, how justly, from the dawn of history to the present time, men have paid the homage of their gratitude and admiration to the memory of those who, through his resolve and unselfish sacrifice, laid even life itself upon the altar of their common country, and if this tribute were ever due to whom could it be more justly paid than to those about whose lasting resting place we stand today, to bedeck their silent tents of green with our tokens of love and affection?

"How many who now hear me, remember the dark days of 1861 when our great commonwealth of American states felt the first shock occasioned by discordant and rebellious elements? How many felt that thrill of alarm, when the news flashed from one loyal state to another that Sumter had fallen? Ay! who has forgotten those days in which so many northern homes were saddened?

"Though youth has ripened into manhood and manhood turned to tottering age, the memory still lives and returns today freighted with unwonted sadness.

"Again we hear the call for $75,000 men; again the Sabbath stillness of our quiet vales is broken by the thrilling, fascinating strain of martial music.

"And so began one of the greatest struggles for political supremacy that ever rent the social fabric or disturbed the internal equilibrium of any state or nation.

"Methinks I see that proud and noble army of the Potomac as its columns, with banners fluttering in the breeze, file out from the defenses of the national capital, to meet the advancing foe with steel, untried but confident, a sublime spectacle of manly courage and patriotic devotion.

"What wonder that a great and grateful people offers an annual tribute of love and affection to the memory which is now as sacred as the principles for which they contended? And when the last veteran shall be gathered to the breast of earth and shall speak only in the dumb eloquence of the myriad mounds, these lessons of patriotism shall be repeated and with each recurring season, the gathered sweetness of the first fruits of spring time, shall be brought to these sacred shrines, as emblems, that as long as the sun shines to call forth the hidden life from the soul and heaven's tear drop kiss hill and meadow and the blue dome arches above us, so long shall we esteem freedom to be the dearest possession of our blood-bought republic and continue onward and upward toward that glorious destiny of national worth and excellence, which God in his infinite providence has ordained for the children of men."

The quartet then gave another selection, after which the audience was dismissed after a hort prayer by Rev. J. W. Gorrell, pastor of the Christian church.

The services of the day were most successful, and once more the members of General Lyon post fulfilled their duty nobly.

A GRAND RALLY OF THE K. OF C.

music of the Union in the days of the Civil war—that our thoughts should turn in serious contemplation of the governmental structure made possible by their achievement. It is peculiarly appropriate that on this holy Sabbath day of the republic, when the May breezes carry the echoes of national eulogy and requimn chant, that we, representing an organization which is distinctively American, and in our two-fold character as Catholics and knights, that binds us with loyalty and devotion to our country, make our try is the exemplar of nations, and ennobling. Inspiring because our country is the exemplay of nations, and ennobling because its manifest destiny is the highest development of human rights and their perfect application to the principles of civil liberty.

"The first republic of modern times, emerging unfettered and free, with the chains and shackles which tyranny had forced broken into atoms; it faced the future, supplanted the tainted and corrupted blood of royalty in the government of human beings with the character and virture of its citizens; for the gilded throne of the monarch it set up the voice of the people. It placed government by force into government by election, government by instruction; entailments that retard and debase into a government by the cultivation of the higher moral faculties, that appeal to the intelligence and the justice of integrity of man. Then, as now, man wore upon his brow the image and likeness of Almighty God, which is the highest incentive to the exaltation of mind and purity of soul, but never until his station in life was proclaimed by these United States, and it was written that all men were created free and equal.

"The consideration of my theme leads me to the second title of the name of our order—Columbus. That word is certainly a synonym for Catholicity and patriotism. The name of Columbus is found on the first page of American history. 'Twas Columbus, the Catholic, with his Catholic crew, that discovered this continent and a Catholic gave it the name of America. If we are true to our God, we cannot be false to our country, and if we are true knights we must be true Catholics, which means the best of patriots, and here in this favored land, under the benignity of the republic are seventy-five millons of people, the best of the world, increasing in numbers and moral perfection as time passes, devoted to law and liberty, with the God of justice engraven upon their banner, leading on in the procession of nations, until our beloved country shall encompass the universe with a more glorious future than pen can picture or eloquence portray."

The speaker was loully applauded for his utterances, which were indeed words well spoken.

"Catholic Citizenship" was spoken by W. A. Maline, of Youngstown, who organized the local council. The speaker confined his remarks to the uplifting and upbuilding of one's intellect, and said that to be a good Catholic one must needs to be a law abiding citizen. He advised the local council to give lecture courses, to take up matters of a public nature, and by so doing additional intellectual power would be gained. This address, while it might be considered brief, contained a monument of lofty thought and excellent advice.

"Knighthood" was the theme assigned to J. J. Coniff, of Wheeling, but that gentleman was unable to be present.

"Fraternity" was the subject of a toast by Joseph L. McDowell, of Coshocton. He told of the good of combined organization, and the results that are to be obtained thereby. His remarks were confined to the goodness done by members of organizations similar to that of the Knights of Columbus, which are ever alert to the uplifting of those in sorrow and distress.

Dr. C. A. Wingerter, State Deputy Supreme Knight of West Virginia, briefly upon "Our Order." The organization of the council was rehearsed, and the past trials of the order were spoken of in a most entertaining manner, while the accomplishments of the organization as it stands today were told of, much to the pleasure of those assembled.

During the afternoon short addresses were made by Rev. Father Halligan, of Wellsville, Father Dacey, of Steubenville, and Father Syner, of Coshocton.

Just before the banquet closed Toast Master Grafton spoke of the work the members of the ladies' auxiliary had done in preparing the banquet, after which those present gave a vote of thanks to the ladies. The banquet was then closed by the singing of "America."

Following the banquet Dennison council conferred the second degree on a large class at Brotherhood hall, and this was followed by the third degree, which was conferred by District Deputy Supreme Knight Thomas J. Duffy, of this city.

The Best Liniment

"'My husband used it for a sprained back and was also quickly relieved. In fact it is the best family liniment I have ever used. I would not think of being without it. I have recommended it to many and they always speak very highly of it and declare its merits are wonderful." For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

An invocation by Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart followed, after which "America" was sung by the post quartet and the audience. The Memorial day address was then given by L. T. Farr, of Rogers, who in part said:

"Mr. Chairman, Members of the Grand Army, Ladies and Gentlemen: I know not how I might better introduce my remarks to you this afternoon than by quoting briefly from that splendid oration delivered by its gifted author upon the consecrated soil of Gettysburg, soon after its sod had been crimsoned with the life blood of the flower of our American manhood, and when he said: 'It was appointed by law in Athens that the obsequies of her citizens who fell in battle should be performed at the public expense and in the most honorable manner. Their remains were carefully gathered up from the battle plain or the funeral pyre and brought home to the city.

"There for three days before burial they lay in state beneath tents of honor, to receive the native offerings of friends and relatives — flowers, weapons, precious ornaments, painted vases and wonders of art—which after 3,000 years adorn the museums of modern Europe were laid there, the last tribute of surviving affection. Ten coffins of funeral cypress received, one for each of the tribes of the city and an eleventh for the unrecognized dead, and of those whose remains could not be recovered.

"On the fourth day the funeral procession was formed in which it was expected that all citizens, aside from friends and relatives, should bear a part. Thus marshaled they moved to the place of interment in that famous Ceramicus, the most beautiful suburb of Athens, which had been adorned by Cimon, the son of Miltiades, with walks and fountains and columns; whose groves were filled with altars, shrines and temples; whose gardens were kept forever green by streams of living water flowing down from the surrounding hills; whose pathways gleamed with the monuments to the illustrious dead, the sublime work of the most matchless skill that ever gave life to marble.

"'There, in the midst of that eloquent silence of God and nature, underneath the over-reaching plain trees upon a lofty stage erected for that purpose, it was ordained that the funeral oration should be pronounced by some citizen of Athens in the presence of the assembled multitude.'

"Such were the tokens of respect required to be paid at Athens to the memory of those who had fallen in defense of their country; such, my fellow citizens, is the purpose for which we have assembled today; after the flight of more than 23 centuries, we come in the spirit of Roman patriotism and in the light of a better civilization, to stand at the grave side of our fallen countrymen and pray to honored dust the tribute of our love, and I feel today, as never before, how justly, from the dawn of history to the present time, men have paid the homage of their gratitude and admiration to the memory of those who, through his resolve and unselfish sacrifice, laid even life itself upon the altar of their common country, and if this tribute were ever due to whom could it be more justly paid than to those about whose lasting resting place we stand today, to bedeck their silent tents of green with our tokens of love and affection?

"How many who now hear me, remember the dark days of 1861 when our great commonwealth of American states felt the first shock occasioned by discordant and rebellious elements? How many felt that thrill of alarm, when the news flashed from one loyal state to another that Sumter had fallen? Ay! who has forgotten those days in which so many northern homes were saddened?

"Though youth has ripened into manhood and manhood turned to tottering age, the memory still lives and returns today freighted with unwonted sadness.

"Again we hear the call for $75,000 men; again the Sabbath stillness of our quiet vales is broken by the thrilling, fascinating strain of martial music.

"And so began one of the greatest struggles for political supremacy that ever rent the social fabric or disturbed the internal equilibrium of any state or nation.

"Methinks I see that proud and noble army of the Potomac as its columns, with banners fluttering in the breeze, file out from the defenses of the national capital, to meet the advancing foe with steel, untried but confident, a sublime spectacle of manly courage and patriotic devotion.

"What wonder that a great and grateful people offers an annual tribute of love and affection to the memory which is now as sacred as the principles for which they contended? And when the last veteran shall be gathered to the breast of earth and shall speak only in the dumb eloquence of the myriad mounds, these lessons of patriotism shall be repeated and with each recurring season, the gathered sweetness of the first fruits of spring time, shall be brought to these sacred shrines, as emblems, that as long as the sun shines to call forth the hidden life from the soul and heaven's tear drop kiss hill and meadow and the blue dome arches above us, so long shall we esteem freedom to be the dearest possession of our blood-bought republic and continue onward and upward toward that glorious destiny of national worth and excellence, which God in his infinite providence has ordained for the children of men."

The quartet then gave another selection, after which the audience was dismissed after a hort prayer by Rev. J. W. Gorrell, pastor of the Christian church.

The services of the day were most successful, and once more the members of General Lyon post fulfilled their duty nobly.

A GRAND RALLY OF THE K. OF C.

music of the Union in the days of the Civil war—that our thoughts should turn in serious contemplation of the governmental structure made possible by their achievement. It is peculiarly appropriate that on this holy Sabbath day of the republic, when the May breezes carry the echoes of national eulogy and requimn chant, that we, representing an organization which is distinctively American, and in our two-fold character as Catholics and knights, that binds us with loyalty and devotion to our country, make our try is the exemplar of nations, and ennobling. Inspiring because our country is the exemplay of nations, and ennobling because its manifest destiny is the highest development of human rights and their perfect application to the principles of civil liberty.

"The first republic of modern times, emerging unfettered and free, with the chains and shackles which tyranny had forced broken into atoms; it faced the future, supplanted the tainted and corrupted blood of royalty in the government of human beings with the character and virture of its citizens; for the gilded throne of the monarch it set up the voice of the people. It placed government by force into government by election, government by instruction; entailments that retard and debase into a government by the cultivation of the higher moral faculties, that appeal to the intelligence and the justice of integrity of man. Then, as now, man wore upon his brow the image and likeness of Almighty God, which is the highest incentive to the exaltation of mind and purity of soul, but never until his station in life was proclaimed by these United States, and it was written that all men were created free and equal.

"The consideration of my theme leads me to the second title of the name of our order—Columbus. That word is certainly a synonym for Catholicity and patriotism. The name of Columbus is found on the first page of American history. 'Twas Columbus, the Catholic, with his Catholic crew, that discovered this continent and a Catholic gave it the name of America. If we are true to our God, we cannot be false to our country, and if we are true knights we must be true Catholics, which means the best of patriots, and here in this favored land, under the benignity of the republic are seventy-five millons of people, the best of the world, increasing in numbers and moral perfection as time passes, devoted to law and liberty, with the God of justice engraven upon their banner, leading on in the procession of nations, until our beloved country shall encompass the universe with a more glorious future than pen can picture or eloquence portray."

The speaker was loully applauded for his utterances, which were indeed words well spoken.

"Catholic Citizenship" was spoken by W. A. Maline, of Youngstown, who organized the local council. The speaker confined his remarks to the uplifting and upbuilding of one's intellect, and said that to be a good Catholic one must needs to be a law abiding citizen. He advised the local council to give lecture courses, to take up matters of a public nature, and by so doing additional intellectual power would be gained. This address, while it might be considered brief, contained a monument of lofty thought and excellent advice.

"Knighthood" was the theme assigned to J. J. Coniff, of Wheeling, but that gentleman was unable to be present.

"Fraternity" was the subject of a toast by Joseph L. McDowell, of Coshocton. He told of the good of combined organization, and the results that are to be obtained thereby. His remarks were confined to the goodness done by members of organizations similar to that of the Knights of Columbus, which are ever alert to the uplifting of those in sorrow and distress.

Dr. C. A. Wingerter, State Deputy Supreme Knight of West Virginia, briefly upon "Our Order." The organization of the council was rehearsed, and the past trials of the order were spoken of in a most entertaining manner, while the accomplishments of the organization as it stands today were told of, much to the pleasure of those assembled.

During the afternoon short addresses were made by Rev. Father Halligan, of Wellsville, Father Dacey, of Steubenville, and Father Syner, of Coshocton.

Just before the banquet closed Toast Master Grafton spoke of the work the members of the ladies' auxiliary had done in preparing the banquet, after which those present gave a vote of thanks to the ladies. The banquet was then closed by the singing of "America."

Following the banquet Dennison council conferred the second degree on a large class at Brotherhood hall, and this was followed by the third degree, which was conferred by District Deputy Supreme Knight Thomas J. Duffy, of this city.

The Best Liniment

"I have derived great benefit from the use of Chamberlan's Pain Balm for rheumatism and lumbago," says Mrs. Anna Hagelgans, of Tuckahoe, N. J. "My husband used it for a sprained back and was also quickly relieved. In fact it is the best family liniment I have ever used. I would not think of being without it. I have recommended it to many and they always speak very highly of it and declare its merits are wonderful." For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

Home Sweet Home!

Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble there's no place like home;
A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there
Which seek through the world is ne'er met with elsewhere.

An exile from home, pleasure dazzles in vain,
Ah, give me my lowly thatched cottage again,
The birds singing sweetly that came to my call,
Give me them and that peace of mind, dearer than all.

THE poet when he wrote these immortal verses touched a note that finds an echo in every Anglo-Saxon breast. How we love the sentiment expressed! Perhaps your home has been so varied by many movings that these lines don't find their responsive chord? Is it wise to live in a house that is not your own, putting up with all the inconveniences of a tenant house, the ups and downs with the landlord and a thousand vexations that arise when almost by the reaching out of your hand a home comes within your reach? Through us is offered to you your choice of more than in the city, at all prices, in all locations and at all kinds of terms of purchase. Whether you have much money or little, we would like to have you see what we can do for you toward your owning a home. We are not entirely mercenary in this plea for your consideration. Profit we must have, yet we hope that your profit will be the greater. Hundreds of satisfied purchasers throughout the city will tell you of us. Come and let us do the thinking and planning for you that you may own a home, realizing that it is yours, and join in the chorus and sing

Home, home, sweet, sweet home
There's no place like home.

CITY IMPORTANT IN POLITICAL WAY

Good Reasons Why East Liverpool People Should Look to Their Interests.

THE TAXATION PROBLEM

Requires That Some One Familiar With It Should Represent the City In the Legislature—E. W. Hill Familiar With Current Needs.

The importance of East Liverpool in a political way was never so self evident as at the present time, when the question of local taxation on all properties, and other measures looking to the welfare of our industries, are urgently needed.

These conditions behoove citizens of East Liverpool to look to their own interests and in no respect will it be more important to the welfare of the city to be well represented than in the next state legislature.

In that regard the man of the hour will be one who is conversant with the needs of the city as a municipality, and yet who is equally conversant with the necessities of the local taxpayers, and disposed to go out of his way to conserve their interests.

These specifications are filled in a larger measure by one who, while twice before a candidate for the legislature and defeated—not by reason of lack of personal eligibility to the office, but rather by uncontrollable influences—yet never a sulker in his political tent, but came cheerfully forth and gave full support to the party's nominee. It is not hard to guess this man to be Elijah W. Hill.

Mr. Hill has decided to come before the Republicans of Columbiana county once more, strong in the belief that his manly course in the past in the face of untoward conditions which are now no longer in existence, coupled with his undoubted ability to fill the office with credit to himself and his constituents, make him the logical candidate of Columbiana county.

Few residents of East Liverpool and southern Columbiana county are more in touch with current needs of the community than Elijah W. Hill.

His daily contact with the business interests—his continual intercourse with the interests of the laboring classes through his handling of their purchases of homes and investment of their earnings, places him in such a position that he cannot escape familiarity with what is required to further their condition and protect their best interests; his knowledge of what will conserve the prosperity of our manufacturing institutions is by reason of the character of his business, constant and clear sighted.

He realizes that East Liverpool's prosperity cannot be enhanced by onerous taxation and he has the courage and nobility, not only to say so, but to convince others that he is sure that such a position is tenable in a legislator.

Mr. Hill's signal success in handling his own business and that of the many others intrusted to him is a strong argument that he is a desirable man to look after the business of East Liverpool's taxpayers, and there is little doubt that he will be recognized as the Republican party's nominee at the legislative primaries.

The Home of Peruna

The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the president of the Hartman Sanitarium, an institution which has a department devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases. He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year, the most of whom return to their homes to be treated by correspondence. The principal remedy he relies upon in such cases is Peruna, which every woman should have, who has any affection of this kind.

THE GREATEST OF AMERICA'S SANITARIUMS.

In view of the great multitude of women suffering from some kind of female disease, and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynæcologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as may make application to him during the summer months without charge.

The treatment will be conducted by correspondence. The doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug stores. This offer will prevail during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangements.

All cases of female diseases, including menstrual irregularities, displacements, ulcerations, inflammations, discharges, irritation of the ovaries, tumors and dropsy of the abdomen, should apply at once and become registered as regular patients. All correspondence will be held strictly confidential. No testimonials of cures will be given to the public except by the express wish of the patient.

No one knows better than Dr. Hartman how much the women suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. No one knows better than he does how many of them suffer with such diseases. Patiently, hopefully, wearily, and often silently, they eke out a miserable existence year after year.

A woman confined to the house several years with a chronic female derangement had finally given up all hope of being cured. She had tried physician after physician, and remedy after remedy, without any permanent improvement. Her treatment had cost her husband, who was a poor man, hundreds of dollars. They had been obliged to deny themselves many comforts of life in order to get money enough to pay the physicians.

DISEASES PECULIAR TO THE FEMALE SEX.

Picking up the paper one day she happened to read an item which contained the news that Dr. Hartman would treat such cases free of charge by letter. She immediately wrote the doctor, describing her case, and giving him all her symptoms. She soon received a letter telling her exactly what to do and what medicines and appliances to get. She began the treatment (the principal remedy being Peruna) at once, and in a few weeks was well and strong again and able to do her own work.

Another woman who used Peruna without becoming one of Dr. Hartman's regular patients had the following experience. Miss Ida Green writes from Baldwinville, Ga.:

ONE OF THE 200,000 WOMEN HELPED LAST YEAR.

"Peruna is wonderful and good, and a certain cure for female weakness. I have been ill and have been taking doctor's medicine for several years, and found that none did me any good.

"Every day it was a worry. I was always sick. I had come to the conclusion to give up, and not use any more medicine. I was sick indeed for the past two years. Just before I began to take Peruna I was very weak, besides I was bilious and constipated.

"I had pains in my back and side and falling of the womb, with bearing down pains.

"One day while reading my newspaper, I came across an ad., read of the book for women entitled, "Health and Beauty," and sent for it. Then I began to use Peruna. After using several bottles I am now thoroughly cured."—MISS IDA GREEN.

Mrs. Theresa Keller, of Fremont, Wash., writes:

"Peruna not only cured me of female trouble but prevents me catching any cold, and as long as I have a bottle in the house my family needs no doctor."—Mrs. Theresa Keller.

Send for free book entitled, "Health and Beauty." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

HEAVEN'S OWN AGENT

Abner M. Nice, in his oration on "Lincoln," noted the fact that although four of the greatest men that ever lived had been heralded as heroes for their courageous and wonderful characters, there was yet one more whose name will ever stand forth grandly in the history of American patriotism, and he was known everywhere during his life as "Honest Abe." In the annals of history no abler, no grander man ever lived. Strong and serene in conscience and thought he conquered all. He was a priceless jewel in a crown of freedom, lifting three million slaves from bondage to an equal with their masters. His character was irreproachable.

He was heaven's own agent to man. He broke the shackles of the world. His life was only paralleled by that of the spotless Washington, but like all other great men, he died while at his work. Kind, earnest, sympathethic, faithful, democratic, he was anxious only to serve his country, and nobly and grandly was his mission fulfilled.

"OLD TECUMSEH."
THE IDEAL SOLDIER

"Sherman" was the subject of Otis A. Swan's oration, and a very good pen picture was drawn of "Old Tecumseh," the only man who ever refused to be president, declaring he was bred to war and not to politics. Sherman was a born soldier; a man of action, positive in his views and outspoken in expressing them. His march to Atlanta was one of a series of brilliant campaigns in which two of America's greatest strategists sought to checkmate each other. The march "from Atlanta to the sea" was the most romantic event of the Civil war. In boldness of design it would have outclassed Alexander; in persistency of purpose and striking effect, it would have put Caesar to shame. Sherman's Christmas gift of the city of Savannah to the United States was the greatest Christmas gift in modern history.

Sherman was an ideal soldier, obedient to his superiors, strict in discipline, fertile in resources, fixed in purpose, prompt in decision and magnetic in his bearing. Patriotism was his watchword, and the whole keynote of his life, as shown in his declaration: "On no earthly account will I do any act or think any thought contrary to or in defiance of the old government of the United States."

Home Sweet Home!

Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble there's no place like home;
A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there
Which seek through the world is ne'er met with elsewhere.

An exile from home, pleasure dazzles in vain,
Ah, give me my lowly thatched cottage again,
The birds singing sweetly that came to my call,
Give me them and that peace of mind, dearer than all.

THE poet when he wrote these immortal verses touched a note that finds an echo in every Anglo-Saxon breast. How we love the sentiment expressed! Perhaps your home has been so varied by many movings that these lines don't find their responsive chord? Is it wise to live in a house that is not your own, putting up with all the inconveniences of a tenant house, the ups and downs with the landlord and a thousand vexations that arise when almost by the reaching out of your hand a home comes within your reach? Through us is offered to you your choice of more than in the city, at all prices, in all locations and at all kinds of terms of purchase. Whether you have much money or little, we would like to have you see what we can do for you toward your owning a home. We are not entirely mercenary in this plea for your consideration. Profit we must have, yet we hope that your profit will be the greater. Hundreds of satisfied purchasers throughout the city will tell you of us. Come and let us do the thinking and planning for you that you may own a home, realizing that it is yours, and join in the chorus and sing

CITY IMPORTANT IN POLITICAL WAY

Good Reasons Why East Liverpool People Should Look to Their Interests.

THE TAXATION PROBLEM

Requires That Some One Familiar With It Should Represent the City In the Legislature—E. W. Hill Familiar With Current Needs.

The importance of East Liverpool in a political way was never so self evident as at the present time, when the question of local taxation on all properties, and other measures looking to the welfare of our industries, are urgently needed.

These conditions behoove citizens of East Liverpool to look to their own interests and in no respect will it be more important to the welfare of the city to be well represented than in the next state legislature.

In that regard the man of the hour will be one who is conversant with the needs of the city as a municipality, and yet who is equally conversant with the necessities of the local taxpayers, and disposed to go out of his way to conserve their interests.

These specifications are filled in a larger measure by one who, while twice before a candidate for the legislature and defeated—not by reason of lack of personal eligibility to the office, but rather by uncontrollable influences—yet never a sulker in his political tent, but came cheerfully forth and gave full support to the party's nominee. It is not hard to guess this man to be Elijah W. Hill.

Mr. Hill has decided to come before the Republicans of Columbiana county once more, strong in the belief that his manly course in the past in the face of untoward conditions which are now no longer in existence, coupled with his undoubted ability to fill the office with credit to himself and his constituents, make him the logical candidate of Columbiana county.

Few residents of East Liverpool and southern Columbiana county are more in touch with current needs of the community than Elijah W. Hill.

His daily contact with the business interests—his continual intercourse with the interests of the laboring classes through his handling of their purchases of homes and investment of their earnings, places him in such a position that he cannot escape familiarity with what is required to further their condition and protect their best interests; his knowledge of what will conserve the prosperity of our manufacturing institutions is by reason of the character of his business, constant and clear sighted.

He realizes that East Liverpool's prosperity cannot be enhanced by onerous taxation and he has the courage and nobility, not only to say so, but to convince others that he is sure that such a position is tenable in a legislator.

Mr. Hill's signal success in handling his own business and that of the many others intrusted to him is a strong argument that he is a desirable man to look after the business of East Liverpool's taxpayers, and there is little doubt that he will be recognized as the Republican party's nominee at the legislative primaries.

The Home of Pe-ru-na

The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the president of the Hartman Sanitarium, an institution which has a department devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases. He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year, the most of whom return to their homes to be treated by correspondence. The principal remedy he relies upon in such cases is Peruna, which every woman should have, who has any affection of this kind.

THE GREATEST OF AMERICA'S SANITARIUMS.

In view of the great multitude of women suffering from some kind of female disease, and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynæcologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as may make application to him during the summer months without charge.

The treatment will be conducted by correspondence. The doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug stores. This offer will prevail during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangements.

All cases of female diseases, including menstrual irregularities, displacements, ulcerations, inflammations, discharges, irritation of the ovaries, tumors and dropsy of the abdomen, should apply at once and become registered as regular patients. All correspondence will be held strictly confidential. No testimonials of cures will be given to the public except by the express wish of the patient.

No one knows better than Dr. Hartman how much the women suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. No one knows better than he does how many of them suffer with such diseases. Patiently, hopefully, wearily, and often silently, they eke out a miserable existence year after year.

A woman confined to the house several years with a chronic female derangement had finally given up all hope of being cured. She had tried physician after physician, and remedy after remedy, without any permanent improvement. Her treatment had cost her husband, who was a poor man, hundreds of dollars. They had been obliged to deny themselves many comforts of life in order to get money enough to pay the physicians.

DISEASES PECULIAR TO THE FEMALE SEX.

Picking up the paper one day she happened to read an item which contained the news that Dr. Hartman would treat such cases free of charge by letter. She immediately wrote the doctor, describing her case, and giving him all her symptoms. She soon received a letter telling her exactly what to do and what medicines and appliances to get. She began the treatment (the principal remedy being Peruna) at once, and in a few weeks was well and strong again and able to do her own work.

Another woman who used Peruna without becoming one of Dr. Hartman's regular patients had the following experience. Miss Ida Green writes from Baldwinville, Ga.:

ONE OF THE 200,000 WOMEN HELPED LAST YEAR.

"Peruna is wonderful and good, and a certain cure for female weakness. I have been ill and have been taking doctor's medicine for several years, and found that none did me any good.

"Every day it was a worry. I was always sick. I had come to the conclusion to give up, and not use any more medicine. I was sick indeed for the past two years. Just before I began to take Peruna I was very weak, besides I was bilious and constipated.

"I had pains in my back and side and falling of the womb, with bearing down pains.

"One day while reading my newspaper, I came across an ad., read of the book for women entitled, "Health and Beauty," and sent for it. Then I began to use Peruna. After using several bottles I am now thoroughly cured."—MISS IDA GREEN.

Mrs. Theresa Keller, of Fremont, Wash., writes:

"Peruna not only cured me of female trouble but prevents me catching any cold, and as long as I have a bottle in the house my family needs no doctor."—Mrs. Theresa Keller.

Send for free book entitled, "Health and Beauty." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

LARKINS, THE DRUG MAN

THE LOCAL TEAM TWICE DEFEATED

Crowds Watched the Contests Between East Liverpool and Windsor A. C.

FIRST GAME A POOR ONE

In the Second There Was Better Playing—The Boy Pitcher Had Not Proper Support—J. Heckathorn Star Performer—Games In Detail.

The East Liverpool baseball team was defeated twice yesterday by the visiting team from Pittsburg.

The Windsor Athletic base ball aggregation won the first game of the series from the locals yesterday morning in West End park by a score of 15 to 12, which in itself is an explanation of the playing witnessed by the fans, numbering over 500.

It certainly was long and tiresome. Had the contest been between boys not in their teens the scores would not have been more, nor would the hits have been more numerous. Both pitchers were pounded unmercifully and were up in the air from the beginning. The sun shining in the eyes of the players as they tried to field fly balls was the excuse made by each team for the rank exhibition. The excuse in the opinion of the spectators was as rank as the exhibition, because many an excellent game has been played under far more discouraging circumstances. From the grand stand, bleachers, box cars and hillsides came exclamations of disgust, and although good plays were made occasionally shouts of applause were not in evidence. The crowd was driven to a state of aggravation and could not enjoy a play when seen.

Umpire Clark called the game at 10:10 and in a very few minutes the ball was rolling in every direction. The visitors were first up and in the start made enough runs and hits to cinch the result. The locals apparently thought they were up against it and played accordingly. However, they spurted quite noticeably in the first five innings, and it is a shame that they fell so hard in the remainder of the game.

At the beginning of the sixth the score lacked but one of being even, and the visiting pitcher was giving signs of exhaustion, but the locals went out in one, two, three order, and made it easy for him. In the third the Pittsburg lads piled up three runs and added another bunch of five in the fourth. In the next they were peaceable, but started once more in the sixth by two runs and three hits and finally put an end to the onslaught in the ninth by scoring a couple of each.

As can be seen by the score by innings neither team had the game until the last inning was finished. Each team spurted several times and the result was never promising. The lucky seventh did little for the locals. They were seemingly in a trance and let it pass without an effort. The only star playing fell to the lot of Patterson, who played in left field. He made three elegant catches and one was considered sensational. After running for a hundred yards he reached over and managed to get the ball in his hands, but it left them instantaneously and the juggling act which followed was the sensational feature. He not only clutched the ball before it hit the ground, but fired it to second and made a double play.

Hamilton at second only lasted three innings. He made two errors and probably was the cause of the locals' defeat. He stood aghast when a ball was sent in his neighborhood and made few attempts to grapple them. Webb was taken from right field and substituted for him, while J. Heckathorn was taken from the bench and placed in right.

Fisher covered himself with glory, in his own estimation, when he run backward and caught a foul fly. It really was a sorry thing for the boy. He went up in the air immediately kicking because his mates could not be his equal, etc. His worst outburst though was when he assailed a boy, probably 7 years of age, because he was standing within 10 feet of home plate. The assault was cowardly and the hot-headed youth was the recipient of many jeers for his display of foolhardiness.

Clark umpired an honest game, but at that was called down so many times that he felt discouraged. The calling was done by the visitors, and is only a trick practiced by them. One of the team was heard to say: "This team is a peach. I can't remember the time that the whole push didn't kick upon a decision whether it was fair or not."

Although the afternoon game resulted in a second defeat for the locals, the game was undoubtedly the cleanest of the season, and was the kind that makes the game a national favorite.

That the locals did not win can be credited to two causes. They were up against a team that could play just a little too well for them, and they did not give Maley, the boy wonder, the proper support. He pitched his usual fast game, and it was almost heartrending to see the backing he received. Just at the time when he would have the visitors on the road to destruction some fellow would make a rank play and turn the tables completely.

The park was in the finest condition yet, the diamond being smooth and hard and the outfield being superb. At least 900 people were in attendance, and for the first time this season the grand stand was filled to its utmost capacity. The box cars were also well decorated, which would probably swell the crowd to 1,200. What possesses the crowd that inhabits the lofty car galleries is beyond explanation. They not only impudently sit on the unpaid for perches, but make life mierable for those who are lawfully witnessing the game. During the progress of this particular game they expectorated on and threw stones at the people under them until it was necessary to call the police.

Manager Walsh has a scheme by which he hopes to cheat the marauders from seeing games in the future, and it is to be hoped that he will be successful. It is his intention to stretch a canvas, 10 feet in width, along the fence. If the cars are placed on the track next to the river the plan will be successful, but when not it will simply make the sight more agreeable to the heathenish tribe.

Without doubt J. Heckathorn, in right for the locals, was the star performer of the afternoon. However, in one of his sensational maneuverings he came near being the cause of a serious injury to a child, the son of Walter Deville. The boy, in company with his father, was leaving the park in the eighth innning and unwisely wandered too far out into right field. Heckathorn was in the act of fielding a high foul fly when they jumped in his way and were knocked violently to the ground, the father falling on the boy and hurting him, though not dangerously. A large crowd quickly gathered around the father and son and all were highly pleased when they found that his injuries were slight. The accident caused a slight delay in the game, but did not affect the score in the least, as Heckathorn got the ball notwithstanding.

With the entire crowd on the qui vive the game was started. No one knew what the result would be and none were able to make a reasonable guess. The visitors having won the first game and having played so well while here last summer they certainly did not have defeat staring them in the face, and the locals, with Maley in the box, and the remainder of the lineup being the best that the city can produce, it certainly looked like six of one and a half dozen of the other.

As in the morning game the Smoky City lads took the bat, but they did not carry on the same performance as in the morning. They were hard against it when Maley commenced shooting them over. In rapid succession for two innnings they fell before his merciless ball. However, in the third and fourth, they landed a few hits and succeeded in scoring three runs, but it was not due to the hits. Had the locals been there in support one run only would have been the result and the game might have ended differently. With the exception of the sixth they could not make another start, all failing and going out in order.

Reark, the first up for the locals, made a pretty start, landing one over second, but did not score; neither did J. Heckathorn, who also got a hit. Both were left on bases. The second game was a repetition of the first in results, and the only time in the game when the locals were in a running heat was in the third when two hits were bunched, allowing Maley to score. Four hits were scored in the following six innings, but they were scattered and were not fruitful.

LARKINS, THE DRUG MAN

THE LOCAL TEAM TWICE DEFEATED

Crowds Watched the Contests Between East Liverpool and Windsor A. C.

FIRST GAME A POOR ONE

In the Second There Was Better Playing—The Boy Pitcher Had Not Proper Support—J. Heckathorn Star Performer—Games In Detail.

The East Liverpool baseball team was defeated twice yesterday by the visiting team from Pittsburg.

The Windsor Athletic base ball aggregation won the first game of the series from the locals yesterday morning in West End park by a score of 15 to 12, which in itself is an explanation of the playing witnessed by the fans, numbering over 500.

It certainly was long and tiresome. Had the contest been between boys not in their teens the scores would not have been more, nor would the hits have been more numerous. Both pitchers were pounded unmercifully and were up in the air from the beginning. The sun shining in the eyes of the players as they tried to field fly balls was the excuse made by each team for the rank exhibition. The excuse in the opinion of the spectators was as rank as the exhibition, because many an excellent game has been played under far more discouraging circumstances. From the grand stand, bleachers, box cars and hillsides came exclamations of disgust, and although good plays were made occasionally shouts of applause were not in evidence. The crowd was driven to a state of aggravation and could not enjoy a play when seen.

Umpire Clark called the game at 10:10 and in a very few minutes the ball was rolling in every direction. The visitors were first up and in the start made enough runs and hits to cinch the result. The locals apparently thought they were up against it and played accordingly. However, they spurted quite noticeably in the first five innings, and it is a shame that they fell so hard in the remainder of the game.

At the beginning of the sixth the score lacked but one of being even, and the visiting pitcher was giving signs of exhaustion, but the locals went out in one, two, three order, and made it easy for him. In the third the Pittsburg lads piled up three runs and added another bunch of five in the fourth. In the next they were peaceable, but started once more in the sixth by two runs and three hits and finally put an end to the onslaught in the ninth by scoring a couple of each.

As can be seen by the score by innings neither team had the game until the last inning was finished. Each team spurted several times and the result was never promising. The lucky seventh did little for the locals. They were seemingly in a trance and let it pass without an effort. The only star playing fell to the lot of Patterson, who played in left field. He made three elegant catches and one was considered sensational. After running for a hundred yards he reached over and managed to get the ball in his hands, but it left them instantaneously and the juggling act which followed was the sensational feature. He not only clutched the ball before it hit the ground, but fired it to second and made a double play.

Hamilton at second only lasted three innings. He made two errors and probably was the cause of the locals' defeat. He stood aghast when a ball was sent in his neighborhood and made few attempts to grapple them. Webb was taken from right field and substituted for him, while J. Heckathorn was taken from the bench and placed in right.

Fisher covered himself with glory, in his own estimation, when he run backward and caught a foul fly. It really was a sorry thing for the boy. He went up in the air immediately kicking because his mates could not be his equal, etc. His worst outburst though was when he assailed a boy, probably 7 years of age, because he was standing within 10 feet of home plate. The assault was cowardly and the hot-headed youth was the recipient of many jeers for his display of foolhardiness.

Clark umpired an honest game, but at that was called down so many times that he felt discouraged. The calling was done by the visitors, and is only a trick practiced by them. One of the team was heard to say: "This team is a peach. I can't remember the time that the whole push didn't kick upon a decision whether it was fair or not."

Although the afternoon game resulted in a second defeat for the locals, the game was undoubtedly the cleanest of the season, and was the kind that makes the game a national favorite.

That the locals did not win can be credited to two causes. They were up against a team that could play just a little too well for them, and they did not give Maley, the boy wonder, the proper support. He pitched his usual fast game, and it was almost heartrending to see the backing he received. Just at the time when he would have the visitors on the road to destruction some fellow would make a rank play and turn the tables completely.

The park was in the finest condition; yet, the diamond being smooth and hard and the outfield being superb. At least 900 people were in attendance, and for the first time this season the grand stand was filled to its utmost capacity. The box cars were also well decorated, which would probably swell the crowd to 1,200. What possesses the crowd that inhabits the lofty car galleries is beyond explanation. They not only impudently sit on the unpaid for perches, but make life mierable for those who are lawfully witnessing the game. During the progress of this particular game they expectorated on and threw stones at the people under them until it was necessary to call the police.

Manager Walsh has a scheme by which he hopes to cheat the marauders from seeing games in the future, and it is to be hoped that he will be successful. It is his intention to stretch a canvas, 10 feet in width, along the fence. If the cars are placed on the track next to the river the plan will be successful, but when not it will simply make the sight more agreeable to the heathenish tribe.

Without doubt J. Heckathorn, in right for the locals, was the star performer of the afternoon. However, in one of his sensational maneuverings he came near being the cause of a serious injury to a child, the son of Walter Deville. The boy, in company with his father, was leaving the park in the eighth inning and unwisely wandered too far out into right field. Heckathorn was in the act of fielding a high foul fly when they jumped in his way and were knocked violently to the ground, the father falling on the boy and hurting him, though not dangerously. A large crowd quickly gathered around the father and son and all were highly pleased when they found that his injuries were slight. The accident caused a slight delay in the game, but did not affect the score in the least, as Heckathorn got the ball notwithstanding.

With the entire crowd on the qui vive the game was started. No one knew what the result would be and none were able to make a reasonable guess. The visitors having won the first game and having played so well while here last summer they certainly did not have defeat staring them in the face, and the locals, with Maley in the box, and the remainder of the lineup being the best that the city can produce, it certainly looked like six of one and a half dozen of the other.

As in the morning game the Smoky City lads took the bat, but they did not carry on the same performance as in the morning. They were hard against it when Maley commenced shooting them over. In rapid succession for two innnings they fell before his merciless ball. However, in the third and fourth, they landed a few hits and succeeded in scoring three runs, but it was not due to the hits. Had the locals been there in support one run only would have been the result and the game might have ended differently. With the exception of the sixth they could not make another start, all failing and going out in order.

Reark, the first up for the locals, made a pretty start, landing one over second, but did not score; neither did J. Heckathorn, who also got a hit. Both were left on bases. The second game was a repetition of the first in results, and the only time in the game when the locals were in a running heat was in the third when two hits were bunched, allowing Maley to score. Four hits were scored in the following six innings, but they were scattered and were not fruitful.

The Hairspring.

The hairspring of a watch is a strip of the finest steel about 9½ inches long and .01 inch wide and .0027 inch thick. It is coiled up in spiral form and finely tempered. The process of tempering these springs was long held as a secret by the few fortunate ones possessing it, and even now it is not generally known. Their manufacture requires great skill and care. The strip is gauged to the .020 of an inch, but no measuring instrument has yet been devised capable of fine enough gauging to determine beforehand by the size of the strip what the strength of the finished spring will be. A twenty-thousandth part of an inch difference in the thickness of the strip makes a difference in the running of a watch of about six minutes per hour.

TROTTING STABLES AT MEMPHIS

Circuit Stars of Hamlin, Billings and Smathers

MEMPHIS has long been noted as the great training grounds for thoroughbreds of the western turf, but not until recently has the Tennessee metropolis developed into prominence as a training ground for light harness horses. The building of the magnificent new Billings park at a cost of over $300,000 established Memphis on the map as a light harness center. This track was built by a syndicate headed by C. K. G. Billings of Chicago. Mr. Billings is an enthusiastic fancier of the light harness horse and maintains one of the most extensive strings of trotters and pacers campaigned in this country. Billings park has first class stabling accommodations for several hundred head of horses. Every stall is occupied, and the horses are all well advanced in their training.

The track is one of the fastest light harness courses in the United States. All kinds of records were broken over it during the first meeting held last fall. According to Ed Geers, Memphis is an ideal spot to winter trotters and pacers, so far as the climatic conditions are concerned. He is also enthusiastic over the manner in which the track at Billings park is kept, but at the same time he cannot help putting in a good word for Selma, Ala., where he wintered the celebrated Hamlin string for many years.

"I like to jog my horses away from the track during the cold months," said Mr. Geers recently. "Memphis has unsurpassed accommodations for horsemen, but the roads in the vicinity of Billings park are not to be compared with those found in the vicinity of Selma. Barring this, I would prefer to winter here. All our horses have wintered in grand shape."

Edward Geers, "the silent man," is without a doubt the most successful driver and trainer on the trotting turf the world has ever produced. He has developed more champions and made more money for his employer, Cicero J. Hamlin, than any other handler of harness horses in the history of trotting and pacing in this country.

C. J. Hamlin, Geers' employer, is the master of the famous Village stock farm at East Aurora, N. Y. Mr. Hamlin is a multimillionaire. He accumulated his enormous fortune manufacturing glucose. Mr. Hamlin went into the horse business for pleasure, but in addition to deriving a lot of pleasure out of it he has also found it extremely profitable, especially of recent years.

Geers is training about thirty head of horses at Billings park for Mr. Hamlin. He also has several horses belonging to other well known patrons of the light harness turf, the best known of which is The Monk, 2:08¼. This horse was bred by Mr. Hamlin, who sold him to his present owner, Fred Gerken of New York. The Monk was the acknowledged king of the New York speedway last year. He is a trotter. Geers campaigned this horse in his four-year-old form with wonderful success. After that The Monk trained off and never saw a track again until Geers took him this winter. The silent man says that he has every reason to believe that The Monk will train this season. If he does, it will take a good trotter to trim him.

Geers also expects great things from a six-year-old full brother to Lord Derby, 2:06¼, one of the grandest trotters ever bred at the Village farm. This brother to Lord Derby is a green trotter with perfect action and fair speed. He is a splendid individual. Hamlin has given this horse every chance to develop, and both he and his trainer will be greatly disappointed if the animal fails to materialize into a first class trotter.

Another green trooter in the Hamlin string from which great things are expected the coming season is the five-year-old chestnut stallion called The Beau Ideal, by Daredevil, out of The Abbot's dam. This half brother to the world's champion trotting gelding is a splendidly gaited trotter, with a rare turn of speed. Like the brother to Lord Derby, this horse has also been given plenty of time to mature, and if appearances and his way of going count for anything he is almost certain to be heard from favorably the coming season. Geers, who developed The Abbot, says that the champion's half brother has shown enough to convince him that the horse is almost certain to develop into a sensational trotter. The Beau Ideal is a dark chestnut in color and is not unlike his famous half brother in conformation, although The Abbot is a beautiful blood bay in color.

The handsomest horse at Billings park is the mare Edna Cook, 2:12, that Geers is handling for a wealthy easterner. Equine experts have pronounced this mare a perfect picture horse. She was sired by Alcantara, and she took her mark as a three-year-old. She has been used as a road mare in recent years. Geers says that she has been doing extremely well this winter and gives every indication of displaying winning form on the track the coming season.

The fastest pacer in Geers' stable is Shadow Chimes, 2:06¼. This horse, as his name would indicate, is a son of Chimes, one of the most successful sires that ever stood at Village farm. His dam is a daughter of Mambrino King. Shadow Chimes has wintered splendidly. He is certain to reduce his mark during the coming season. Many close observers of the light harness game predict that he is going to prove the pacing sensation of 1902.

Another pacer in this stable that promises to give a creditable account of himself the coming season is Fred S. Wedgewood, 2:08¾. This six-year old son of Fred S. Wilkes, dam by Wedgewood, is one of the most improved looking horses at the track. He has taken on a lot of flesh during the past winter and looks like a horse that ought to step along some when Geers turns him loose to pace for the money.

Next to the Geers-Hamlin collection the most celebrated stable in Memphis is that of C. K. G. Billings, the millionaire Chicago gas magnate and founder of the track. Mr. Billings' horses are in charge of Scott McCoy, a well known trainer and driver. The star of the Billings barn is Little Boy, 2:01½, the champion wagon horse of the world. Little Boy has come out of winter quarters in magnificent shape. McCoy is going right along with this horse, as it is Mr. Billings' intention to ship the pick of his string to New York, and every effort will be made to have Little Boy ready for all comers on the New York speedway this spring.

Hontas Crook, 2:07½, the great pacer, never showed better in his life than he does right now. He came out of winter quarters looking finer than silk, and appears like a horse that can pace over the moon. Frazier, 2:07½, another one of Mr. Billings' crack pacers, is stepping along regularly.

George Spears is at Memphis with E. E. Smathers' great stable, headed by Lord Derby, 2:06½. Mr. Smathers bought Lord Derby from Mr. Hamlin

CICERO J. HAMLIN.

last year for a fancy price. According to Mr. Spears, the famous trotter never wintered better. Lord Derby weighs more now than he ever did, and all the smart horsemen at Billings park predict that he is sure to prove one of the sensational trotters of 1902. Mr. Spears also has two grand looking mares in Ida Highwood, 2:12¼, and Alice Parnes, 2:11¼. The famous pacer Sphinx S., 2:08½, is one of the star performers in Spears' stable. This horse never looked better in his life than he does right now. Spears says that he is certain to reduce his mark this year.

Wouldn't Commit Himself.

There is in a town in the north of England a certain preacher of Hibernian antecedents who considers himself to be a speaker of perfect English, but who is generally credited with the possession of as rich a brogue as can be found anywhere in Tipperary.

Some mention was made of his peculiar pronunciation at a church meeting, which greatly angered him. He immediately called upon one of the members and, after complaining of the injustice done him, asked him whether in his opinion a single trace of the brogue was to be observed in his speech.

"Well," his friend answered, "if you wish to deny it I should advise you to do so in writing."—London Answers.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Fertilizers For Alfalfa.

J. E. O., Wilmington, O., writes: "Which is better for seeding down alfalfa in sugar tree land twice in corn, pure ground bone, medium, ammonia 1.95, 26.23 phosphoric acid, or ammonia 1.50, 7.68 available phosphoric acid, 2.74 insoluble and 8.11 potash—200 pounds per acre?"

In a general way one can use to best advantage to start alfalfa a fertilizer rich in phosphoric acid. Yet potash tells on some soils, and on some lime tells, and on all a supply of immediately available nitrogen is a great help. No one can lay down a rule for another man's soil; only I know of one safe practice, and that is to apply liberally stable manure; it never fails on alfalfa.

Two hundred pounds to the acre is far too light an application if the land is really seriously deficient in fertility. When men ask me to prescribe fertilizers for alfalfa, I feel like playing "Beefsteak Mike" on them. Mike keeps hotel and restaurant in the west. He is a genius to cook a steak. No one dreams of asking for any other meat at Mike's. When a stranger happens in, Mike, who is his own cook and waiter, goes over the familiar rigamarole, "Pork chops, lamb chops, roast beef and beefsteak." The stranger hesitates, then orders pork chops. Mike stares at him in dismay for a moment, then disappears and presently sets down in front of him a magnificent steak, done to a turn. "Eat thot!" he commands. "It will be a heap better for ye!" And never thereafter does the traveler fail to order the steak. So with alfalfa and fertilizers; stable manure will be a "heap better for ye." It adds humus as well as fertility, favors bacterial action and makes the land more porous and easier drained of excess water and more retentive of moisture during droughts. Of the mineral fertilizers wood ashes are the best that I have ever tried. Apply liberally. Lime tells on some soils, making the differences between success and failure.—Joseph E. Wing in Breeder's Gazette.

Rich Soil For Potatoes.

The potato is a gross feeder and will respond readily to liberal feeding. Keep the soil full of humus or decaying vegetable matter. Oftentimes a dressing of coarse manure or green crop plowed under or stubble and root system of a previous grass or clover crop may not of itself contain so much plant food, but the mechanical effect upon the soil, the breaking down of rocky and inert elements of nutrition in process of decomposition that have hitherto been locked up in an irresponsive and unsatisfactory soil, is oftentimes the making of a crop of potatoes, and then, while the potato does not want a wet soil, it does need a great deal of moisture during the latter period of growth, and a good supply of humus will give the soil a very much larger capacity for the storage of this moisture.

Young Stock.

Most farmers find their stock increasing in number at this season with the coming of calves, lambs, pigs and chickens. If pains have been taken to breed from good stock, each one should mean additional income to the farmer or more value to his personal property. They should therefore be welcomed on arrival, properly cared for and hospitably treated. Do not neglect to meet them until they have shivered with the cold a few hours or grown hungry, and do not fail to supply good food in proper amounts at regular intervals. That is the way welcome visitors should be received in this country.—American Cultivator.

Ashes and Strawberries.

We have not found wood ashes best for strawberries except on very sour or damp soil. The strawberry seems to do best on a soil that is neutral—neither very sour nor very alkaline. The ashes contain lime, which will make an ordinary soil too alkaline for the strawberries to do their best. On a very sour soil the ashes would be likely to show excellent results. From our own experience we should use the ashes on the grain. Do not use them on potatoes if you are troubled with potato scab. The lime in the ashes will encourage the work of the fungus that causes this scab.—Rural New Yorker.

Soil For Rhubarb.

Rhubarb needs a deep and very fertile soil, and it is useless to expect to grow it in a thin, dry soil unless under irrigation; not that it needs wet ground by any means, but a soil retentive of moisture and rather inclined to clay, though good rhubarb can be grown in quite a sandy soil if it be well manured. No amount of fertilizer will take the place of stable manure with this plant. The organic matter in the manure, making the soil more retentive of moisture, makes it indispensable when large and succulent stalks are desired.

Dry Application of Poisons.

If small garden patches are dusted with poison from bags or with hand bellows for the destruction of insects, it is advisable always to dilute the paris green with ten parts of flour or, preferably, lime, and for application to vegetables which will ultimately be used for food one ounce of the poison should be mixed with six pounds of flour or ten of lime and dusted merely enough to show evenly over the surface. Arsenicals should not be applied to lettuce or other vegetables the free leafage of which is eaten.

A farmer cannot be up to date if he farms as his grandfather did. The nineteenth century is out of date; the twentieth century is here. Get a move on you and keep up with the procession, even if you have to subscribe for an agricultural paper in order to do so.

Offences against the laws of health are punished rigorously and inevitably by nature. A man may break civil laws and escape punishment. But the man who transgresses nature's law of health cannot escape the penalty. Many a man is to-day a prisoner for life, and for a very brief life, because of his outrage of the laws upon which health is conditioned. He sits idly in his chair torn by coughing spells and gasping for breath. The handkerchief which wipes his lips shows a red stain. He is slowly wasting away.

The Hairspring.

The hairspring of a watch is a strip of the finest steel about 9½ inches long and .01 inch wide and .0027 inch thick. It is coiled up in spiral form and finely tempered. The process of tempering these springs was long held as a secret by the few fortunate ones possessing it, and even now it is not generally known. Their manufacture requires great skill and care. The strip is gauged to the .020 of an inch, but no measuring instrument has yet been devised capable of fine enough gauging to determine beforehand by the size of the strip what the strength of the finished spring will be. A twenty-thousandth part of an inch difference in the thickness of the strip makes a difference in the running of a watch of about six minutes per hour.

TROTTING STABLES AT MEMPHIS

Circuit Stars of Hamlin, Billings and Smathers

MEMPHIS has long been noted as the great training grounds for thoroughbreds of the western turf, but not until recently has the Tennessee metropolis developed into prominence as a training ground for light harness horses. The building of the magnificent new Billings park at a cost of over $300,000 established Memphis on the map as a light harness center. This track was built by a syndicate headed by C. K. G. Billings of Chicago. Mr. Billings is an enthusiastic fancier of the light harness horse and maintains one of the most extensive strings of trotters and pacers campaigned in this country. Billings park has first class stabling accommodations for several hundred head of horses. Every stall is occupied, and the horses are all well advanced in their training.

The track is one of the fastest light harness courses in the United States. All kinds of records were broken over it during the first meeting held last fall. According to Ed Geers, Memphis is an ideal spot to winter trotters and pacers, so far as the climatic conditions are concerned. He is also enthusiastic over the manner in which the track at Billings park is kept, but at the same time he cannot help putting in a good word for Selma, Ala., where he wintered the celebrated Hamlin string for many years.

"I like to jog my horses away from the track during the cold months," said Mr. Geers recently. "Memphis has unsurpassed accommodations for horsemen, but the roads in the vicinity of Billings park are not to be compared with those found in the vicinity of Selma. Barring this, I would prefer to winter here. All our horses have wintered in grand shape."

Edward Geers, "the silent man," is without a doubt the most successful driver and trainer on the trotting turf the world has ever produced. He has developed more champions and made more money for his employer, Cicero J. Hamlin, than any other handler of harness horses in the history of trotting and pacing in this country.

C. J. Hamlin, Geers' employer, is the master of the famous Village stock farm at East Aurora, N. Y. Mr. Hamlin is a multimillionaire. He accumulated his enormous fortune manufacturing glucose. Mr. Hamlin went into the horse business for pleasure, but in addition to deriving a lot of pleasure out of it he has also found it extremely profitable, especially of recent years.

Geers is training about thirty head of horses at Billings park for Mr. Hamlin. He also has several horses belonging to other well known patrons of the light harness turf, the best known of which is The Monk, 2:08¼. This horse was bred by Mr. Hamlin, who sold him to his present owner, Fred Gerken of New York. The Monk was the acknowledged king of the New York speedway last year. He is a trotter. Geers campaigned this horse in his four-year-old form with wonderful success. After that The Monk trained off and never saw a track again until Geers took him this winter. The silent man says that he has every reason to believe that The Monk will train this season. If he does, it will take a good trotter to trim him.

Geers also expects great things from a six-year-old full brother to Lord Derby, 2:06¼, one of the grandest trotters ever bred at the Village farm. This brother to Lord Derby is a green trotter with perfect action and fair speed. He is a splendid individual. Hamlin has given this horse every chance to develop, and both he and his trainer will be greatly disappointed if the animal fails to materialize into a first class trotter.

Another green trooter in the Hamlin string from which great things are expected the coming season is the five-year-old chestnut stallion called The Beau Ideal, by Daredevil, out of The Abbot's dam. This half brother to the world's champion trotting gelding is a splendidly gaited trotter, with a rare turn of speed. Like the brother to Lord Derby, this horse has also been given plenty of time to mature, and if appearances and his way of going count for anything he is almost certain to be heard from favorably the coming season. Geers, who developed The Abbot, says that the champion's half brother has shown enough to convince him that the horse is almost certain to develop into a sensational trotter. The Beau Ideal is a dark chestnut in color and is not unlike his famous half brother in conformation, although The Abbot is a beautiful blood bay in color.

The handsomest horse at Billings park is the mare Edna Cook, 2:12, that Geers is handling for a wealthy easterner. Equine experts have pronounced this mare a perfect picture horse. She was sired by Alcantara, and she took her mark as a three-year-old. She has been used as a road mare in recent years. Geers says that she has been doing extremely well this winter and gives every indication of displaying winning form on the track the coming season.

The fastest pacer in Geers' stable is Shadow Chimes, 2:06¼. This horse, as his name would indicate, is a son of Chimes, one of the most successful sires that ever stood at Village farm. His dam is a daughter of Mambrino King. Shadow Chimes has wintered splendidly. He is certain to reduce his mark during the coming season. Many close observers of the light harness game predict that he is going to prove the pacing sensation of 1902.

Another pacer in this stable that promises to give a creditable account of himself the coming season is Fred S. Wedgewood, 2:08¾. This six-year old son of Fred S. Wilkes, dam by Wedgewood, is one of the most improved looking horses at the track. He has taken on a lot of flesh during the past winter and looks like a horse that ought to step along some when Geers turns him loose to pace for the money.

Next to the Geers-Hamlin collection the most celebrated stable in Memphis is that of C. K. G. Billings, the millionaire Chicago gas magnate and founder of the track. Mr. Billings' horses are in charge of Scott McCoy, a well known trainer and driver. The star of the Billings barn is Little Boy, 2:01½, the champion wagon horse of the world. Little Boy has come out of winter quarters in magnificent shape McCoy is going right along with this horse, as it is Mr. Billings' intention to ship the pick of his string to New York, and every effort will be made to have Little Boy ready for all comers on the New York speedway this spring.

Hontas Crook, 2:07½, the great pacer, never showed better in his life than he does right now. He came out of winter quarters looking finer than silk, and appears like a horse that can pace over the moon. Frazier, 2:07½, another one of Mr. Billings' crack pacers, is stepping along regularly.

George Spears is at Memphis with E. E. Smathers' great stable, headed by Lord Derby, 2:06½. Mr. Smathers bought Lord Derby from Mr. Hamlin

CICERO J. HAMLIN.

last year for a fancy price. According to Mr. Spears, the famous trotter never wintered better. Lord Derby weighs more now than he ever did, and all the smart horsemen at Billings park predict that he is sure to prove one of the sensational trotters of 1902. Mr. Spears also has two grand looking mares in Ida Highwood, 2:12¼, and Alice Parnes, 2:11¼. The famous pacer Sphinx S., 2:08½, is one of the star performers in Spears' stable. This horse never looked better in his life than he does right now. Spears says that he is certain to reduce his mark this year.

Wouldn't Commit Himself.

There is in a town in the north of England a certain preacher of Hibernian antecedents who considers himself to be a speaker of perfect English, but who is generally credited with the possession of as rich a brogue as can be found anywhere in Tipperary.

Some mention was made of his peculiar pronunciation at a church meeting, which greatly angered him. He immediately called upon one of the members and, after complaining of the injustice done him, asked him whether in his opinion a single trace of the brogue was to be observed in his speech.

"Well," his friend answered, "if you wish to deny it I should advise you to do so in writing."—London Answers.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Fertilizers For Alfalfa.

J. E. O., Wilmington, O., writes: "Which is better for seeding down alfalfa in sugar tree land twice in corn, pure ground bone, medium, ammonia 1.95, 26.23 phosphoric acid, or ammonia 1.50, 7.68 available phosphoric acid, 2.74 insoluble and 8.11 potash—200 pounds per acre?"

In a general way one can use to best advantage to start alfalfa a fertilizer rich in phosphoric acid. Yet potash tells on some soils, and on some lime tells, and on all a supply of immediately available nitrogen is a great help. No one can lay down a rule for another man's soil; only I know of one safe practice, and that is to apply liberally stable manure; it never fails on alfalfa.

Two hundred pounds to the acre is far too light an application if the land is really seriously deficient in fertility. When men ask me to prescribe fertilizers for alfalfa, I feel like playing "Beefsteak Mike" on them. Mike keeps hotel and restaurant in the west. He is a genius to cook a steak. No one dreams of asking for any other meat at Mike's. When a stranger happens in, Mike, who is his own cook and waiter, goes over the familiar rigamarole, "Pork chops, lamb chops, roast beef and beefsteak." The stranger hesitates, then orders pork chops. Mike stares at him in dismay for a moment, then disappears and presently sets down in front of him a magnificent steak, done to a turn. "Eat thot!" he commands. "It will be a heap better for ye!" And never thereafter does the traveler fail to order the steak. So with alfalfa and fertilizers; stable manure will be a "heap better for ye." It adds humus as well as fertility, favors bacterial action and makes the land more porous and easier drained of excess water and more retentive of moisture during droughts. Of the mineral fertilizers wood ashes are the best that I have ever tried. Apply liberally. Lime tells on some soils, making the differences between success and failure.—Joseph E. Wing in Breeder's Gazette.

Rich Soil For Potatoes.

The potato is a gross feeder and will respond readily to liberal feeding. Keep the soil full of humus or decaying vegetable matter. Oftentimes a dressing of coarse manure or green crop plowed under or stubble and root system of a previous grass or clover crop may not of itself contain so much plant food, but the mechanical effect upon the soil, the breaking down of rocky and inert elements of nutrition in process of decomposition that have hitherto been locked up in an irresponsive and unsatisfactory soil, is oftentimes the making of a crop of potatoes, and then, while the potato does not want a wet soil, it does need a great deal of moisture during the latter period of growth, and a good supply of humus will give the soil a very much larger capacity for the storage of this moisture.

ALL WRONG

The Mistake is Made By Many East Liverpool Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache.

To be cured you must know the cause.

It is wrong to imagine that relief is cure.

You must cure the kidneys.

An East Liverpool resident tells you how this can be done.

Mr. W. P. Cochran, of Mulberry street, East End, says: "At intervals for 30 years I had serious kidney and bladder trouble. The agony I went through can hardly be described. Many nights I rolled from one side to another trying to find an easy position for my back. I could not move without having sharp twinges of pain, and I was also troubled with urinary difficulty, the secretions being very irregular, and at times very distressing. I ran down so that I could hardly help myself. Doctors treated me. I took a power of stuff and I had given up all hope when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a never failing remedy. THE ENCOURAGING FACTORS

Outweigh the Disturbing Elements In Business, Says Dun's Review. Features of the Week.

New York, May 31.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Ease in the money market, favorable crop prospects and confidence abroad are the encouraging factors which outweigh the disturbing elements of labor conflicts and unseasonable weather for retail trade at many points. Effects of the depressing influences are less keenly felt, because they are believed to be only temporary, and confidence is expressed that with the resumption of work and normal temperature there will be a return to the liberal distribution of merchandise. Despite the short corn crop last year, the large yield of wheat and high prices for both resulted in the greatest value for the two crops ever recorded, and other industries must share the good fortune by increased sales of products. Collections are prompt as a rule, and payments through the principal clearing houses are well maintained. Notwithstanding diminished speculation, there was an increase of 1.2 per cent at New York, compared with last year's exchanges. Returns as to transportation show that losses in grain movement are being more than made up elsewhere, railway earnings thus far reported for May showing a gain of 6.5 per cent over last year, and 19.0 per cent over 1900.

Clothing manufacturers are purchasing woolen goods in moderation only, and larger deliveries by the leading company increases the disposition towards conservatism.

Grain quotations made a decided advance early in the week, which was not easily explained, except on the basis of light supplies in sight. This element was not new, however, receipts having decreased very materially for many weeks in comparison with last year's movement. Subsequently the gain was lost in option trading, although cash corn was firmly held.

Failures for the week numbered 194 in the United States, against 148 last year, and 20 in Canada, against 27 a year ago.

President to Take Two Trips.

Washington, May 31.—About the last of September the president will go to Springfield, Ills., and to Detroit, Mich., stopping en route at some other points not yet determined upon. In the latter part of October he will go as far into the southwest as San Antonio, Texas. He has been strongly urged to go on a bear hunt in Mississippi as the guest of the governor of the state, and it is posible that he may avail of this opportunity to accept the invitation, for he must visit New Orleans, which is nearby, on this trip.

The Boers Will Yet Be Independent

By Dr. HERMAN D. VON BROEKHUIZEN, Formerly Pastor of Oom Paul Kruger's Church at Pretoria

THERE WILL NEVER BE PEACE IN SOUTH AFRICA UNTIL THE BOERS ARE INDEPENDENT. My brothers in arms who are fighting the Englishmen on the veldt today are, to my mind, nearer independence than were George Washington and his brave soldiers the winter they spent at Valley Forge. If the British can spend $1,000,000 a day on the war, we can keep them busy many a day more. When the war broke out, it started 700 miles from Cape Town. Last month our men won five victories within thirty miles of Cape Town. "The rebellion," as England calls it, is growing rapidly in Cape Colony. IT MAY BE A LONG TIME COMING, BUT INDEPENDENCE IS SURE, and if the United States will remain neutral and stop furnishing mules and horses to the British it will come the sooner.

THE DAY IS COMING WHEN THE BRITISH WILL BE GLAD IF THEY ARE PERMITTED TO HAVE A COALING STATION AT CAPE TOWN, TO SAY NOTHING OF BEING MASTERS OF SOUTH AFRICA.

OHIO SOCIALIST PARTY.

Ticket Nominated and 1900 National Platform Ratified.

Columbus, May 31.—The state convention of the Socialist party was held here yesterday with 56 delegates present. L. L. Rodgers, of Dayton, presided and E. L. Plummer, of Bucyrus, was secretary. The platform was a ratification of the declaration of the national convention at Indianapolis in 1900. The following ticket was nominated:

Secretary of State—Max Hayes, of Cleveland.

Judge of Supreme Court—George P. Maxwell of New Lexington.

Dairy and Food Commissioner—George Flummerfelt, of Fremont.

Member State Board of Public Works—William C. Edwards, of Portsmouth.

HER LOST DIARY.

The Plaguy Thing Had All Her Dearest Secrets Recorded Too.

"Diary!" fairly shrieked the pretty young lady, with flashing eyes, as she walked down the avenue with a companion. "Diary! Don't you say diary to me again. What do you know about it, Kate?"

"Nothing, only that you told me that you had commenced keeping a diary, as usual, and I supposed you had dropped it at the end of a month, as usual. I didn't mean to throw you into hysterics."

"Kate, don't you ever breathe a word of it, but I've lost that diary; dropped it somewhere on the street. And the plaguy thing has all my dearest secrets in it. I wrote just what I thought too. It just sends me crazy. There it is in black and white that Lillian looks like a fright, that Hattie is turning green from jealousy, that Charley is just too sweet to live and that Fred hasn't sense enough to talk more than three minutes unless he rehearses in advance."

"Why don't you advertise and offer a reward?"

"Indeed, I won't. I never want to see the thing again. If any one returns it, I shall declare that it's a forgery from beginning to end. I'll never own up the longest day I live."

"What did you say about me, Edith?"

"Oh, I don't just remember, but something nice. You can depend on that, for you're my very dearest friend."

"I can help your memory. You wrote that I was the most inquisitive little minx in the city and that I thought it my special business to look after other people's business. Here's your diary. You left it at our house, and Tommy spelled out your estimate of me before I knew what he was doing. Good afternoon."

Then they looked at each other, both began to cry, fell into each other's arms and in five minutes were criticising a mutual friend.—Kansas City Independent.

Oriental Rugs.

"Oriental rugs," says a New York dealer, "are nearly as standard as gold. When an auctioneer sells you one for $200, you may think you are getting it cheap, but you can get it at about the same price from any reputable dealer. Every rug house has its agents at auctions, who pay mighty close to the market price for the genuine article. When you have had an oriental rug for ten or fifteen years, it is worth more than when you bought it, provided it is in good condition. It is then an antique. When you hear of any one buying secondhand oriental rugs at about one-third or one-quarter of their value, you may safely wager that they have been patched."

Reiny Remonstrance.

At bedtime they wanted to "stay up for mother," but their sister relentlessly put them to bed. Harry maintained a stolid indifference, but Johnny cried lustily.

Their sister listened at the foot of the stairs, hoping they would soon be good.

Right Arm Most Hurt.

Experience indicates that accidents are far more likely to occur to the right arm and leg than to the left. Further evidence of this fact is supplied by the makers of artificial limbs. They dispose of many more appendages to the right side of the body than to the other.

Statistics show that in fifty-four cases out of a hundred the left leg is stronger than the right.

Mr. Gladstone's Catch.

"How many members of this house," asked Mr. Gladstone once in the course of a debate on electoral qualifications, "can divide £1,330 17s. 6d. by £2 13s. 8d.?"

"Six hundred and fifty-eight!" shouted one member.

"The thing cannot be done!" exclaimed another.

A roar of laughter greeted this last remark. But it was true, nevertheless. You cannot multiply or divide money by money. You may repeat a smaller sum of money as many times as it is contained in a larger sum of money, but that is a very different thing. If you repeat 5 shillings as often as there are hairs in a horse's tail, you do not multiply 5 shillings by a horse tail. Perhaps you did not know this before. Never mind; you need not be ashamed of your ignorance, for it was shared, as has been demonstrated, by the entire house of commons (bar one member), including the then chancellor of the exchequer.

The Human Mouth.

It has been discovered that the human mouth is slowly but surely and steadily moving toward the left of the face, which will in time bring it somewhere in the neighborhood of the left ear. All the five great races of man have an uncontrollable tendency to eat only with the teeth which grow from the left jaws. This wears out the left teeth more rapidly than those on the right side of the mouth, and this in turn gives the upper and lower jaws an inclination toward the left.

It is the expressed opinion of many scientists who are foremost in the world's roll of professional honor that in the course of time the mouth from causes above mentioned will have completely changed its position and that it will then be situated rather nearer the left ear than to the nose.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. For Sickly Mothers.

Zoa Phora Brings Instant Relief to the Dreadful Pains and Backaches of Irregularity, Cures Change of Life, Weakness, Nervousness, and All the Diseases Peculiar to Women.

LARGE TRIAL BOTTLE MAILED FREE TO ALL WHO WRITE.

Zoa Phora is the only true tonic for tired, pale, sickly women. It revives them, awakens their nerves, tones up their stomachs, brightens their eyes, and gives to their body the elasticity and buoyancy of youth. If you suffer from female weakness, leucorrhea, suppressed or painful monthly periods, falling or displacements, flooding, ulceration, laceration, weak or lame back, disordered liver or stomach, sick kidneys, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous headache, or highly nervous condition of the body or mind take Zoa Phora and be cured.

Rev. Richard Peagelly, M.D.

Mrs. Emma Dobson, Jerseyville, Ills., says: "I have kept Zoa Phora in my house for twenty-one years, using it at monthly periods and preparatory to confinement. I have often said I had sooner go through childbirth without an attending physician than do without Zoa Phora previous to confinement. I have been the mother of five children. Before the first two came I had not heard of Zoa Phora, and suffered labor with one fifty hours before delivery. The last three births I used Zoa Phora during each pregnancy and was not in labor over four hours for any of them. I have now passed safely and comfortably through the critical time, called change of life. I suffered very little pain, because I used Zoa Phora. It is the best medicine for painful monthly periods I have ever seen, and I have given it to several women, and have never known it to fail."

Mrs. Martin Pitsch, of North Dorr, Mich., says: "I was troubled with female weakness, but I took Zoa Phora and I have not felt so well before in five years. I took Zoa Phora last fall just before my baby was born and it was the means of making confinement very easy for me. I continued taking it after baby came and it quickly restored me to health again."

Get a dollar bottle of Zoa Phora at the nearest drug store, or the Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., will send it to you, prepaid, on receipt of price.

I could not move without having sharp twinges of pain, and I was also troubled with urinary difficulty, the secretions being very irregular, and at times very distressing. I ran down so that I could hardly help myself. Doctors treated me. I took a power of stuff and I had given up all hope when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a never failing remedy. Collections are prompt as a rule, and payments through the principal clearing houses are well maintained. Notwithstanding diminished speculation, there was an increase of 1.2 per cent at New York, compared with last year's exchanges. Returns as to transportation show that losses in grain movement are being more than made up elsewhere, railway earnings thus far reported for May showing a gain of 6.5 per cent over last year, and 19.0 per cent over 1900.

Clothing manufacturers are purchasing woolen goods in moderation only, and larger deliveries by the leading company increases the disposition towards conservatism.

Grain quotations made a decided advance early in the week, which was not easily explained, except on the basis of light supplies in sight. This element was not new, however, receipts having decreased very materially for many weeks in comparison with last year's movement. Subsequently the gain was lost in option trading, although cash corn was firmly held.

Failures for the week numbered 194 in the United States, against 148 last year, and 20 in Canada, against 27 a year ago.

President to Take Two Trips.

Washington, May 31.—About the last of September the president will go to Springfield, Ills., and to Detroit, Mich., stopping en route at some other points not yet determined upon. In the latter part of October he will go as far into the southwest as San Antonio, Texas. He has been strongly urged to go on a bear hunt in Mississippi as the guest of the governor of the state, and it is posible that he may avail of this opportunity to accept the invitation, for he must visit New Orleans, which is nearby, on this trip.

Pennsylvania Crew Won.

The Boers Will Yet Be Independent

By Dr. HERMAN D. VON BROEKHUIZEN, Formerly Pastor of Oom Paul Kruger's Church at Pretoria

THERE WILL NEVER BE PEACE IN SOUTH AFRICA UNTIL THE BOERS ARE INDEPENDENT. My brothers in arms who are fighting the Englishmen on the veldt today are, to my mind, nearer independence than were George Washington and his brave soldiers the winter they spent at Valley Forge. If the British can spend $1,000,000 a day on the war, we can keep them busy many a day more. When the war broke out, it started 700 miles from Cape Town. Last month our men won five victories within thirty miles of Cape Town. "The rebellion," as England calls it, is growing rapidly in Cape Colony. IT MAY BE A LONG TIME COMING, BUT INDEPENDENCE IS SURE, and if the United States will remain neutral and stop furnishing mules and horses to the British it will come the sooner.

THE DAY IS COMING WHEN THE BRITISH WILL BE GLAD IF THEY ARE PERMITTED TO HAVE A COALING STATION AT CAPE TOWN, TO SAY NOTHING OF BEING MASTERS OF SOUTH AFRICA.

OHIO SOCIALIST PARTY.

Ticket Nominated and 1900 National Platform Ratified.

Columbus, May 31.—The state convention of the Socialist party was held here yesterday with 56 delegates present. L. L. Rodgers, of Dayton, presided and E. L. Plummer, of Bucyrus, was secretary. The platform was a ratification of the declaration of the national convention at Indianapolis in 1900. The following ticket was nominated:

Secretary of State—Max Hayes, of Cleveland.

Judge of Supreme Court—George P. Maxwell of New Lexington.

Dairy and Food Commissioner—George Flummerfelt, of Fremont.

Member State Board of Public Works—William C. Edwards, of Portsmouth.

HER LOST DIARY.

The Plaguy Thing Had All Her Dearest Secrets Recorded Too.

"Diary!" fairly shrieked the pretty young lady, with flashing eyes, as she walked down the avenue with a companion. "Diary! Don't you say diary to me again. What do you know about it, Kate?"

"Nothing, only that you told me that you had commenced keeping a diary, as usual, and I supposed you had dropped it at the end of a month, as usual. I didn't mean to throw you into hysterics."

"Kate, don't you ever breathe a word of it, but I've lost that diary; dropped it somewhere on the street. And the plaguy thing has all my dearest secrets in it. I wrote just what I thought too. It just sends me crazy. There it is in black and white that Lillian looks like a fright, that Hattie is turning green from jealousy, that Charley is just too sweet to live and that Fred hasn't sense enough to talk more than three minutes unless he rehearses in advance."

"Why don't you advertise and offer a reward?"

"Indeed, I won't. I never want to see the thing again. If any one returns it, I shall declare that it's a forgery from beginning to end. I'll never own up the longest day I live."

"What did you say about me, Edith?"

"Oh, I don't just remember, but something nice. You can depend on that, for you're my very dearest friend."

"I can help your memory. You wrote that I was the most inquisitive little minx in the city and that I thought it my special business to look after other people's business. Here's your diary. You left it at our house, and Tommy spelled out your estimate of me before I knew what he was doing. Good afternoon."

Then they looked at each other, both began to cry, fell into each other's arms and in five minutes were criticising a mutual friend.—Kansas City Independent.

Oriental Rugs.

"Oriental rugs," says a New York dealer, "are nearly as standard as gold. When an auctioneer sells you one for $200, you may think you are getting it cheap, but you can get it at about the same price from any reputable dealer. Every rug house has its agents at auctions, who pay mighty close to the market price for the genuine article. When you have had an oriental rug for ten or fifteen years, it is worth more than when you bought it, provided it is in good condition. It is then an antique. When you hear of any one buying secondhand oriental rugs at about one-third or one-quarter of their value, you may safely wager that they have been patched."

Relay Remonstrance.

At bedtime they wanted to "stay up for mother," but their sister relentlessly put them to bed. Harry maintained a stolid indifference, but Johnny cried justily.

Their sister listened at the foot of the stairs, hoping they would soon be good.

Right Arm Most Hurt.

Experience indicates that accidents are far more likely to occur to the right arm and leg than to the left. Further evidence of this fact is supplied by the makers of artificial limbs. They dispose of many more appendages to the right side of the body than to the other.

Statistics show that in fifty-four cases out of a hundred the left leg is stronger than the right.

Mr. Gladstone's Catch.

"How many members of this house," asked Mr. Gladstone once in the course of a debate on electoral qualifications, "can divide £1,330 17s. 6d. by £2 13s. 8d.?"

"Six hundred and fifty-eight!" shouted one member.

"The thing cannot be done!" exclaimed another.

A roar of laughter greeted this last remark. But it was true, nevertheless. You cannot multiply or divide money by money. You may repeat a smaller sum of money as many times as it is contained in a larger sum of money, but that is a very different thing. If you repeat 5 shillings as often as there are hairs in a horse's tail, you do not multiply 5 shillings by a horse tail. Perhaps you did not know this before. Never mind; you need not be ashamed of your ignorance, for it was shared, as has been demonstrated, by the entire house of commons (bar one member), including the then chancellor of the exchequer.

The Human Mouth.

It has been discovered that the human mouth is slowly but surely and steadily moving toward the left of the face, which will in time bring it somewhere in the neighborhood of the left ear. All the five great races of man have an uncontrollable tendency to eat only with the teeth which grow from the left jaws. This wears out the left teeth more rapidly than those on the right side of the mouth, and this in turn gives the upper and lower jaws an inclination toward the left.

It is the expressed opinion of many scientists who are foremost in the world's roll of professional honor that in the course of time the mouth from causes above mentioned will have completely changed its position and that it will then be situated rather nearer the left ear than to the nose.

Library Improvement.

Castleton—I have been making some big improvements in my library.

Clubberly—What have you been doing?

Castleton—Oh, giving away a lot of books.—Detroit Free Press.

Mount Rewenzori, in equatorial Africa, is about 20,000 feet high, has twenty miles of glaciers and is nearly always cloud covered.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. For Sickly Mothers.

Zoa Phora Brings Instant Relief to the Dreadful Pains and Backaches of Irregularity, Cures Change of Life, Weakness, Nervousness, and All the Diseases Peculiar to Women.

LARGE TRIAL BOTTLE MAILED FREE TO ALL WHO WRITE.

Zoa Phora is the only true tonic for tired, pale, sickly women. It revives them, awakens their nerves, tones up their stomachs, brightens their eyes, and gives to their body the elasticity and buoyancy of youth. If you suffer from female weakness, leucorrhea, suppressed or painful monthly periods, falling or displacements, flooding, ulceration, laceration, weak or lame back, disordered liver or stomach, sick kidneys, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous headache, or highly nervous condition of the body or mind take Zoa Phora and be cured.

Rev. Richard Pengelly, M.D.

Mrs. Emma Dobson, Jerseyville, Ills., says: "I have kept Zoa Phora in my house for twenty-one years, using it at monthly periods and preparatory to confinement. I have often said I had sooner go through childbirth without an attending physician than do without Zoa Phora previous to confinement. I have been the mother of five children. Before the first two came I had not heard of Zoa Phora, and suffered labor with one fifty hours before delivery. The last three births I used Zoa Phora during each pregnancy and was not in labor over four hours for any of them. I have now passed safely and comfortably through the critical time, called change of life. I suffered very little pain, because I used Zoa Phora. It is the best medicine for painful monthly periods I have ever seen, and I have given it to several women, and have never known it to fail."

Mrs. Martin Pitsch, of North Dorr, Mich., says: "I was troubled with female weakness, but I took Zoa Phora and I have not felt so well before in five years. I took Zoa Phora last fall just before my baby was born and it was the means of making confinement very easy for me. I continued taking it after baby came and it quickly restored me to health again."

Get a dollar bottle of Zoa Phora at the nearest drug store, or the Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., will send it to you, prepaid, on receipt of price.

POTTS MEETS THE KAISER.

German Emperor and American Officer Conversed.

Berlin, May 31.—Lieutenant Commander Templin M. Potts, United States navy, who is to succeed Commander William H. Reebier as naval attache of the United States here, Oct. 1 next, was presented to Emperor William at noon yesterday in the court yard of the castle. Lieutenant Commander Potts, who was in uniform, was directed to wait until his majesty returned from the spring parade of the Berlin and Potsdam garrisons, on the Tempelhof field, and then, after the ceremony of "trooping the colors," Captain Von Grumme presented the lieutenant commander to the emperor, who was on horseback.

With the lieutenant commander standing by the side of his horse, Emperor William and the naval officer conversed for about 10 minutes, his majesty questioning the future naval attache, with great rapidity, as to where he was born, had he ever been in Germany before, where he had served, etc., eliciting almost a complete autobiography of the naval officer. The emperor finally said he was glad Lieutenant Commander Potts had come to Berlin, and thus closed an informal audience.

WHEN NATIVES LEARN

To Govern Themselves, Then We Can Decide Future of Philippines.

THE PRESIDENT SO DECLARED.

Soldiers Guilty of Cruelties to Be Punished, but Let Not Those Living In Ease at Home Rail Too Strongly Against Them.

Washington, May 31.—Decoration day was observed here yesterday perhaps more generally than ever before. President Roosevelt spoke at Arlington cemetery.

Speaking of the reported cruelties in the Philippines, he said in part:

"The guilty are to be punished; but in punishing them, let those who sit at ease at home, who walk delicately and live in the soft places of the earth, remember also to do them common justice.

"Peace and freedom—are there two better objects for which a soldier can fight? Well, these are precisely the objects for which our soldiers are fighting in the Philippines. When there is talk of the cruelties committed in the Philippines, remember always that by far the greater proportion of these cruelties have been committed by the insurgents against their own people—as well as against our soldiers—and that not only the surest but the only effectual way of stopping them is by the progress of the American arms.

Conquer to Promote Civil Rule.

"Our soldiers conquer, and what is the object for which they conquer? To establish a military government? No. The laws we eare now endeavoring to enact for the government of the Philippines are to increase the power and domain of the civil at the expense of the military authorities, and to render even more difficult than in the past the chance of oppression.

"We believe that we can rapidly teach the people of the Philippine islands not only how to enjoy, but how to make good use of their freedom; and with their growing knowledge the growth in self-government shall keep steady pace. When they have thus shown their capacity for real freedom by their power of self-government then, and not till then, will it be possible to decide whether they are to exist independently of us or be knit to us by ties of common friendship and interest. When that day will come it is not in human wisdow now to foretell."

FINE STATUE TO M'KINLEY.

Unveiled With Notable Ceremonies at Muskegon, Mich.—Gift of Millionaire.

Muskegon, Mich., May 31.—One of the grandest and most impressive memorial services ever carried out in this city was the one leading up to and including the unveiling of the heroic bronze statue of the late President McKinley yesterday. The massive granite monument, together with the large bronze figure of the martyred president, is a gift to the public schools of Muskegon by Charles H. Hackley, a millionaire lumberman of this city, and it was erected at a cost of $30,000.

The day was flawless so far as weather was concerned. The hot rays of the sun were tempered by a mild southwest wind, making the day most pleasant. The forenoon exercises consisted of the simple decorating of the graves of the soldiers of the two wars by the surviving members of the G. A. R.

Among the organizations in the parade, which preceded the unveiling, were seven companies of the Michigan national guard, two companies of United States infantry, under the command of Major Wood, from Fort Sheridan, Ills., and details of sailors from the United States revenue cutters Morrill and Fessenden.

On the reviewing stand facing the monument were Governor Bliss and staff, Mr. Hackley and Chas. N. Neihaus, the sculptor. The program consisted of a prayer by Rev. Charles Hadden, an oration by Clarence W. Sisson and patriotic music.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS.

J. R. Sickles, ladies and gents' tailor, Tiffin, Ohio, writes: "I have been a sufferer from general debility, liver and kidney complaint, chills and fever, headache and lameness of the joints, cold hands and feet. I was a physical wreck; had been treated by some of as good doctors as could be found, and taken nearly all kinds of patent medicines, but it all availed nothing. I have spent hundreds of dollars trying to find a cure. This is a case of twenty years' standing. I got so far gone that I could not work more than six or eight hours per day, and would become perfectly exhausted. I was recommended by Messrs Clyne & Larey to try your remedy, BLOOD WINE, which I am glad to state has proved very satisfactory. I have gained strength, health, vigor, and am able to carry on my daily labor with the greatest ease. I would say that if this should reach the eyes of any sufferers from such complaints they should try BLOOD WINE, which is a safe and a sure cure, full of toning value, without danger of disturbing the action of the heart or stomach. I thank you, gentlemen, for the restorative power contained in BLOOD WINE."

MENSTRUAL irregularities are generally the beginning of a woman's troubles. With the vitality at a low ebb, the blood weakened, the digestion disordered, she goes about pale-faced, hollow-eyed and haggard, a piteous contrast to the blooming health of her former self. But over 1,000,000 women have found health again by taking Wine of Cardui. As a regulator of the menstrual periods Wine of Cardui has never been known to fail. It has seldom failed to restore perfect health, even in the most persistent and aggravated case of weakness.

Miss Ida M. Snyder, of No. 535 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., has used Wine of Cardui and she says it helped her into a new life. Health to Miss Snyder is worth a great deal. She is an attractive young woman with intellectual attainments and she occupies the position of Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club. This position marks her as a person of intellect, culture and refinement and it speaks highly of the respect and trust her fellow women have in her. She writes:

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would use more intelligence in the matter of medicines, observing results, they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

You may secure the same relief as Miss Snyder, if you take Wine of Cardui as she took it. Thedford's Black-Draught is the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui and it is a liver and bowel regulator which assists greatly in effecting a cure. If you take these medicines according to directions, the relief and cure is simple. Some cases are cured quickly and others take longer because the disease has run longer. Remember how Miss Snyder took Wine of Cardui and has health. The same medicines are offered you to-day.

POTTS MEETS THE KAISER.

German Emperor and American Officer Conversed.

Berlin, May 31.—Lieutenant Commander Templin M. Potts, United States navy, who is to succeed Commander William H. Reebier as naval attache of the United States here, Oct. 1 next, was presented to Emperor William at noon yesterday in the court yard of the castle. Lieutenant Commander Potts, who was in uniform, was directed to wait until his majesty returned from the spring parade of the Berlin and Potsdam garrisons, on the Tempelhof field, and then, after the ceremony of "trooping the colors," Captain Von Grumme presented the lieutenant commander to the emperor, who was on horseback.

With the lieutenant commander standing by the side of his horse, Emperor William and the naval officer conversed for about 10 minutes, his majesty questioning the future naval attache, with great rapidity, as to where he was born, had he ever been in Germany before, where he had served, etc., eliciting almost a complete autobiography of the naval officer. The emperor finally said he was glad Lieutenant Commander Potts had come to Berlin, and thus closed an informal audience.

WHEN NATIVES LEARN

To Govern Themselves, Then We Can Decide Future of Philippines.

THE PRESIDENT SO DECLARED.

Soldiers Guilty of Cruelties to Be Punished, but Let Not Those Living In Ease at Home Rail Too Strongly Against Them.

Washington, May 31.—Decoration day was observed here yesterday perhaps more generally than ever before. President Roosevelt spoke at Arlington cemetery.

Speaking of the reported cruelties in the Philippines, he said in part:

"The guilty are to be punished; but in punishing them, let those who sit at ease at home, who walk delicately and live in the soft places of the earth, remember also to do them common justice.

"Peace and freedom—are there two better objects for which a soldier can fight? Well, these are precisely the objects for which our soldiers are fighting in the Philippines. When there is talk of the cruelties committed in the Philippines, remember always that by far the greater proportion of these cruelties have been committed by the insurgents against their own people—as well as against our soldiers—and that not only the surest but the only effectual way of stopping them is by the progress of the American arms.

Conquer to Promote Civil Rule.

"Our soldiers conquer, and what is the object for which they conquer? To establish a military government? No. The laws w eare now endeavoring to enact for the government of the Philippines are to increase the power and domain of the civil at the expense of the military authorities, and to render even more difficult than in the past the chance of oppression.

"We believe that we can rapidly teach the people of the Philippine islands not only how to enjoy, but ho wto make good use of their freedom; and with their growing knowledge the growth in self-government shall keep steady pace. When they have thus shown their capacity for real freedom by their power of self-government then, and not till then, will it be possible to decide whether they are to exist independently of us or be knit to us by ties of common friendship and interest. When that day will come it is not in human wisdow now to foretell."

FINE STATUE TO M'KINLEY.

Unveiled With Notable Ceremonies at Muskegon, Mich.—Gift of Millionaire.

Muskegon, Mich., May 31.—One of the grandest and most impressive memorial services ever carried out in this city was the one leading up to and including the unveiling of the heroic bronze statue of the late President McKinley yesterday. The massive granite monument, together with the large bronze figure of the martyred president, is a gift to the public schools of Muskegon by Charles H. Hackley, a millionaire lumberman of this city, and it was erected at a cost of $30,000.

The day was flawless so far as weather was concerned. The hot rays of the sun were tempered by a mild southwest wind, making the day most pleasant. The forenoon exercises consisted of the simple decorating of the graves of the soldiers of the two wars by the surviving members of the G. A. R.

Among the organizations in the parade, which preceded the unveiling, were seven companies of the Michigan national guard, two companies of United States infantry, under the command of Major Wood, from Fort Sheridan, Ills., and details of sailors from the United States revenue cutters Morrill and Fessenden.

On the reviewing stand facing the monument were Governor Bliss and staff, Mr. Hackley and Chas. N. Neihaus, the sculptor. The program consisted of a prayer by Rev. Charles Hadden, an oration by Clarence W. Sisson and patriotic music.

SUPERB PROGRAM GIVEN TO A CROWDED HOUSE

The Youthful Graduates Acquitted Themselves Finely at Every Stage. A synopsis of the Able and Interesting Orations Delivered.

THE GRADUATES.

Classical course—Abner A. Nice, Otis A. Swan, J. Harry Birkett, Ida B. Watson, Mary Rubiena Ikirt

English course—Emma R. Bloor, Blanche Carey, Edna Donovan, Florence C. Harris, Rest Humrickhouse, Hattie Orin, Hattie A. Poe, Mayme Ranlall, Pearl Shrader, Edna Z. Smith, William G. Dorff

In bidding farewell to their school days and matriculating in the school of life the class of 1902 presented at the opera house last evening one of the most interesting programs ever given by a graduating class in this city.

Comprising as it does 16 members, the class showed to great advantage that both literary and musical acccomplishments were not lacking.

Quite a pretty innovation in the program was the appearance of two tiny spirtes, Geraldine Ikirt and Louise Betts, selected from the prrimary grade.

The stage was beautifully decorated. In the center and well toward the back a large arch resting upon pillars had been placed. This was covered with hundreds of little flags. Just behind the curtain at the front of the stage an immense flag, made of red, white and blue crepe paper was hung, and from this other stands of the paper in the national colors were carried to the rear of the stage to meet the arch in which curtains of the paper were caught back in artistic fashion. The canopied effect of the three colors was most pleasing.

BEAUTIFUL EFFECT WAS PRESENTED

As the orchestra played a popular march, the class, led by the two tiny maids, passed beneath the arch to the front of the stage. The effect was most beautiful, with the snowy white dresses of the girl graduates and the conventional black of the boys, the costumes of the youthful maids lent the only touch of color. Little Miss Betts was gowned in green lawn over silk of the same eshade, while Geraldine Ikirt wore a dress of pink point d' esprit over pink silk. Both little dresses were made in French style and were complete from the large bows on the crowns of their heads to the new pink and green slippers. Thus was shown the class colors. Bearing over their shoulders, as did each of the graduates, a long chain made of pink ribbon and carnations and sprays of asparagus, the little maids advanced to the front of the stage and as they parted, leading each line in an opposite direction, the true beauty of the march was seen.

Standing in a semi-circle, an opening was made, and Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart, accompanied by Supt. R. E. Rayman, entered, the former making an earnest appeal to God for His protection of the clas in the years to come in their various walks of life.

To the tunes of a march the class now passed to the sides of the stage, where each member left his part of the floral strand in the arms of the two little girls. These, in turn, when they had fastened the strands in an artistic manner at the ends of the stage, met in the center and passed out.

A SUPERB PROGRAM OF MUSIC AND ORATORY

Now began the regular program, interspersed throughout with musical selections. These were all unusually fine. The first selection, "Distant Chimes," was rendered in a pleasing manner by a selected chorus. "I Want to Be a Military Man," sung by about 25 high school boys and accompanied by Miss Shrader upon the piano, was especially good and won from the audience prolonged applause. "The American Girl," the words of which were written by Miss Rubiena Ikirt, was sung by a girls' chorus, and it in turn received vociferous applause.

The American Girl.

Of the American girl we will now sing.
We need but to say she is up to date in everything;
Few are the tasks which she cannot surmount with her tact and skill.
This is why she stands in preeminence still.

Chorus:

The American girl with her frolic and fun you will see everywhere you go;
Not only at home is she cherished and loved but by other nations also;
Many laurels will she win in the coming years.
So let the maidens of other climes
Hail the American girl!

In song and story she is ever apt with her pretty verse;
Yet not in her knowledge of book and lore is she less terse;
But in the world of fine arts where is her peer?
Or in the field of sports what need she fear?

Chorus.

A musicale, classical and popular, was given by Misses Shrader and Bloor, and in this both young ladies won for themselves not a little favorable comment.

WORK OF MUSICIANS OF GREAT RENOWN

Miss Shrader spoke of the work of such musicians as Mendelssohn, Chaminade and Chopin, and played beautifully upon the piano a selection from each. They were the "Spring Song," "The Flatterer" and "Valse." Miss Shrader plays beautifully and won for herself new laurels. Miss Bloor then sang in her inimitable manner a number of popular songs, with Miss Shrader as accompanist. Among the selections rendered were Ethelbert Nevin's "Rosary"; Reginald DeKoven's "O Promise Me" and Alfred Solman's "Lenore, My Own Lenore." "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was then sung by Mr. Blaine Cochran, accompanied by Miss Shrader upon the piand and twenty boys who sang the chorus. This was excellently rendered and was followed by "Marching Through Georgia" by the orchestra. "Nearer, My God, to Thee," with variation was played in a faultless manner by Miss Shrader, who again won rounds of applause.

Previous to the presentation of diplomas Supt. Rayman spoke upon the advance of education in our city. He also announced that Miss Ida Watson had carried first honors during the four years' course and was therefore entitled to a four years' scholarship in Delaware college. Mr. Rayman then handed the diplomas to the two little girls who taking them in their arms distributed the much coveted documents among the class. The high school then sang the "Star Spangled Banner," and the benediction being pronounced by Dr. Taggart, the curtain fell upon the high school life of the class of 1902.

The opera house was crowded to its full capacity.

A synopsis of the orations, in the order they were delivered, follows. The exercises were interspersed with suitable selections played by Nowling's orchestra.

HIGH PLACES ARE WON BY MEN OF LOFTY AIMS

"Corners," the subject discussed by J. Harry Birkett, presented an excellent opportunity for original ideas, and the speaker took advantage of this, portraying, in a logical and plain line of thought and argument, why the people of our great country should launch out from the small corners in which they are set and by industry, ambition and zeal rise not only to the highest positions afforded in the universe; but broaden and branch out from the smaller corners until they have attained the larger ones and thereby make the utmost of their advantages.

We are confronted at all times by men that are continuously trying to advance through influence and integrity, and were we to stop and let them go on without making a strenuous effort ourselves we would remain in the

CITY TAX LEVY FOR 1903 FIXED

The Rate Will Be 9 1-2 Mills, or 2.3 Less Than the Legal Maximum.

HOW IT IS APPORTIONED

The New Rate as Fixed by Council Will Raise for the City a Total of $54,011.39 on a Valuation of $5,685,410.

Only five members were present at the called meeting of council held Thursday evening for the purpose of fixing the tax levy required to meet the city's obligations. After well considering the question and figuring the proportion the clerk was instructed to certify the levy as follows to the county auditor:

General fund, 1.065; street, 1.15; fire, 1.9; police, .2; light, 1.4; interest, 2.; sanitary, .5; library, .5; park, .2.

The levy totaled amounts to 9.5, which is 2.3 less than is lawfully allowed. Many citizens and a few of the councilmen were under the impression that a levy exceeding 9 would be not in conformity with the law, but the solicitor, after investigating, found that it would be perfectly legal to levy 11.8 . One mill is equal to $5,685.41, and therefore the 9.5 equals $54,011.39. The total valuation of the city's property is $5,685,410.

He seems to be made wholly incorrigible. An effort will be made to send tim to the reform school.

A GRAND RALLY OF THE K. OF C.

Five Hundred Visitors Came to East Liverpool to Witness the Exercises.

VERY IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Followed By an Enjoyable Banquet at Which Were Made Eloquent Speeches Dealing With the Order's Aims And Objects—Degree Work.

No less than 500 members of the Knights of Columbus and their friends made East Liverpool their residence for a day, yesterday, and it will be an event that will long live in the memories to those who made the trip. On the early morning trains members of this order and their friends began to arrive in the city, and about 10 o'clock a special train bearing members of the order from Dennison and Steubenville came in.

The Youngstown delegates and their friends, accompanied by a few knights from Beaver Falls and other towns in western Pennsylvania, arrived on the train due at 10:06. All met at the Knights of Columbus hall in the Stevenson building, Fifth and Market streets, where a brief social session was held. The visiting knights did not long remain here, however, as the day was to be filled with business, and the ranks once formed the mebers attenled a high mass service at St. Aloysius church, at which Rev. Father Thomas J. Mahan officiated. At 10:30 o'clock, following this service, which is one of the most impressive of all Catholic services, members of the order assembled at Brotherhood hall, where a class of between 40 and 50 men had conferred upon them the first degree of the order. This work was in charge of the Youngstown council, and continued from 12 o'clock until after 1 p. m.

This was followed by a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, which was in charge of the members of the Ladies' Catholic Mutual Benefit association. Covers were laid for 300, but not all of this number attended the banquet. Some of the visitors took advantage of the intermission to make a visit to Rock Springs park.

The banquet, which commenced at 2 o'clock, was a success in every particular, and due credit should be given the ladies for making it such. The hall was tastefully decorated with the national colors, which were intermingeld with the emblems of the order and its colors, purple and white.

During the banquet the following musical program was rendered in an excellent manner by McGraw's orchestra:

Institute march, Seitz; selection, "Il Puritana," Bellini; morceau, "Sparkling Eyes," Puerner; march, "New England Finest," Clarke; Tipperary march, Fulton; overture, "Olive Branch," Schlepegrall; intermezzo, "Cupid's Garden," Eugene; "A Pickaninny Christening," Wiley.

The menu was servel in the following order:

Sherbet.
Olives, Radishes, Pickles,
Sliced tomatoes, Sliced cucumbers
Baked Fish, Parsley Sauce
Cold Slaw, New Potatoes,
Pears, Punch a la K. of C.
Lobster Salad, Mayonaise Dressing.
Potato Salad, Cheese Sticks,
Assorted Cakes.
Strawberries, Brick Ice Cream,
Assorted Fruits, Bon Bons,
Coffee, Cigars.

During the early part of the banquet Toast Master James H. Grafton announced that a few of the visitors desired to talk, and this was the sentence that brought unusual quiet to the hall. Telling of the arrangement of the day and the amount of work yet to be done, the speaker introduced Rev. Father T. J. Mahan, of this city. His subject was "Our Church," and his speech was very brief. His remarks were confined to the work of the Catholic church, and of the lives of the members of the church.

This address was followed by Attorney P. A. Gavin, of Toronto, who had for his subject "Our Country." The address was one of the best heard during the afternoon. In part the speaker said:

"It is fitting on this occasion, when a mourning but grateful people are stwewing beautiful flowers over the silent resting places of the nation's dead—over the graves of those patriotic hearts which beat time to the

A DAY OF JOY

FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN OF THE CITY.

The Little Ones Have Complete Possession of Rock Springs Park Today.

The annual outing to the scholars of the East Liverpoool public schools was held today at Rock Springs, and to say that the little folks enjoyed themselves is to express the matter but mildly. Early this morning the children began to assemble at the various schools, and at 9:30 o'clock those children attending the Central school marched to Union and Third street, where ample transportation was provided free by the Rock Springs street railway to the park.

Each scholar had a free transportation permit, but many children attending the outing were taken there by their parents. Quite a large crowd of parents visited the park this afternoon and baskets containing enough food were taken to provide for several meals. All the cars were well filled with park visitors this afternoon and an immense crowd is expected to visit the park this evening.

The children were in charge of the teachers of the rooms they have been attending during the past term, and all were looked after by Supt. R. E. Rayman.

THROWN FROM A BUGGY

William Simpson and Family of East Liverpool, Have an Accident at Lisbon.

Lisbon, May 31. — (Special) — As William Simpson, of East Liverpool, with his wife and two little girls were driving on Washington street here yesterday morning, his horse became frightened at a locomotive and ran away. They ran against a tree and threw the family out. One little girl had her front teeth knocked out, but none of the rest were seriously hurt.

The horses were considerably scratched, one having a shoulder sprained and a knee cap broken. The buggy was badly smashed. The horses were owned by W. H. Kountz, of East Liverpool.

PURSUED BY A CROWD

Harry Moson, Colored, Narrowly Escaped Rough Treatment.

Harry Mason, a well known negro, was badly frightened last evening. He was doing something he should not have done, and a crowd on Second street chased him to beat him. Bricks and stones were thrown by the crowd at Mason, but did not hit him. He ran into the Hotel Lakel, and there was soon lost to the angry crowd following him. After waiting for him to come from his hiding place for an hour the crowd dispersed.

A SERIOUS FIRE

Which Caused Complete Loss of a Sebring Merchant's Stock.

Sebring, O., May 31.—(Special)—A fire occurred here Thursday night about midnight which caused a damage of not less than $1,500. The fire started in the shoe store of Samuel Kulse, caused by the bursting of an electric light globe which set fire to a can of gasoline near the light. The stock of the store is a complete loss.

Other property adjacent was damaged.

Memorial Day at Lisbon.

Lisbon, May 31. — (Special) — The Memorial day exercises here were unusually well attended and impressive. Hon James A. Martin delivered a fine address.

GRANDLY IMPRESSIVE WERE THE EXERCISES OF MEMORIAL DAY

Due Honor Paid to the Dead Heroes of This City by Surviving Comrades.

THE DAY AN IDEAL ONE AND EXERCISES GRAND

Solemn Services at the Cemetery In Which Oratory Was a Feature.

ELOQUENT AND NOBLE WERE THE SENTIMENTS

In the Tributes Uttered to the Memory of Those Who Died For Freedom and Their Country—Memorial Oration by L. T. Farr.

Memorial day was observed in a most fitting manner yesterday under the direction of General Lyon post No. 44, of this city, assisted by the Ladies' Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans and Veterans of the Spanish-American war. The day was all that one could desire, and the program as published in this paper Thursday was closely followed.

Over a month ago members of the local post commenced to arrange for this day, and well their work was done. Shortly after noon yesterday those who proposed to take part in the parade assembled on Fifth street, near Washington, where the parade formed, the right resting on Washington street. It was about 1:30 o'clock when Chief Marshal Daniel McLane shouted "Forward March," and to the tune played by Howard's drum corps, the parade covered the following route: From Washington to Broadway, to Fourth, to Market, to Diamond, where transportation was provided to the cemetery.

The formation of the parade was as follows:

Members of City Police Force.
Howard's Drum Corps.
Chief Marshal McLane And Staff.
Grand Army and ex-Soldiers of the Civil War.
S. O. V. Drum Corps.
Sons of Veterans.
Spanish War Veterans.

Along the route of parade the streets were well filled with people, and on more than one occasion a tear drop was seen in the eye of an elderly person, who was thinking probably of the days when these noble sons fought for a cause that was most righteous. Owing to the age of the veterans, the parade did not march to the cemetery, as has been the custom in past years, but the participants were transferred to Riverview cemetery by street cars and other conveyances.

A more beautiful sight never met the eye than was that presented by nature at Riverview cemetery. Beautiful flowers, green trees and bending shrubbery lent additional beauty to the scene. Quite near the Memorial chapel, which was dedicated only a few years ago by the Grand Army, and upon which occasion Congressman R. W. Tayler delivered the dedicatory address, was erected a small mound by Sexton Whitaker, of Riverview cemetery. This commemorated the many soldier graves throughout the beautiful resting place, and about which the Grand Army of this city and the several auxiliaries assembled upon entering the cemetery.

Here the solemn ritual of the dead was read by Commander McLane, of General Lyon post. This was responded to by the several officers of the post, and was followed by the firing of three salutes over the mound by the firing squad of Garfield camp, Sons of Veterans. In a distant part of the cemetery a salute of 13 guns was given by the gun squad of the camp. During this intermission the parade was again formed, and the march to the speakers' stand was rather slow, in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion. This stand was decorated with the national colors, and all the seats were occupied by members of the Grand Army, visitors, speakers and ladies. The exercises of the day were opened by Commander-in-Chief Daniel McLane, of Post 44, who said:

"Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, Ladies of the Woman's

Without telling all of her friends of her future intentions, Miss Emma Fowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fowler, of the East End, who has been principal of the East End school for several years, left Thursday evening for Steubenville, in company with Miss Lou Hanley, of Pennsylvania avenue, where she was married to H. CHICKEN FIGHTS

AND OTHER FORMS OF DECORATION DAY DESECRATION.

Great Cocking Main at Mill Creek. East Liverpool and Other Sports Promoters.

Over 100 chickens fought in the vicinity of Mill Creek yesterday, and no less than 200 sports from Pittsburg, Beaver Falls, Rochester, Steubenville and Toronto witnessed the fights which were fast and furious. Of the fights in which East Liverpool birds took part, six were won by the local sports, while four were lost. The honors in the other fights were about evenly divided, and no less than $1,000 changed hands during the day.

Intermingled with the chicken fights were several fist fights between some of the visitors. However, no East Liverpool people were mixed in these affairs, and as soon as the fights in which the local sports were interested were over they left for their homes. The crowd commenced to arrive on the early morning trains, getting off at the East End, and walking up the track to a ferry that had been provided for the occasion, whence they were taken to the battle grounds. Some of the visitors returned on the later trains last evening, while others did not return until the 5 o'clock train this morning.

FLAGS AND CROWDS

WERE CONSPICUOUS IN THE CITY YESTERDAY.

Excursions Brought Numerous Visitors—An Ideal Day, Full of Enjoyment.

East Liverpool was filled with visitors yesterday, and if the small boy had been permittel to explode some fire works, one would have thought the Fourth of July was at hand. All the stores were closed, and while a few departments in several of the potteries were working, the majority of the plants closed down for the day. As to the weather, nature was at its best. Scattered about the city on the several larger buildings was displayed the American flag, and as there was a slight breeze all day, the sight was most pleasing.

The large flag was floating from the huge staff in the Diamond, and also from the large pole in front of the office of Charles A. Smith. It will be remembered that the flag was raised just four years ago yesterday, during the time of the Spanish-American war. While the flag was being raised, lined on both siles of Washington street members of the Grand Army were assembled, and when the beautiful emblem of liberty had been pulled to the top of the pole, the old veterans gave three hearty cheers. Not so yesterlay. There was no flag raising, but the city was decorated to some extent in honor of the nation's dead.

During the day thousands of people spent a few hours at Rock Springs park. Eight cars were operated all day on the Chester line and it was not an unusual sight to see 100 to 150 persons on one car bound for the park. A special train composed of 10 coaches bearing members of Smoky City lodge, K. of P., of Pittsburg, arrived at Chester during the morning, and this train was followed by a special train from Dennison containing members of the Knights of Columbus order.

The side wheel steamer, Elizabeth, brought several hundred people from Pittsburg and intermediate points, arrived shortly after noon, and a number of persons were present from Steubenville, Wheeling, Toronto, New Cumberland and Wellsville. Smith's Ferry and Georgetown also furnished their share of visitors. Taking the day as a whole, it is estimated that at least 2,000 strangers were in the city.

NOW OUT ON BAIL

Col. Albert Brewer, Accused of Murder, Waives Hearing and Is Released.

Tiffin, O., May 31.—The case of Col. Albert Brewer, charged with murdering Dairyman Luther Hershey, took a surprising turn Thursday, when Brewer was taken before Mayor Magers despite the fact that the preliminary hearing had been set for the next day. Brewer waived an examination and was bound over to the next term of the grand pury without bail. Instead of being taken to jail, however, he was immediately brought before Julge Schaufelberger, of the common pleas court, where a motion was heard to admit him to bail. Upon evidence submitted, the court released the prisoner on $5,000 bond.

Brewer, well known as a former pottery owner, is said to have assaulted Hershey in a saloon, and Hershey died 18 hours later.

BAR ROOM FOUND IN A DUG-OUT

LOTS OF BEER AND WHISKY

In an Underground Location—The Joint Run By a Colored Man, Acting, It Is Said, for an East Liverpool Saloonist.

An up-to-date bar room on a small scale was discovered by Chief Hiram Alllison, of Chester, yesterday morning. With the assistance of Officer Hassey, Jefferson Smith and Manager J. Howard Maxwell, of Rock Springs park, the bar room was raided, and when the proprietor returns to dispense liquid refreshments he will find only a lot of cracked ice in his ice box, and that will be all.

Chief Allison received word from Sheriff Allison at New Cumberland Tuesday morning that a large amount of beer and whisky had been shipped to Chester from East Liverpoool, and the park officials, hearing this, soon located the liquor. The man who is believed to be running the place is Bill Brown, but he was only a hired man for an East Liverpool saloonist, it is said. The negro has been residing in a small shanty boat near the mouth of Mill Creek, which, by the way, is property owned by the Rock Springs company, and it is said that liquor has been sold to all who came and asked.

Brown had dug a good sized cave in the small hill at Mill creek, and in it he placed a large ice box, and after placing a large amount of ice in the box filled it with beer and a small amount of whisky. To a friend Brown is said to have remarked that he was going to East Liverpool to see the man for whom he was working, and during his absence from the place Chief Allison and his assistants took the hinges from the door leading to the cave, and the first sight which they saw was a lot of beer glasses and a bottle of whisky. Then the ice box was looked into and there packed among the cracked ice was said to be about 200 bottles of beer. These were loaded into a wagon that had been employed by the park management for several weeks, and taken to city hall, where Mayor Shrader will be asked to pass an opinion as to the disposition that will be made of the "stuff."

For several weeks, it is averred that a crowd of mill employes have decided that the shanty boat where Brown has been living should be moved and arrangements were made a few nights ago to place a lot of brush about the boat and apply the torch. This, however, was not done, and now that Brown has made his escape it is hard to tell what disposition will be made of the craft.

Chief Allison stated last evening that several parties would be willing to make an affidavit that they had purchased liquor from Brown.

Some person entered the Chester jail last night and carried off all the liquor that was taken during the raid in the afternoon. During the night the Chester officers were looking for Brown, and he was taken into custody this morning. He will be given a hearing later.

THE NEW RESERVOIR

NOW THE SOURCE OF THE CITY'S SUPPLY.

Repairs Which It Will Require Weeks to Complete to Begin on Old Basin Monday.

The water works department on Monday will put a force of men at work placing a layer of concrete on the old reservoir, which will require several weeks to complete. This was decided upon by the water works officials several months ago, as the work was to begin just as soon as the new basin was filled. For several days the new basin has been the source of supply for the city, there being anywhere from 14 to 20 feet in the basin for the past week. After the concrete has been allowed to dry the walls and floor of the old basin will be washed with castile soap, as was done on the old basin, where it has been found to be an excellent coating.

In order to decrease the consumption of water the department has been installing a number of water meters in various places of business during the past fortnight, and the scheme has been found to be well worth the expense. Other meters will be installed very soon, and the consumption will be decreased as much as possible, in order to stop what Supt. Morley terms "wilful waste of water."

RETIRES FROM HIS PLACE

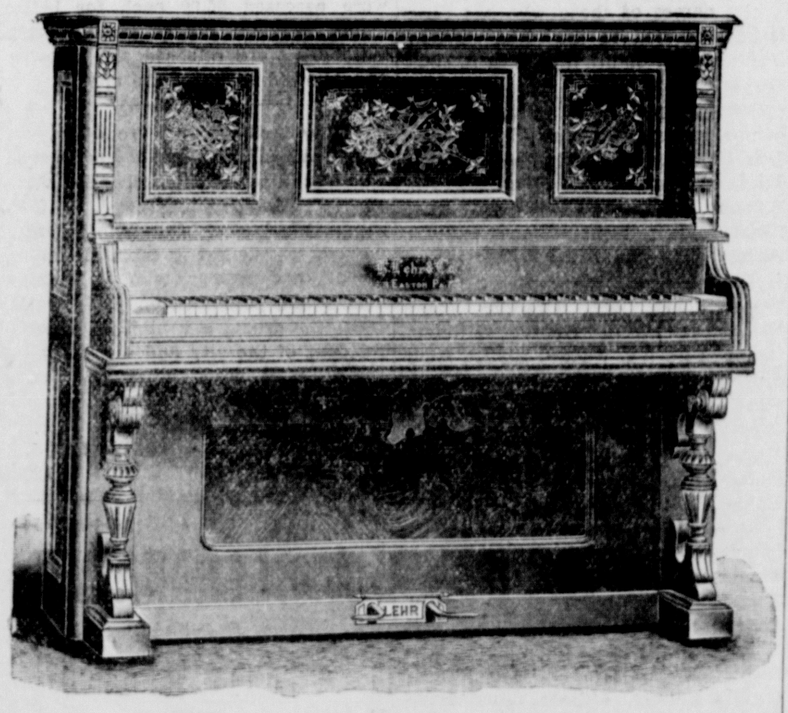

Supt. R. J. McElravy, of Rock Springs Street Railway, Resigns His Position.

Robert J. McElravy, of Carrollton, who has been employed by Charles A. Smith, of this city, for a number of years, will sever his connection with that firm tris evening. Mr. McElravy came to this city when practically a boy, and by hard work and close application to business, he has worked his way up until about a year ago, he was placed in the responsible position of superintendent of the East Liverpool and Rock Springs street railway, which position he has since held. He has always proved himself capable in any emergency, and his leaving the company will be regretted by a large circle of friends.

After a short visit to his old home at Carrollton, Mr. McElravy will return to this city, but when seen today would not announce future intentions.

Many Engineers and Others Vote to Go Out on Monday.

Philadelphia and Reading Company Will, if Necessary, Allow 36 Collieries to Become Flooded, but Will Protect Others.

Scranton. Pa., May 31.—At a meeting attended by over 100 engineers, pumpmen and firemen employed at the eight collieries of the New York, Ontario and Western company, held here yesterday morning, the strike order calling out the men next Monday was indorsed. District President T. D. Nichols addressed the meeting and his talk brought many of the men into line. A secret ballot was taken at first, showing 58 in fa favor of and 44 against a strike. A motion to indorse the strike order was then unanimously carried.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 31.—A largely attended meeting of engineers, firemen and pumpmen was held at Donnolly's hall, this city, last night. It is said every colliery in the Wyoming valley was represented. Addresses were made by John Fallon, member of the national board of United Mine Workers; Henry Collins and D. J. Reese, members of the executive boards. The speakers impressed upon their hearers the necessity of standing together in the contest now on with the operators. A resolution endorsing the strike order of the executive board, calling out the engineers firemen and pumpmen, was adopted by a vote of 315 to 57. The result was received with cheers.

Doubted by the Employers.

Representatives of the coal companies doubt the correctness of the vote. They claim there were not that many men at the meeting and that an overwhelming number of those present were firemen. The coal operators still insist that a majority of the engineers will not desert their posts on Monday.

The committee of engineers from the Lackawanna region, who came to this city to have President Mitchell and the executive committee rescind the order calling out the engineers, firemen and pumpmen, returned to their homes last night when they learned that President Mitchell would not reach here until late today. All hope of having the strike rescinded has now been given up.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 31.—An agent of the West Virginia Coal company, who has been in the city the past week, hiring men to go south, was assaulted by striking miners and their sympathizers at a Slavish settlement in the northern part of this city yesterday. The party making the assault said the agent was endeavoring to get the anthracite miners to go to West Virginia to take the places of strikers there. The representative of the coal company tried to escape by jumping on an electric car as it was passing, but he was pulled from the car and severely beaten. Cooler heads in the crowd saved him from probably fatal injuries.

Coal Companies Arming Men.

Hazleton, Pa., May 31.—All the coal companies here are commissioning special officers to guard their property. Fifty-five special policemen were sworn in by G. B. Markle & Co. yesterday, and an additional 50 before Monday. Coxe Brothers have deputized their office clerks and trusted men to do guard duty. A meeting of the engineers, firemen and pump runners employed at the collieries north of the city, which includes the Coxe, Markle and Kemmerer men, will be held Sunday.

Shamokin, Pa., May 31.—At a meeting of colliery firemen, engineers and pumpmen between Hickory Ridge and Centralia, Thursday night, it was decided by a vote of 122 to 4 to go on strike next Monday unless the operators grant an eight-hour work day at the present scale of wages. It was reported that if the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company cannot man the fire room of 36 collieries in the district without the necessity of guarding those who may wish to work, the operations will be allowed to fill with water. The company, it is stated, will keep the fires going at three collieries in Schuylkill county at any cost and will protect those in the fire rooms with a guard of 300 coal and iron policemen.

HOT DEBATE EXPECTED

U. P. Assembly to Consider "Membership Covenant" Report, Today.

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED.

Business of the Church Was Stopped Yesterday to Hold Services—To Meet Next Year In Tarkio, Mo.—37 Old Soldiers In Assembly.

Pittsburg, May 31.—The principal feature of today's sessions of the United Presbyterian general assembly will be the debate on the membership covenant report, which was made yesterday. There is said to be some strong opposition to the report, especially among the older ministers, and a spirited discussion is promised before final action is taken on the matter.

The principal event of the afternoon session yesterday was the memorial service. Moderator Wilson appointed Rev. Dr. P. McNary, of Tarkio, Mo., to preside. The service opened with the singing of the forty-sixth psalm, which was followed with prayer by Rev. Dr. David Barclay.

Speeches were made by Rev. Dr. W. C. Williamson, of Keokuk, Ia., W. S. Heade, of Cambridge, O., and Dr. W. T. Meloy, of Chicago.

Accepted Missouri Invitation.

The order of the day was then taken up and an invitation was accepted to visit the United Presbyterian Orphans' Home in Allegheny. Rev. R. B. A. McBride, pastor of the Tarkio, Mo., United Presbyterian church, presented an invitation to the general assembly to meet next year in his church, which was accepted. College Springs, Ia., was selected as the place for the next meeting of the committee on home missions.

The committee appointed by the last general assembly to report a revised and amended form of membership covenant for overture to the presbyteries offered their report.

The orations have been spoken, good advice and diplomas have been presented and another class has gone forth from the East Liverpool high school. It is a strong class mentally, as the orations delivered at commencement would attest, even if there were no other evidence of the fact. Better commencement speeches have rarely been delivered in this city, and the class of 1902 is to be congratulated upon the success of its efforts and the success of the commencement exercises generally. But the young graduates should remember that a diploma, although it means much, does not mean everything. It will not do to rely upon to achieve fortune or make success for its possessor. It is a basis to build upon, representing a good start, and nothing more. School days have perhaps ended for a majority of the graduates, but days of thought and study have not ended for those who would keep abreast of the times and make themselves useful to the world. One's talent cannot be buried in a napkin and made of more value. It is those who add constantly to their store of knowledge who make the most of life and get the most enjoyment out of it. No one, graduate or non-graduate, can keep abreast of the times, unless he keeps posted on the doings of the world and familiarizes himself with the trend of current opinion, reads of the latest discoveries of science and keeps informed of what the busy world is doing. The men and women who have achieved fame and success have continued students to the end of their days. Fortunately our system of living and working is such that few of us fail to have spare moments or leisure hours, for reading and recreation. A part of this spare time should be devoted to mental cultivation, for which opportunities abound. Unless a person pursues this course, even a graduate may soon become a back number.

The senate naval committee has laid aside the Corliss bill providing for a Pacific cable at government expense. It appears that the government can get the service which it needs without laying the cable. The Commercial Cable company has already begun work on the project and will have a line from San Francisco to Honolulu in a few months. The government is given the right to fix its rates for government messages and to exercise censorship when necessary. Other promises are held out, which, if kept, will obviate the necessity of Uncle Sam either owning or operating a Pacific cable.

The Knights of Columbus had a taste of East Liverpool hospitality yesterday. Many of the visitors were no strangers and those who came as strangers apparently felt perfectly at home in a very short time. It was an enjoyable affair all through, and well managed in every respect.

Senor Felipe Buencamino, once a member of Aguinaldo's warlike cabinet, is as peaceful as a tame rabbit. He has landed in this country and seen some of its greatness, is full of praise for the American officers in the islands, and evidently thinks the best thing that ever happened to his people was to fall into the hands of the United States. If a few more of the more intelligent islanders could be induced to make this country a visit, they might do some exceedingly useful missionary work on their return.

Memorial day in East Liverpool was celebrated in the usual patriotic spirit and with due impresiveness. The Memorial oration was a most impressive one, and the day most beautiful. Everybody who took part in the solemn services will not only feel better, but be better for so doing.

Almost an even dozen candidates for congressional honors already, and none of the back townships heard from. The value of the prize which some good Republican will land next fall seems to be well understood and appreciated.

PRIZE SHOOTERS

A DAY OF GREAT SPORT FOR GUN CLUB MEMBERS.

Best Score of the Day Made By I. N. Crable—Many Out-of-Town Sports Present.

The East Liverpool Gun club held its third tournament on its new grounds in Chester yesterday. In many respects it was the most successful yet held. There were many out-of-town lovers of the sport present, some of whom entered in the different races. Mr. J. B. Bookwalter, of Dennison, who holds a gold medal for a score of 93 out of a possible 100, won in Pennsylvania, was present in the morning, but took part in but one event of the afternoon. The members of the club are unanimous in their praise of C. A. Smith for providing them with such fine grounds for shooting.

I. N. Crable, of East Market street, made the best score of the day, killing 23 out of 25 birds. The prize winners in the various events were as follows:

Ten bird race—Brunt, Lewis and Edmonston, Johnson, Dr. Parke, of Wellsville.

Fifteen bird race—Dr. Parke, Brunt, Lewis, Dr. Jackman.

TWO ALARMS OF FIRE

Were Sounded Yesterday, But the Damage Was Slight in Both Cases.

Two small fires occurred yesterday. The covering over a heating coil at the East Liverpool pottery caught fire early yesterday forenoon, which caused the department to make a run to the plant. The flames were soon extinguished.

In the afternoon fire was discovered in a box car on the Horn switch, which caused several firemen to take two extinguishers to the car. A quantity of straw was found burning near the car door, which is supposed to have been set fire to by some small boys who have been in the habit of playing about these cars.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE POTTERIES

Kilndrawers' local No. 17, who have been attempting to form a benefit feature for several months, are having up-hill work, and it would not be surprising to see the matter dropped. It was the desire to have not less than 20 names as applicants for the charter, but so far only 14 names have been obtained. It is to be regretted that more interest is not taken in this matter.

The committee having in charge the Brotherhood outing, which will be held at Rock Springs Park Monday, has completed its labors, and to say that it has done its work well is expressing the matter but mildly. Ever since the committee was appointed the members have been working like Trojans, and now the larger part of the task has been finished. The following statement relative to the outing Monday was made by Chairman Leroy Orr: "It is quite a hard matter to tell just how many persons will attend the outing, but as a matter of fact the largest representation of potters will be from this city. A special train will be run from New Cumberland and Wheeling, while a special train which will be run from Alliance over the Ft. Wayne road will bring large crowds from Alliance, Sebring, Salem, East Palestine, Beaver Falls, and New Brighton. There will be delegations from Ford City, New Castle and Youngstown, but it cannot be told whether these will be able to come on the excursion train. If not they will be here on the regular morning train, arriving here at 10:06. Quite a crowd will attend the outing from Steubenville, Toronto and Wellsville, a special train being run from Steubenville for their accommodation. All the special trains will leave late in the evening, and this will give the visitors an opportunity to visit their friends in this city during the evening hours."

The following committees have charge of the outing:

No particular program of sports has been arranged, the only event so far being a base ball game in the morning between the team representing pressers' local No. 4, of this city, and local No. 2, of New Cumberland.

The summer shut down is being given no little consideration by the operative potters just now, but very little information can be obtained bearing on the matter from the manufacturers. While a number of manufacturers have been interviewed, almost all agree that there will be a short rest, but for not more than two weeks. One manufacturer stated that he did not relish the idea of shutting his plant down, but if the trade conditions were no better at the first of July than now, he would most likely close the factory. Another manufacturer said that his plant would take about two weeks, but during this time the machinery would be overhauled and needed repairs made to the kilns. As trade is slow, and unless conditions change, some of the plants will surely take a few weeks during the last of June or the early part of July. Of course several local plants are enjoying a very good business, and have no occasion for any prolonged shut down.

There will be no meeting of local No. 32, Printers and Transferers, next Monday evening on account of the Brotherhood picnic, which will be held at Rock Springs park. It is likely that other locals meeting on that evening will defer their meetings for one week.

It will not be long now until the committee appointed by the officials of the Brotherhood to confer with the sanitary manufacturers of the east, relative to the adoption of a uniform scale, will commence their work. An eastern paper has stated that this session was to have been held last Monday, but at the offices in this city the officials denied that any date had been set as yet. The committee representing the Brotherhood that will confer with the sanitary manufacturers is composed of the following persons: Frank H. Hutchins, Trenton; Frank Van Fassen, New Castle; Joseph T. Catton, Trenton; C. L. Baine, Kokomo, Ind.; A. C. Potts, Trenton; William Mushet, Elizabeth, and T. J. Duffy.

William DeBee, a biscuit kilnman at the Diamond, who had a finger of his right hand mashed a few days ago by a broken sagger falling on it, is recovering, and will be able to resume work in a few days.

Kilnmen's local No. 9 held no session last evening on account of the hall being occupied by the Knights of Columbus. The usual meeting will be held Friday evening of next week.

George Burgess has taken the position of making ewers at the Diamond, made vacant by George Kirkham leaving for the new sanitary shop at New Castle last Monday morning.

At a meeting of the jiggermen a few evenings ago, two transfer cards were granted and one new member was received by transfer. No other important business was considered.

Colonel W. A. Rhoades, who has been in the east for several weeks in the interest of a local company, has returned to the city.

Fletcher Massey, formerly employed at Chetwynd's, has taken a position making cover dishes at the Diamond.

Edward Daugherty, formerly of this city, has taken a position as jiggerman at the Chelsea, at New Cumberland.

Much Discussion Over Carolina Avenue—Matter Finally Referred for Investigation.

There was much discussion among the councilmen at their meeting Thursday evening regarding the grade of Carolina avenue. A few of the members expressed dissatisfaction with the present grade, while the majority seemed to think the existing grade met all requirements, no kicks having been registered by any of the property owners on the street.

The matter finally terminated in a motion, which was passed that the council meet with the city engineer on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 and look over the grade. If found to be satisfactory no further action will be taken.

The East Liverpool & Rock Springs street railway, through J. Howard Maxwell, requested council to allow the company to raise each end of the bridge crossing over the Pannandle railway on Third street, the bridge being crossed by the line, so as to coincide with the grade established by the town, making the street level instead of having a slight incline on each side of the bridge as at present. After considerable disquisition among the solons the request was granted and Third street was ordered closed until the work has been completed, thus avoiding delay to the double tracking of the road.

Mr. Maxwell also requested council to draw up an ordinance accepting the new road east of Rock Springs park, a part of the road being within the town limits. The road has already been accepted by the county commissioners. The matter was deferred until the next meeting night, the street committee to inspect the road in the meantime and report on same at the nexe meeting. Council then adjourned.

same small corner. What would our presidents and other great men have accomplished had they been content to listlessly sit and watch the men of the world move on? No man ever became great that practiced life in that way. It requires push and energy. By these we can all soar to the loftiest heights.

WOMAN'S VOCATION AND PROPER SPHERE

"The Vocation for Girls," as made apparent by Miss Blanche Carey, reaches far into every profession. None are beyond the grasp of the intelligent and energetic girls of today. They are possessed of the power and spirit of attaining the highest. The doors leading to them are open wide for the admittance of all who aspire to reign behind the great walls. Let us pause and consider well our path in life. Choose the path for which you are best fitted and follow it with all your heart and talents until you have accomplished that for which you desired.

Woman's highest sphere is in the home. Here she can make a most noble record. By the careful handling of the home and its surroundings she can make herself loved, adored and more useful than probably in any other vocation. The women of today are not as they were a quarter of a century ago. They now have equal chances with men and by taking the opportunities presented can be their equal in any vocation.

THE LESSONS TAUGHT BY LIVES OF THE GREAT

"One Great Lesson" was Miss Florence C. Harris' subject, and it was skilfully handled. There are few names on history's page which do not suggest some great lesson. What was it that elevated James A. Garfield from the lowly cabin boy to the presidency? It was the industry and invincible perseverance of a noble character. No qualification is more essential to a successful life than self-confidence. It is the foundation of all success. Without it, man is a splendid slave; with it, he is equipped for the battle of life.

Those who rely on others accomplish little. Those who are strong in themselves, and who, when confronted with new trials and difficulties, put on a more determined mien and push forward to remove obstacles, make their lives count. It is the boys and girls who solve their own problems who win their way. God never intended that strong, independent beings should cling to others like the ivy to the oak. Difficulties and hardships should serve to make us stronger. It is said that a self-confident person is conceited, but this need not be. The conceited person boasts of what he can do; the self-confident person says nothing, but knowing his capability, goes to work and removes obstacles.

INSPIRATION FOUND IN POETS' WORDS

"Gems of Thought," was the subject of a thoughtful essay by Miss Hattie Orin. She began by allusion to Scottish ballads, English poems and American verse, saying that each clime seemed to inspire its own poets. From Scotland's borders, for example, comes the voice of Burns, who rose from a clay-built cottage to the most exalted place among the peasant poets. The speaker quoted from his works and then turned successively to England's master bard, Shakespeare; and the American poets and Longfellow, Holmes, finding in their works inspiration for youth to follow in learning's pleasant ways. She would have youth adopt as a motto the words of the poet who says:

"Be what thou seemest; live thy creed;
Hold up to earth the torch divine;
Be what thou prayest to be made;
Let the great Master's steps be thine."

HOW TO OVERCOME THE TEMPTER'S ART

Miss Ida B. Watson, in "A Battle Fought and Won," graphically depicted the strife and temptations which enter into each human life at some time or other. Drawing a picture of a man surrounded by the war of the elements, she portrayed also a storm raging within his soul. The man, his evil passions contending for the mastery of the good, his manhood struggling for supremacy, was swayed perhaps more violently than by any storm that ever swept the earth. While the conflicting elements raged he knelt and prayed, earnestly and long.

As the storm without subsided and the dawn brightened and birds sang and finally the sun flooded the earth with gladness, the man arose, his face that of a conquerer. His battle had been fought and won. Evil had been slain and good had triumphed. As in temporal, so in spiritual affairs; oftimes tempest is followed by sunshine and calm—"that serene and blessed mood in which the affections gently lead us on."

ATTRACTIVE SUBJECT, THE AMERICAN GIRL

"The American Girl" was Miss Edna Z. Smith's attractive and interesting subject. She went back to the days when the Indian maiden was the American girl, and drew a pretty picture of her in her forest home. When the Puritan maiden appeared on the scene she was such an example of purity and innocence that poets have sung her praises ever since. But the American girl changed with the progress of the nation and we soon beheld her as a stately maiden with powdered hair and for amusement dancing the minuet or the Virginia reel. If found reading a novel she was punished by being sent to practice upon the spinet.

The American girl of today is found in every walk of life. In the business world she excels the women of other nations. She has found a place in literary life and achieved notable success. She is a many sided and bewildering creature, and attracts attention both abroad and at home. The present viceroy of India and many men of title and distinction have come to America for wives. The American girl is a leader in the world's business, literary and social circles today. What will she be a century hence" Certainly we can picture her one of the most self-sacrificing and reverential factors in the world's history.

HUMORS AND BENEFITS OF ADVERTISEMENTS

As her subject Miss Hattie A. Poe chose "Advertising," and in a most convincing argument explained what the greatest writers of the age are attempting to impress upon the modern business man. Advertising has become one of the most important and essential factors of the business world, and it cannot be queestioned that the prosperous condition of any business house is due to the efficient managers and also the uniqueness of its advertisements. One never picks up a magazine ...at he does not see an attractive and fascinating short story introducing a most necessary household article.

One very important fact that we learn through the advertising columns is how to become beautiful, if we are homely, and rich if we are poor. To be poor argues that you fail to take advantage of the vast sums of money which are given away as prizes to any person who will send two cents in postage stamps. To be homely argues that you do not care for beauty; for, while Malvina is the only reliable cream, Milk Weed improves the complexion and Oriental is a magical beautifier and quickly removes tan, freckles, and all other facial blemishes. The speaker ended her most interesting argument with a high tribute to the advertising value of the columns of local dailies, and a humorous poem, describing the visit of two ladies, who made a tour of all the principal stores of East Liverpool and returned at night, weary but satisfied, with just one dozen hooks and eyes.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE IN EDUCATION.

Miss Mary Rubiena Ikirt asked and answered the question, "Wherein Doth Lie America's True Greatness?" Man, the noblest work of God, walks through a labryrinth of grandeur and beauty, without recognizing its value and significance, until every phase of nature and the marvelous works of civilization has been revealed by the light of knowledge. Education is a companion which no misfortune can depress, no clime destroy and no enemy ensiave. At home it is a friend; abroad it is an introduction; in society it is an ornament. Its price is a dear one, but when once that price is paid, man has gained a prize imperishable.

It is one of the chief virtues of America that its citizens have equal rights and advantages as regards school education. The advantages of yesterday cannot be compared with those of today. Had Abraham Lincoln, who got his little schooling in a log school house, been enabled to enjoy the privileges of the Fourth street school, he would have deemed himself thrice and four times blessed. The amount of money spent on American schools is enormous, but the results are grand. The American home itself is becoming more cultured. There is the ideal sanctum wherein is trained the true American citizen. We have as yet seen only the fair seeds and beginnings of this great republic. Whether those prolific seeds shall mature into autumnal ripeness, or perish, leaving no harvest, will depend upon the training of the American people.

THOSE WHO HAVE SUNG FOR A WORLD TO HEAR

Miss Emma R. Bloor dealt entertainingly with the "Lives and Reminiscenses of Popular Composers." The world is prone to forget its great singers. The great author bequeaths to future generations his literary masterpiece; the composer his immortal composition; the artist, his undying work of beauty; but the poor singer, when he passes to his reward, leaves only the memory of his achievements, which is likely to grow fainter as time goes on until only a tradition remains. A peculiar and a pathetic interest therefore attaches to the records of the lives of old-time noted vocalists, whose tones once stirred great audiences and held royalty, nobility and the populace spellbound.

America, for a young nation, has produced composers richly endowed, and music that will stand comparison with the best of European countries. Numerous illustrations of this fact were cited by the speaker, and the address was pleasingly interspersed with song.

ORATION APPROPRIATE TO MEMORIAL DAY

William G. Dorff, in his oration "The River of Freedom," gave utterance to many fine sentiments appropriate to Memorial Day. The speaker drew a picture of a peaceful stream, flowing through a fertile valley surrounded by beautiful hills. The stream on whose banks our city stands is such a river. Its shores afforded to the far-sighted the place for an empire. One class looked upon it as a river of freedom. To the enslaved negroes of the south it seemed like the River of Death to Christian souls. Beyond it lay paradise. The ordinance of 1787 which forever prohibited slavery north of the Ohio was one on which our country's progress depended. It was bitterly fought, but it stood, and was enforced.

When the struggle to abolish slavery came Ohio alone gave over 313,000 able-bodied soldiers, 37 per cent of northwest territory's quota and 16 per cent of the whole Union army. Today the fallen heroes have been remembered, and at their graves their comrades have told of their deeds of valor. Each year the company of mourners grows less. There are people here tonight who may out-live the soldiers of the Grand Army, but not one who will outlive the day set apart for the commemoration of their priceless deeds and valor in the Civil war.

ULYSSES S. GRANT AND HIS GREATNESS

Miss Rest Humrickhouse began her oration on "Grant" by the declaration that the names of Lincoln and Grant will always be inseparably associated in connection with the events of the war of the rebellion. The two had many traits in common. Both were of humble origin and both spent their early life in close acquaintance with hard work. Grant's greatness lay in the fact that he always perceived early the situation before him and adapted his means to the end. His grim determination was shown in his utterances, such as "I propose to move immediately upon your works," "unconditional surrender," and "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

Grant accepted every call to duty as it came. He did not choose his part, but allowed others to choose for him. When the war ended his popularity was boundless—as great in the south as in the north. Yet it was not war with its glories and triumphs, but blessed peace that filled his mind as he saw the end. May this noblest and greatest of his qualities be always with us, wherever our authority may extend, whatever our sphere of influence may be. It is by the art and blessings of peace that our Christian civilization is to be extended. Revering the hero's memory, may we enjoy the psalmist's benison, "Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces."

A BRILLIANT SOLDIER, GALLANT GEN. SHERIDAN

"Sheridan" was the theme chosen by Miss Edna Donovan, who eloquently sketched the career of an Ohio man who was universally beloved by Union veterans and universally admired as a type of the American soldier. It was the Civil war which brought out the best in Philip H. Sheridan. Starting as a lieutenant, his promotions were rapid. Brilliant as he was in raid and pursuit, it was not until the great raid on Richmond that he achieved fame. If there had been nothing in his career but his celebrated ride from Winchester, his name would have been imperishable.

Sheridan, like Grant, abhorred war, and was known to say that the time was coming when the killing of a thousand men would be looked upon as a thousand murders. Yet he did his duty as a soldier thoroughly and well. One of the greatest tributes that could be paid to anyone, especially a soldier, was surely paid to Sheridan, in that the most promient officers in the contending armies thought that he was fit for greater commands than those which he actually exercised. This tribute was partially inspired by the fact that he was, first of all, master of his profession, and that he was always ready to give more service than was expected.

THE LIFE AND CHARACTER OF WILLIAM M'KINLEY

Miss Mayme Randall spoke on "McKinley" and gave a true representation in speech of the martyred man's life and subsequent death. "Peace on earth, good will toward men," was the motto of our late president. Before the decisive steps taken in the Spanish war he was the one to remain calm. Although chided by the entire nation, he showed the wisdom which ultimately gave to the United States the glory of a conquering nation that had unscrupulously gone too far in wrong-doing. At the age of 18 he entered the civil war as a corporal and through bravery and meritorious work he rose to the rank of captain and brevet major. Had he been ambitious and selfish he might have risen higher, but he was content to stop where his merit had taken him. To his noble mother, for whom he always cared tenderly, is given the credit for his Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans and Fellow Citizens: It is unnecessary for me to stop to inquire the purpose of this assemblage. This is the nation's Sabbath. A more beautiful and impressive scene could not be witnessed than that of a redeemed nation turning aside from its daily toil and gathering around the graves of its defenders, bearing offerings of flowers and giving suitable expressions of love and gratitude which a great people feel towards those who gave their lives in defense of their country.

"To every union soldier it is a day filled with sweet and precious memories. Unlike the dead of other wars, the memory of our comrades never fades. They still walk by our side. With enfeebled step we still carry the flag they loved so well. We interpret your presence here today to mean that we have your sympathy in our years of decline, and still further as a mark of the respect and confidence that the loyal, patriotic citizens of our good city bears towards the Grand Army."

Lincoln's address at Gettysburg was then read by Post Commander Daniel McLane as follows:

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war; testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add to or detract from. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

An invocation by Rev. Dr. J. C. Taggart followed, after which "America" was sung by the post quartet and the audience. The Memorial day address was then given by L. T. Farr, of Rogers, who in part said:

"Mr. Chairman, Members of the Grand Army, Ladies and Gentlemen: I know not how I might better introduce my remarks to you this afternoon than by quoting briefly from that splendid oration delivered by its gifted author upon the consecrated soil of Gettysburg, soon after its sod had been crimsoned with the life blood of the flower of our American manhood, and when he said: 'It was appointed by law in Athens that the obsequies of her citizens who fell in battle should be performed at the public expense and in the most honorable manner. Their remains were carefully gathered up from the battle plain or the funeral pyre and brought home to the city.

"There for three days before burial they lay in state beneath tents of honor, to receive the native offerings of friends and relatives — flowers, weapons, precious ornaments, painted vases and wonders of art—which after 3,000 years adorn the museums of modern Europe were laid there, the last tribute of surviving affection. Ten coffins of funeral cypress received, one for each of the tribes of the city and an eleventh for the unrecognized dead, and of those whose remains could not be recovered.

"On the fourth day the funeral procession was formed in which it was expected that all citizens, aside from friends and relatives, should bear a part. Thus marshaled they moved to the place of interment in that famous Ceramicus, the most beautiful suburb of Athens, which had been adorned by Cimon, the son of Miltiades, with walks and fountains and columns; whose groves were filled with altars, shrines and temples; whose gardens were kept forever green by streams of living water flowing down from the surrounding hills; whose pathways gleamed with the monuments to the illustrious dead, the sublime work of the most matchless skill that ever gave life to marble.

"'There, in the midst of that eloquent silence of God and nature, underneath the over-reaching plain trees upon a lofty stage erected for that purpose, it was ordained that the funeral oration should be pronounced by some citizen of Athens in the presence of the assembled multitude.'

"Such were the tokens of respect required to be paid at Athens to the memory of those who had fallen in defense of their country; such, my fellow citizens, is the purpose for which we have assembled today; after the flight of more than 23 centuries, we come in the spirit of Roman patriotism and in the light of a better civilization, to stand at the grave side of our fallen countrymen and pray to honored dust the tribute of our love, and I feel today, as never before, how justly, from the dawn of history to the present time, men have paid the homage of their gratitude and admiration to the memory of those who, through his resolve and unselfish sacrifice, laid even life itself upon the altar of their common country, and if this tribute were ever due to whom could it be more justly paid than to those about whose lasting resting place we stand today, to bedeck their silent tents of green with our tokens of love and affection?

"How many who now hear me, remember the dark days of 1861 when our great commonwealth of American states felt the first shock occasioned by discordant and rebellious elements? How many felt that thrill of alarm, when the news flashed from one loyal state to another that Sumter had fallen? Ay! who has forgotten those days in which so many northern homes were saddened?

"Though youth has ripened into manhood and manhood turned to tottering age, the memory still lives and returns today freighted with unwonted sadness.

"Again we hear the call for $75,000 men; again the Sabbath stillness of our quiet vales is broken by the thrilling, fascinating strain of martial music.

"And so began one of the greatest struggles for political supremacy that ever rent the social fabric or disturbed the internal equilibrium of any state or nation.

"Methinks I see that proud and noble army of the Potomac as its columns, with banners fluttering in the breeze, file out from the defenses of the national capital, to meet the advancing foe with steel, untried but confident, a sublime spectacle of manly courage and patriotic devotion.

"What wonder that a great and grateful people offers an annual tribute of love and affection to the memory which is now as sacred as the principles for which they contended? And when the last veteran shall be gathered to the breast of earth and shall speak only in the dumb eloquence of the myriad mounds, these lessons of patriotism shall be repeated and with each recurring season, the gathered sweetness of the first fruits of spring time, shall be brought to these sacred shrines, as emblems, that as long as the sun shines to call forth the hidden life from the soul and heaven's tear drop kiss hill and meadow and the blue dome arches above us, so long shall we esteem freedom to be the dearest possession of our blood-bought republic and continue onward and upward toward that glorious destiny of national worth and excellence, which God in his infinite providence has ordained for the children of men."

The quartet then gave another selection, after which the audience was dismissed after a hort prayer by Rev. J. W. Gorrell, pastor of the Christian church.

The services of the day were most successful, and once more the members of General Lyon post fulfilled their duty nobly.

A GRAND RALLY OF THE K. OF C.

music of the Union in the days of the Civil war—that our thoughts should turn in serious contemplation of the governmental structure made possible by their achievement. It is peculiarly appropriate that on this holy Sabbath day of the republic, when the May breezes carry the echoes of national eulogy and requimn chant, that we, representing an organization which is distinctively American, and in our two-fold character as Catholics and knights, that binds us with loyalty and devotion to our country, make our try is the exemplar of nations, and ennobling. Inspiring because our country is the exemplay of nations, and ennobling because its manifest destiny is the highest development of human rights and their perfect application to the principles of civil liberty.

"The first republic of modern times, emerging unfettered and free, with the chains and shackles which tyranny had forced broken into atoms; it faced the future, supplanted the tainted and corrupted blood of royalty in the government of human beings with the character and virture of its citizens; for the gilded throne of the monarch it set up the voice of the people. It placed government by force into government by election, government by instruction; entailments that retard and debase into a government by the cultivation of the higher moral faculties, that appeal to the intelligence and the justice of integrity of man. Then, as now, man wore upon his brow the image and likeness of Almighty God, which is the highest incentive to the exaltation of mind and purity of soul, but never until his station in life was proclaimed by these United States, and it was written that all men were created free and equal.

"The consideration of my theme leads me to the second title of the name of our order—Columbus. That word is certainly a synonym for Catholicity and patriotism. The name of Columbus is found on the first page of American history. 'Twas Columbus, the Catholic, with his Catholic crew, that discovered this continent and a Catholic gave it the name of America. If we are true to our God, we cannot be false to our country, and if we are true knights we must be true Catholics, which means the best of patriots, and here in this favored land, under the benignity of the republic are seventy-five millons of people, the best of the world, increasing in numbers and moral perfection as time passes, devoted to law and liberty, with the God of justice engraven upon their banner, leading on in the procession of nations, until our beloved country shall encompass the universe with a more glorious future than pen can picture or eloquence portray."

The speaker was loully applauded for his utterances, which were indeed words well spoken.

"Catholic Citizenship" was spoken by W. A. Maline, of Youngstown, who organized the local council. The speaker confined his remarks to the uplifting and upbuilding of one's intellect, and said that to be a good Catholic one must needs to be a law abiding citizen. He advised the local council to give lecture courses, to take up matters of a public nature, and by so doing additional intellectual power would be gained. This address, while it might be considered brief, contained a monument of lofty thought and excellent advice.

"Knighthood" was the theme assigned to J. J. Coniff, of Wheeling, but that gentleman was unable to be present.

"Fraternity" was the subject of a toast by Joseph L. McDowell, of Coshocton. He told of the good of combined organization, and the results that are to be obtained thereby. His remarks were confined to the goodness done by members of organizations similar to that of the Knights of Columbus, which are ever alert to the uplifting of those in sorrow and distress.

Dr. C. A. Wingerter, State Deputy Supreme Knight of West Virginia, briefly upon "Our Order." The organization of the council was rehearsed, and the past trials of the order were spoken of in a most entertaining manner, while the accomplishments of the organization as it stands today were told of, much to the pleasure of those assembled.

During the afternoon short addresses were made by Rev. Father Halligan, of Wellsville, Father Dacey, of Steubenville, and Father Syner, of Coshocton.

Just before the banquet closed Toast Master Grafton spoke of the work the members of the ladies' auxiliary had done in preparing the banquet, after which those present gave a vote of thanks to the ladies. The banquet was then closed by the singing of "America."

Following the banquet Dennison council conferred the second degree on a large class at Brotherhood hall, and this was followed by the third degree, which was conferred by District Deputy Supreme Knight Thomas J. Duffy, of this city.

"'My husband used it for a sprained back and was also quickly relieved. In fact it is the best family liniment I have ever used. I would not think of being without it. I have recommended it to many and they always speak very highly of it and declare its merits are wonderful." For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

Home Sweet Home!

Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble there's no place like home;
A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there
Which seek through the world is ne'er met with elsewhere.

An exile from home, pleasure dazzles in vain,
Ah, give me my lowly thatched cottage again,
The birds singing sweetly that came to my call,
Give me them and that peace of mind, dearer than all.

THE poet when he wrote these immortal verses touched a note that finds an echo in every Anglo-Saxon breast. How we love the sentiment expressed! Perhaps your home has been so varied by many movings that these lines don't find their responsive chord? Is it wise to live in a house that is not your own, putting up with all the inconveniences of a tenant house, the ups and downs with the landlord and a thousand vexations that arise when almost by the reaching out of your hand a home comes within your reach? Through us is offered to you your choice of more than in the city, at all prices, in all locations and at all kinds of terms of purchase. Whether you have much money or little, we would like to have you see what we can do for you toward your owning a home. We are not entirely mercenary in this plea for your consideration. Profit we must have, yet we hope that your profit will be the greater. Hundreds of satisfied purchasers throughout the city will tell you of us. Come and let us do the thinking and planning for you that you may own a home, realizing that it is yours, and join in the chorus and sing

Home, home, sweet, sweet home
There's no place like home.

CITY IMPORTANT IN POLITICAL WAY

Good Reasons Why East Liverpool People Should Look to Their Interests.

THE TAXATION PROBLEM

Requires That Some One Familiar With It Should Represent the City In the Legislature—E. W. Hill Familiar With Current Needs.

The importance of East Liverpool in a political way was never so self evident as at the present time, when the question of local taxation on all properties, and other measures looking to the welfare of our industries, are urgently needed.

These conditions behoove citizens of East Liverpool to look to their own interests and in no respect will it be more important to the welfare of the city to be well represented than in the next state legislature.

In that regard the man of the hour will be one who is conversant with the needs of the city as a municipality, and yet who is equally conversant with the necessities of the local taxpayers, and disposed to go out of his way to conserve their interests.

These specifications are filled in a larger measure by one who, while twice before a candidate for the legislature and defeated—not by reason of lack of personal eligibility to the office, but rather by uncontrollable influences—yet never a sulker in his political tent, but came cheerfully forth and gave full support to the party's nominee. It is not hard to guess this man to be Elijah W. Hill.

Mr. Hill has decided to come before the Republicans of Columbiana county once more, strong in the belief that his manly course in the past in the face of untoward conditions which are now no longer in existence, coupled with his undoubted ability to fill the office with credit to himself and his constituents, make him the logical candidate of Columbiana county.

Few residents of East Liverpool and southern Columbiana county are more in touch with current needs of the community than Elijah W. Hill.

His daily contact with the business interests—his continual intercourse with the interests of the laboring classes through his handling of their purchases of homes and investment of their earnings, places him in such a position that he cannot escape familiarity with what is required to further their condition and protect their best interests; his knowledge of what will conserve the prosperity of our manufacturing institutions is by reason of the character of his business, constant and clear sighted.

He realizes that East Liverpool's prosperity cannot be enhanced by onerous taxation and he has the courage and nobility, not only to say so, but to convince others that he is sure that such a position is tenable in a legislator.

Mr. Hill's signal success in handling his own business and that of the many others intrusted to him is a strong argument that he is a desirable man to look after the business of East Liverpool's taxpayers, and there is little doubt that he will be recognized as the Republican party's nominee at the legislative primaries.

The Home of Pe-ru-na

The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the president of the Hartman Sanitarium, an institution which has a department devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases. He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year, the most of whom return to their homes to be treated by correspondence.

THE GREATEST OF AMERICA'S SANITARIUMS.

The principal remedy he relies upon in such cases is Peruna, which every woman should have, who has any affection of this kind.

In view of the great multitude of women suffering from some kind of female disease, and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynæcologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as may make application to him during the summer months without charge.

The treatment will be conducted by correspondence. The doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug stores. This offer will prevail during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangements.

All cases of female diseases, including menstrual irregularities, displacements, ulcerations, inflammations, discharges, irritation of the ovaries, tumors and dropsy of the abdomen, should apply at once and become registered as regular patients. All correspondence will be held strictly confidential. No testimonials of cures will be given to the public except by the express wish of the patient.

No one knows better than Dr. Hartman how much the women suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. No one knows better than he does how many of them suffer with such diseases. Patiently, hopefully, wearily, and often silently, they eke out a miserable existence year after year.

A woman confined to the house several years with a chronic female derangement had finally given up all hope of being cured. She had tried physician after physician, and remedy after remedy, without any permanent improvement. Her treatment had cost her husband, who was a poor man, hundreds of dollars. They had been obliged to deny themselves many comforts of life in order to get money enough to pay the physicians.

DISEASES PECULIAR TO THE FEMALE SEX.

Picking up the paper one day she happened to read an item which contained the news that Dr. Hartman would treat such cases free of charge by letter. She immediately wrote the doctor, describing her case, and giving him all her symptoms. She soon received a letter telling her exactly what to do and what medicines and appliances to get. She began the treatment (the principal remedy being Peruna) at once, and in a few weeks was well and strong again and able to do her own work.

Another woman who used Peruna without becoming one of Dr. Hartman's regular patients had the following experience. Miss Ida Green writes from Baldwinville, Ga.:

ONE OF THE 200,000 WOMEN HELPED LAST YEAR.

"Peruna is wonderful and good, and a certain cure for female weakness. I have been ill and have been taking doctor's medicine for several years, and found that none did me any good.

"Every day it was a worry. I was always sick. I had come to the conclusion to give up, and not use any more medicine. I was sick indeed for the past two years. Just before I began to take Peruna I was very weak, besides I was bilious and constipated.

"I had pains in my back and side and falling of the womb, with bearing down pains.

"One day while reading my newspaper, I came across an ad., read of the book for women entitled, "Health and Beauty," and sent for it. Then I began to use Peruna. After using several bottles I am now thoroughly cured."—MISS IDA GREEN.

Mrs. Theresa Keller, of Fremont, Wash., writes:

"Peruna not only cured me of female trouble but prevents me catching any cold, and as long as I have a bottle in the house my family needs no doctor."—Mrs. Theresa Keller.

Send for free book entitled, "Health and Beauty." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

FAREWELL TO SCHOOL

grand character and well may it be said that the hand that rocks the cradle moves the world. A nobler manhood was never created and the history of such a man will live forever.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, HEAVEN'S OWN AGENT

Abner M. Nice, in his oration on "Lincoln," noted the fact that although four of the greatest men that ever lived had been heralded as heroes for their courageous and wonderful characters, there was yet one more whose name will ever stand forth grandly in the history of American patriotism, and he was known everywhere during his life as "Honest Abe." In the annals of history no abler, no grander man ever lived. Strong and serene in conscience and thought he conquered all. He was a priceless jewel in a crown of freedom, lifting three million slaves from bondage to an equal with their masters. His character was irreproachable.

He was heaven's own agent to man. He broke the shackles of the world. His life was only paralleled by that of the spotless Washington, but like all other great men, he died while at his work. Kind, earnest, sympathethic, faithful, democratic, he was anxious only to serve his country, and nobly and grandly was his mission fulfilled.

"OLD TECUMSEH," THE IDEAL SOLDIER

"Sherman" was the subject of Otis A. Swan's oration, and a very good pen picture was drawn of "Old Tecumseh," the only man who ever refused to be president, declaring he was bred to war and not to politics. Sherman was a born soldier; a man of action, positive in his views and outspoken in expressing them. His march to Atlanta was one of a series of brilliant campaigns in which two of America's greatest strategists sought to checkmate each other. The march "from Atlanta to the sea" was the most romantic event of the Civil war. In boldness of design it would have outclassed Alexander; in persistency of purpose and striking effect, it would have put Caesar to shame. Sherman's Christmas gift of the city of Savannah to the United States was the greatest Christmas gift in modern history.

Sherman was an ideal soldier, obedient to his superiors, strict in discipline, fertile in resources, fixed in purpose, prompt in decision and magnetic in his bearing. Patriotism was his watchword, and the whole keynote of his life, as shown in his declaration: "On no earthly account will I do any act or think any thought contrary to or in defiance of the old government of the United States."

LARKINS, THE DRUG MAN

THE LOCAL TEAM TWICE DEFEATED

Crowds Watched the Contests Between East Liverpool and Windsor A. C.

FIRST GAME A POOR ONE

In the Second There Was Better Playing—The Boy Pitcher Had Not Proper Support—J. Heckathorn Star Performer—Games In Detail.

The East Liverpool baseball team was defeated twice yesterday by the visiting team from Pittsburg.

The Windsor Athletic base ball aggregation won the first game of the series from the locals yesterday morning in West End park by a score of 15 to 12, which in itself is an explanation of the playing witnessed by the fans, numbering over 500.

It certainly was long and tiresome. Had the contest been between boys not in their teens the scores would not have been more, nor would the hits have been more numerous. Both pitchers were pounded unmercifully and were up in the air from the beginning. The sun shining in the eyes of the players as they tried to field fly balls was the excuse made by each team for the rank exhibition. The excuse in the opinion of the spectators was as rank as the exhibition, because many an excellent game has been played under far more discouraging circumstances. From the grand stand, bleachers, box cars and hillsides came exclamations of disgust, and although good plays were made occasionally shouts of applause were not in evidence. The crowd was driven to a state of aggravation and could not enjoy a play when seen.

Umpire Clark called the game at 10:10 and in a very few minutes the ball was rolling in every direction. The visitors were first up and in the start made enough runs and hits to cinch the result. The locals apparently thought they were up against it and played accordingly. However, they spurted quite noticeably in the first five innings, and it is a shame that they fell so hard in the remainder of the game.

At the beginning of the sixth the score lacked but one of being even, and the visiting pitcher was giving signs of exhaustion, but the locals went out in one, two, three order, and made it easy for him. In the third the Pittsburg lads piled up three runs and added another bunch of five in the fourth. In the next they were peaceable, but started once more in the sixth by two runs and three hits and finally put an end to the onslaught in the ninth by scoring a couple of each.

As can be seen by the score by innings neither team had the game until the last inning was finished. Each team spurted several times and the result was never promising. The lucky seventh did little for the locals. They were seemingly in a trance and let it pass without an effort. The only star playing fell to the lot of Patterson, who played in left field. He made three elegant catches and one was considered sensational. After running for a hundred yards he reached over and managed to get the ball in his hands, but it left them instantaneously and the juggling act which followed was the sensational feature. He not only clutched the ball before it hit the ground, but fired it to second and made a double play.

Hamilton at second only lasted three innings. He made two errors and probably was the cause of the locals' defeat. He stood aghast when a ball was sent in his neighborhood and made few attempts to grapple them. Webb was taken from right field and substituted for him, while J. Heckathorn was taken from the bench and placed in right.

Fisher covered himself with glory, in his own estimation, when he run backward and caught a foul fly. It really was a sorry thing for the boy. He went up in the air immediately kicking because his mates could not be his equal, etc. His worst outburst though was when he assailed a boy, probably 7 years of age, because he was standing within 10 feet of home plate. The assault was cowardly and the hot-headed youth was the recipient of many jeers for his display of foolhardiness.

Clark umpired an honest game, but at that was called down so many times that he felt discouraged. The calling was done by the visitors, and is only a trick practiced by them. One of the team was heard to say: "This team is a peach. I can't remember the time that the whole push didn't kick upon a decision whether it was fair or not."

Although the afternoon game resulted in a second defeat for the locals, the game was undoubtedly the cleanest of the season, and was the kind that makes the game a national favorite.

That the locals did not win can be credited to two causes. They were up against a team that could play just a little too well for them, and they did not give Maley, the boy wonder, the proper support. He pitched his usual fast game, and it was almost heartrending to see the backing he received. Just at the time when he would have the visitors on the road to destruction some fellow would make a rank play and turn the tables completely.

The park was in the finest condition yet, the diamond being smooth and hard and the outfield being superb. At least 900 people were in attendance, and for the first time this season the grand stand was filled to its utmost capacity. The box cars were also well decorated, which would probably swell the crowd to 1,200. What possesses the crowd that inhabits the lofty car galleries is beyond explanation. They not only impudently sit on the unpaid for perches, but make life mierable for those who are lawfully witnessing the game. During the progress of this particular game they expectorated on and threw stones at the people under them until it was necessary to call the police.

Manager Walsh has a scheme by which he hopes to cheat the marauders from seeing games in the future, and it is to be hoped that he will be successful. It is his intention to stretch a canvas, 10 feet in width, along the fence. If the cars are placed on the track next to the river the plan will be successful, but when not it will simply make the sight more agreeable to the heathenish tribe.

Without doubt J. Heckathorn, in right for the locals, was the star performer of the afternoon. However, in one of his sensational maneuverings he came near being the cause of a serious injury to a child, the son of Walter Deville. The boy, in company with his father, was leaving the park in the eighth innning and unwisely wandered too far out into right field. Heckathorn was in the act of fielding a high foul fly when they jumped in his way and were knocked violently to the ground, the father falling on the boy and hurting him, though not dangerously. A large crowd quickly gathered around the father and son and all were highly pleased when they found that his injuries were slight. The accident caused a slight delay in the game, but did not affect the score in the least, as Heckathorn got the ball notwithstanding.

With the entire crowd on the qui vive the game was started. No one knew what the result would be and none were able to make a reasonable guess. The visitors having won the first game and having played so well while here last summer they certainly did not have defeat staring them in the face, and the locals, with Maley in the box, and the remainder of the lineup being the best that the city can produce, it certainly looked like six of one and a half dozen of the other.

As in the morning game the Smoky City lads took the bat, but they did not carry on the same performance as in the morning. They were hard against it when Maley commenced shooting them over. In rapid succession for two innnings they fell before his merciless ball. However, in the third and fourth, they landed a few hits and succeeded in scoring three runs, but it was not due to the hits. Had the locals been there in support one run only would have been the result and the game might have ended differently. With the exception of the sixth they could not make another start, all failing and going out in order.

Reark, the first up for the locals, made a pretty start, landing one over second, but did not score; neither did J. Heckathorn, who also got a hit. Both were left on bases. The second game was a repetition of the first in results, and the only time in the game when the locals were in a running heat was in the third when two hits were bunched, allowing Maley to score. Four hits were scored in the following six innings, but they were scattered and were not fruitful.

FILIPINOS SHOULD BE LOYAL.

Aiding Americans Would Benefit Islands—Pairs Washington With Rizal.

Washington, May 31.—Senor Filipe Buencamino, the head of the federal party in the Philippines, accompanied by the Filipinos now in Washington, paid a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon yesterday. While there Senor Buencamino made an address at the tomb of Washington, in which he said in part:

"Brothers: It has been written in the history of this republic that Washington is first in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his countrymen. We must insist that hereafter the following words be added hereto:

"Washington also occupies the first place next to the immortal Dr. Rizal in the hearts of the Filipinos. Both devoted their precious lives to secure the liberty of their respective peoples. In the union of these two noble sentiments is based the firm faith of the Philippine federal party in the American government, whether the Republican or the Democratic party is in power.

"Both parties love Washington and they will never betray their great father. Either party will give a just, stable and liberal government to our country, because the people of our country are at the present time under the protection of Washington's people.

"The practical, useful and beneficial action on our part is to give our loyal, noble and sincere assistance to the government of the United States in the difficult work of the regeneration of our country. When I stopped at Honolulu, I was greatly impressed by the fact that American civilization has in a period of less than three years already manifested the most magnificent results. Why is this? Because the wise and civilized measures taken by the American government in Honolulu find no obstacles of whatever kind."

Injured by Gun Exploding.

Wichita, Kan., May 31.—While preparing to fire a Decoration day salute here yesterday a gun belonging to Battery A, Kansas state artillery, exploded prematurely, wounding three members of the battery. George Hatter, of Peck, was fatally hurt; Burt Davis, of Wichita, was dangerously wounded, and G. W. Thomas, also of this city, was seriously hurt.

The Hairspring.

The hairspring of a watch is a strip of the finest steel about 9½ inches long and .01 inch wide and .0027 inch thick. It is coiled up in spiral form and finely tempered. The process of tempering these springs was long held as a secret by the few fortunate ones possessing it, and even now it is not generally known. Their manufacture requires great skill and care. The strip is gauged to the .020 of an inch, but no measuring instrument has yet been devised capable of fine enough gauging to determine beforehand by the size of the strip what the strength of the finished spring will be. A twenty-thousandth part of an inch difference in the thickness of the strip makes a difference in the running of a watch of about six minutes per hour.

TROTTING STABLES AT MEMPHIS

Circuit Stars of Hamlin, Billings and Smathers

MEMPHIS has long been noted as the great training grounds for thoroughbreds of the western turf, but not until recently has the Tennessee metropolis developed into prominence as a training ground for light harness horses. The building of the magnificent new Billings park at a cost of over $300,000 established Memphis on the map as a light harness center. This track was built by a syndicate headed by C. K. G. Billings of Chicago. Mr. Billings is an enthusiastic fancier of the light harness horse and maintains one of the most extensive strings of trotters and pacers campaigned in this country. Billings park has first class stabling accommodations for several hundred head of horses. Every stall is occupied, and the horses are all well advanced in their training.

The track is one of the fastest light harness courses in the United States. All kinds of records were broken over it during the first meeting held last fall. According to Ed Geers, Memphis is an ideal spot to winter trotters and pacers, so far as the climatic conditions are concerned. He is also enthusiastic over the manner in which the track at Billings park is kept, but at the same time he cannot help putting in a good word for Selma, Ala., where he wintered the celebrated Hamlin string for many years.

"I like to jog my horses away from the track during the cold months," said Mr. Geers recently. "Memphis has unsurpassed accommodations for horsemen, but the roads in the vicinity of Billings park are not to be compared with those found in the vicinity of Selma. Barring this, I would prefer to winter here. All our horses have wintered in grand shape."

Edward Geers, "the silent man," is without a doubt the most successful driver and trainer on the trotting turf the world has ever produced. He has developed more champions and made more money for his employer, Cicero J. Hamlin, than any other handler of harness horses in the history of trotting and pacing in this country.

C. J. Hamlin, Geers' employer, is the master of the famous Village stock farm at East Aurora, N. Y. Mr. Hamlin is a multimillionaire. He accumulated his enormous fortune manufacturing glucose. Mr. Hamlin went into the horse business for pleasure, but in addition to deriving a lot of pleasure out of it he has also found it extremely profitable, especially of recent years.

Geers is training about thirty head of horses at Billings park for Mr. Hamlin. He also has several horses belonging to other well known patrons of the light harness turf, the best known of which is The Monk, 2:08¼. This horse was bred by Mr. Hamlin, who sold him to his present owner, Fred Gerken of New York. The Monk was the acknowledged king of the New York speedway last year. He is a trotter. Geers campaigned this horse in his four-year-old form with wonderful success. After that The Monk trained off and never saw a track again until Geers took him this winter. The silent man says that he has every reason to believe that The Monk will train this season. If he does, it will take a good trotter to trim him.

Geers also expects great things from a six-year-old full brother to Lord Derby, 2:06¼, one of the grandest trotters ever bred at the Village farm. This brother to Lord Derby is a green trotter with perfect action and fair speed. He is a splendid individual. Hamlin has given this horse every chance to develop, and both he and his trainer will be greatly disappointed if the animal fails to materialize into a first class trotter.

Another green trooter in the Hamlin string from which great things are expected the coming season is the five-year-old chestnut stallion called The Beau Ideal, by Daredevil, out of The Abbot's dam. This half brother to the world's champion trotting gelding is a splendidly gaited trotter, with a rare turn of speed. Like the brother to Lord Derby, this horse has also been given plenty of time to mature, and if appearances and his way of going count for anything he is almost certain to be heard from favorably the coming season. Geers, who developed The Abbot, says that the champion's half brother has shown enough to convince him that the horse is almost certain to develop into a sensational trotter. The Beau Ideal is a dark chestnut in color and is not unlike his famous half brother in conformation, although The Abbot is a beautiful blood bay in color.

The handsomest horse at Billings park is the mare Edna Cook, 2:12, that Geers is handling for a wealthy easterner. Equine experts have pronounced this mare a perfect picture horse. She was sired by Alcantara, and she took her mark as a three-year-old. She has been used as a road mare in recent years. Geers says that she has been doing extremely well this winter and gives every indication of displaying winning form on the track the coming season.

The fastest pacer in Geers' stable is Shadow Chimes, 2:06¼. This horse, as his name would indicate, is a son of Chimes, one of the most successful sires that ever stood at Village farm. His dam is a daughter of Mambrino King. Shadow Chimes has wintered splendidly. He is certain to reduce his mark during the coming season. Many close observers of the light harness game predict that he is going to prove the pacing sensation of 1902.

Another pacer in this stable that promises to give a creditable account of himself the coming season is Fred S. Wedgewood, 2:08¾. This six-year old son of Fred S. Wilkes, dam by Wedgewood, is one of the most improved looking horses at the track. He has taken on a lot of flesh during the past winter and looks like a horse that ought to step along some when Geers turns him loose to pace for the money.

Next to the Geers-Hamlin collection the most celebrated stable in Memphis is that of C. K. G. Billings, the millionaire Chicago gas magnate and founder of the track. Mr. Billings' horses are in charge of Scott McCoy, a well known trainer and driver. The star of the Billings barn is Little Boy, 2:01½, the champion wagon horse of the world. Little Boy has come out of winter quarters in magnificent shape McCoy is going right along with this horse, as it is Mr. Billings' intention to ship the pick of his string to New York, and every effort will be made to have Little Boy ready for all comers on the New York speedway this spring.

Hontas Crook, 2:07½, the great pacer, never showed better in his life than he does right now. He came out of winter quarters looking finer than silk, and appears like a horse that can pace over the moon. Frazier, 2:07½, another one of Mr. Billings' crack pacers, is stepping along regularly.

George Spears is at Memphis with E E. Smathers' great stable, headed by Lord Derby, 2:06½. Mr. Smathers bought Lord Derby from Mr. Hamlin

CICERO J. HAMLIN.

last year for a fancy price. According to Mr. Spears, the famous trotter never wintered better. Lord Derby weighs more now than he ever did, and all the smart horsemen at Billings park predict that he is sure to prove one of the sensational trotters of 1902. Mr. Spears also has two grand looking mares in Ida Highwood, 2:12¼, and Alice Parnes, 2:11¼. The famous pacer Sphinx S., 2:08½, is one of the star performers in Spears' stable. This horse never looked better in his life than he does right now. Spears says that he is certain to reduce his mark this year.

Wouldn't Commit Himself.

There is in a town in the north of England a certain preacher of Hibernian antecedents who considers himself to be a speaker of perfect English, but who is generally credited with the possession of as rich a brogue as can be found anywhere in Tipperary.

Some mention was made of his peculiar pronunciation at a church meeting, which greatly angered him. He immediately called upon one of the members and, after complaining of the injustice done him, asked him whether in his opinion a single trace of the brogue was to be observed in his speech.

"Well," his friend answered, "if you wish to deny it I should advise you to do so in writing."—London Answers.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Fertilizers For Alfalfa.

J. E. O., Wilmington, O., writes: "Which is better for seeding down alfalfa in sugar tree land twice in corn, pure ground bone, medium, ammonia 1.95, 26.23 phosphoric acid, or ammonia 1.50, 7.68 available phosphoric acid, 2.74 insoluble and 8.11 potash—200 pounds per acre?"

In a general way one can use to best advantage to start alfalfa a fertilizer rich in phosphoric acid. Yet potash tells on some soils, and on some lime tells, and on all a supply of immediately available nitrogen is a great help. No one can lay down a rule for another man's soil; only I know of one safe practice, and that is to apply liberally stable manure; it never fails on alfalfa.

Two hundred pounds to the acre is far too light an application if the land is really seriously deficient in fertility. When men ask me to prescribe fertilizers for alfalfa, I feel like playing "Beefsteak Mike" on them. Mike keeps hotel and restaurant in the west. He is a genius to cook a steak. No one dreams of asking for any other meat at Mike's. When a stranger happens in, Mike, who is his own cook and waiter, goes over the familiar rigamarole, "Pork chops, lamb chops, roast beef and beefsteak." The stranger hesitates, then orders pork chops. Mike stares at him in dismay for a moment, then disappears and presently sets down in front of him a magnificent steak, done to a turn. "Eat thot!" he commands. "It will be a heap better for ye!" And never thereafter does the traveler fail to order the steak. So with alfalfa and fertilizers; stable manure will be a "heap better for ye." It adds humus as well as fertility, favors bacterial action and makes the land more porous and easier drained of excess water and more retentive of moisture during droughts. Of the mineral fertilizers wood ashes are the best that I have ever tried. Apply liberally. Lime tells on some soils, making the differences between success and failure.—Joseph E. Wing in Breeder's Gazette.

Rich Soil For Potatoes.

The potato is a gross feeder and will respond readily to liberal feeding. Keep the soil full of humus or decaying vegetable matter. Oftentimes a dressing of coarse manure or green crop plowed under or stubble and root system of a previous grass or clover crop may not of itself contain so much plant food, but the mechanical effect upon the soil, the breaking down of rocky and inert elements of nutrition in process of decomposition that have hitherto been locked up in an irresponsive and unsatisfactory soil, is oftentimes the making of a crop of potatoes, and then, while the potato does not want a wet soil, it does need a great deal of moisture during the latter period of growth, and a good supply of humus will give the soil a very much larger capacity for the storage of this moisture.

Young Stock.

Most farmers find their stock increasing in number at this season with the coming of calves, lambs, pigs and chickens. If pains have been taken to breed from good stock, each one should mean additional income to the farmer or more value to his personal property. They should therefore be welcomed on arrival, properly cared for and hospitably treated. Do not neglect to meet them until they have shivered with the cold a few hours or grown hungry, and do not fail to supply good food in proper amounts at regular intervals. That is the way welcome visitors should be received in this country.—American Cultivator.

Ashes and Strawberries.

We have not found wood ashes best for strawberries except on very sour or damp soil. The strawberry seems to do best on a soil that is neutral—neither very sour nor very alkaline. The ashes contain lime, which will make an ordinary soil too alkaline for the strawberries to do their best. On a very sour soil the ashes would be likely to show excellent results. From our own experience we should use the ashes on the grain. Do not use them on potatoes if you are troubled with potato scab. The lime in the ashes will encourage the work of the fungus that causes this scab.—Rural New Yorker.

Soil For Rhubarb.

Rhubarb needs a deep and very fertile soil, and it is useless to expect to grow it in a thin, dry soil unless under irrigation; not that it needs wet ground by any means, but a soil retentive of moisture and rather inclined to clay, though good rhubarb can be grown in quite a sandy soil if it be well manured. No amount of fertilizer will take the place of stable manure with this plant. The organic matter in the manure, making the soil more retentive of moisture, makes it indispensable when large and succulent stalks are desired.

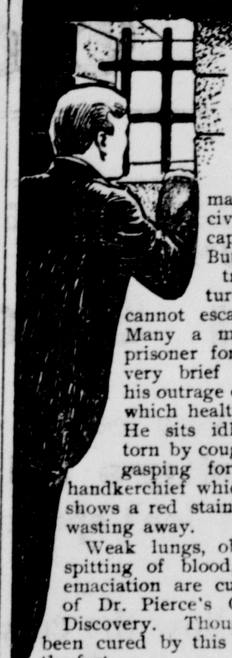

Dry Application of Poisons.

If small garden patches are dusted with poison from bags or with hand bellows for the destruction of insects, it is advisable always to dilute the paris green with ten parts of flour or, preferably, lime, and for application to vegetables which will ultimately be used for food one ounce of the poison should be mixed with six pounds of flour or ten of lime and dusted merely enough to show evenly over the surface. Arsenicals should not be applied to lettuce or other vegetables the free leafage of which is eaten.

Be an Up to Date Farmer.

A farmer cannot be up to date if he farms as his grandfather did. The nineteenth century is out of date; the twentieth century is here. Get a move on you and keep up with the procession, even if you have to subscribe for an agricultural paper in order to do so.

A PRISONER FOR LIFE

Offences against the laws of health are punished rigorously and inevitably by nature. A man may break civil laws and escape punishment. But the man who transgresses nature's law of health cannot escape the penalty. Many a man is to-day a prisoner for life, and for a very brief life, because of his outrage of the laws upon which health is conditioned. He sits idly in his chair torn by coughing spells and gasping for breath. The handkerchief which wipes his lips shows a red stain. He is slowly wasting away.

ALL WRONG

The Mistake is Made By Many East Liverpool Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache.

To be cured you must know the cause.

It is wrong to imagine that relief is cure.

You must cure the kidneys.

An East Liverpool resident tells you how this can be done.

Mr. W. P. Cochran, of Mulberry street, East End, says: "At intervals for 30 years I had serious kidney and bladder trouble. The agony I went through can hardly be described. Many nights I rolled from one side to another trying to find an easy position for my back. I could not move without having sharp twinges of pain, and I was also troubled with urinary difficulty, the secretions being very irregular, and at times very distressing. I ran down so that I could hardly help myself. Doctors treated me. I took a power of stuff and I had given up all hope when I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a never failing remedy. I got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy and after taking half of it I could see some improvement. I continued, and the treatment did me more good than anything I ever used."

Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo, States.

THE ENCOURAGING FACTORS

Outweigh the Disturbing Elements In Business, Says Dun's Review. Features of the Week.

New York, May 31.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Ease in the money market, favorable crop prospects and confidence abroad are the encouraging factors which outweigh the disturbing elements of labor conflicts and unseasonable weather for retail trade at many points. Effects of the depressing influences are less keenly felt, because they are believed to be only temporary, and confidence is expressed that with the resumption of work and normal temperature there will be a return to the liberal distribution of merchandise. Despite the short corn crop last year, the large yield of wheat and high prices for both resulted in the greatest value for the two crops ever recorded, and other industries must share the good fortune by increased sales of products. Collections are prompt as a rule, and payments through the principal clearing houses are well maintained. Notwithstanding diminished speculation, there was an increase of 1.2 per cent at New York, compared with last year's exchanges. Returns as to transportation show that losses in grain movement are being more than made up elsewhere, railway earnings thus far reported for May showing a gain of 6.5 per cent over last year, and 19.0 per cent over 1900.

Clothing manufacturers are purchasing woolen goods in moderation only, and larger deliveries by the leading company increases the disposition towards conservatism.

Grain quotations made a decided advance early in the week, which was not easily explained, except on the basis of light supplies in sight. This element was not new, however, receipts having decreased very materially for many weeks in comparison with last year's movement. Subsequently the gain was lost in option trading, although cash corn was firmly held.

Failures for the week numbered 194 in the United States, against 148 last year, and 20 in Canada, against 27 a year ago.

The Boers Will Yet Be Independent

By Dr. HERMAN D. VON BROEKHUIZEN, Formerly Pastor of Oom Paul Kruger's Church at Pretoria

THERE WILL NEVER BE PEACE IN SOUTH AFRICA UNTIL THE BOERS ARE INDEPENDENT. My brothers in arms who are fighting the Englishmen on the veldt today are, to my mind, nearer independence than were George Washington and his brave soldiers the winter they spent at Valley Forge. If the British can spend $1,000,000 a day on the war, we can keep them busy many a day more. When the war broke out, it started 700 miles from Cape Town. Last month our men won five victories within thirty miles of Cape Town. "The rebellion," as England calls it, is growing rapidly in Cape Colony. IT MAY BE A LONG TIME COMING, BUT INDEPENDENCE IS SURE, and if the United States will remain neutral and stop furnishing mules and horses to the British it will come the sooner.

THE DAY IS COMING WHEN THE BRITISH WILL BE GLAD IF THEY ARE PERMITTED TO HAVE A COALING STATION AT CAPE TOWN, TO SAY NOTHING OF BEING MASTERS OF SOUTH AFRICA.

OHIO SOCIALIST PARTY.

Ticket Nominated and 1900 National Platform Ratified.

Columbus, May 31.—The state convention of the Socialist party was held here yesterday with 56 delegates present. L. L. Rodgers, of Dayton, presided and E. L. Plummer, of Bucyrus, was secretary. The platform was a ratification of the declaration of the national convention at Indianapolis in 1900. The following ticket was nominated:

Secretary of State—Max Hayes, of Cleveland.

Judge of Supreme Court—George P. Maxwell of New Lexington.

Dairy and Food Commissioner—George Flummerfelt, of Fremont.

Member State Board of Public Works—William C. Edwards, of Portsmouth.

HER LOST DIARY.

The Plaguy Thing Had All Her Dearest Secrets Recorded Too.

"Diary!" fairly shrieked the pretty young lady, with flashing eyes, as she walked down the avenue with a companion. "Diary! Don't you say diary to me again. What do you know about it, Kate?"

"Nothing, only that you told me that you had commenced keeping a diary, as usual, and I supposed you had dropped it at the end of a month, as usual. I didn't mean to throw you into hysterics."

"Kate, don't you ever breathe a word of it, but I've lost that diary; dropped it somewhere on the street. And the plaguy thing has all my dearest secrets in it. I wrote just what I thought too. It just sends me crazy. There it is in black and white that Lillian looks like a fright, that Hattie is turning green from jealousy, that Charley is just too sweet to live and that Fred hasn't sense enough to talk more than three minutes unless he rehearses in advance."

"Why don't you advertise and offer a reward?"

"Indeed, I won't. I never want to see the thing again. If any one returns it, I shall declare that it's a forgery from beginning to end. I'll never own up the longest day I live."

"What did you say about me, Edith?"

"Oh, I don't just remember, but something nice. You can depend on that, for you're my very dearest friend."

"I can help your memory. You wrote that I was the most inquisitive little minx in the city and that I thought it my special business to look after other people's business. Here's your diary. You left it at our house, and Tommy spelled out your estimate of me before I knew what he was doing. Good afternoon."

Then they looked at each other, both began to cry, fell into each other's arms and in five minutes were criticising a mutual friend.—Kansas City Independent.

Oriental Rugs.

"Oriental rugs," says a New York dealer, "are nearly as standard as gold. When an auctioneer sells you one for $200, you may think you are getting it cheap, but you can get it at about the same price from any reputable dealer. Every rug house has its agents at auctions, who pay mighty close to the market price for the genuine article. When you have had an oriental rug for ten or fifteen years, it is worth more than when you bought it, provided it is in good condition. It is then an antique. When you hear of any one buying secondhand oriental rugs at about one-third or one-quarter of their value, you may safely wager that they have been patched."

Relay Remonstrance.

At bedtime they wanted to "stay up for mother," but their sister relentlessly put them to bed. Harry maintained a stolid indifference, but Johnny cried justily.

Their sister listened at the foot of the stairs, hoping they would soon be good.

Right Arm Most Hurt.

Experience indicates that accidents are far more likely to occur to the right arm and leg than to the left. Further evidence of this fact is supplied by the makers of artificial limbs. They dispose of many more appendages to the right side of the body than to the other.

Statistics show that in fifty-four cases out of a hundred the left leg is stronger than the right.

Mr. Gladstone's Catch.

"How many members of this house," asked Mr. Gladstone once in the course of a debate on electoral qualifications, "can divide £1,330 17s. 6d. by £2 13s. 8d.?"

"Six hundred and fifty-eight!" shouted one member.

"The thing cannot be done!" exclaimed another.

A roar of laughter greeted this last remark. But it was true, nevertheless. You cannot multiply or divide money by money. You may repeat a smaller sum of money as many times as it is contained in a larger sum of money, but that is a very different thing. If you repeat 5 shillings as often as there are hairs in a horse's tail, you do not multiply 5 shillings by a horse tail. Perhaps you did not know this before. Never mind; you need not be ashamed of your ignorance, for it was shared, as has been demonstrated, by the entire house of commons (bar one member), including the then chancellor of the exchequer.

The Human Mouth.

It has been discovered that the human mouth is slowly but surely and steadily moving toward the left of the face, which will in time bring it somewhere in the neighborhood of the left ear. All the five great races of man have an uncontrollable tendency to eat only with the teeth which grow from the left jaws. This wears out the left teeth more rapidly than those on the right side of the mouth, and this in turn gives the upper and lower jaws an inclination toward the left.

It is the expressed opinion of many scientists who are foremost in the world's roll of professional honor that in the course of time the mouth from causes above mentioned will have completely changed its position and that it will then be situated rather nearer the left ear than to the nose.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. For Sickly Mothers.

Zoa Phora Brings Instant Relief to the Dreadful Pains and Backaches of Irregularity, Cures Change of Life, Weakness, Nervousness, and All the Diseases Peculiar to Women.

LARGE TRIAL BOTTLE MAILED FREE TO ALL WHO WRITE.

Zoa Phora is the only true tonic for tired, pale, sickly women. It revives them, awakens their nerves, tones up their stomachs, brightens their eyes, and gives to their body the elasticity and buoyancy of youth. If you suffer from female weakness, leucorrhea, suppressed or painful monthly periods, falling or displacements, flooding, ulceration, laceration, weak or lame back, disordered liver or stomach, sick kidneys, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous headache, or highly nervous condition of the body or mind take Zoa Phora and be cured.

Rev. Richard Pengelly, M.D.

Mrs. Emma Dobson, Jerseyville, Ills., says: "I have kept Zoa Phora in my house for twenty-one years, using it at monthly periods and preparatory to confinement. I have often said I had sooner go through childbirth without an attending physician than do without Zoa Phora previous to confinement. I have been the mother of five children. Before the first two came I had not heard of Zoa Phora, and suffered labor with one fifty hours before delivery. The last three births I used Zoa Phora during each pregnancy and was not in labor over four hours for any of them. I have now passed safely and comfortably through the critical time, called change of life. I suffered very little pain, because I used Zoa Phora. It is the best medicine for painful monthly periods I have ever seen, and I have given it to several women, and have never known it to fail."

Mrs. Martin Pitsch, of North Dorr, Mich., says: "I was troubled with female weakness, but I took Zoa Phora and I have not felt so well before in five years. I took Zoa Phora last fall just before my baby was born and it was the means of making confinement very easy for me. I continued taking it after baby came and it quickly restored me to health again."

Get a dollar bottle of Zoa Phora at the nearest drug store, or the Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., will send it to you, prepaid, on receipt of price.

POTTS MEETS THE KAISER.

German Emperor and American Officer Conversed.

Berlin, May 31.—Lieutenant Commander Templin M. Potts, United States navy, who is to succeed Commander William H. Reebler as naval attache of the United States here, Oct. 1 next, was presented to Emperor William at noon yesterday in the court yard of the castle. Lieutenant Commander Potts, who was in uniform, was directed to wait until his majesty returned from the spring parade of the Berlin and Potsdam garrisons, on the Tempelhof field, and then, after the ceremony of "trooping the colors," Captain Von Grumme presented the lieutenant commander to the emperor, who was on horseback.

With the lieutenant commander standing by the side of his horse, Emperor William and the naval officer conversed for about 10 minutes, his majesty questioning the future naval attache, with great rapidity, as to where he was born, had he ever been in Germany before, where he had served, etc., eliciting almost a complete autobiography of the naval officer. The emperor finally said he was glad Lieutenant Commander Potts had come to Berlin, and thus closed an informal audience.

WHEN NATIVES LEARN

To Govern Themselves, Then We Can Decide Future of Philippines.

THE PRESIDENT SO DECLARED.

Soldiers Guilty of Cruelties to Be Punished, but Let Not Those Living In Ease at Home Rail Too Strongly Against Them.

Washington, May 31.—Decoration day was observed here yesterday perhaps more generally than ever before. President Roosevelt spoke at Arlington cemetery.

Speaking of the reported cruelties in the Philippines, he said in part:

"The guilty are to be punished; but in punishing them, let those who sit at ease at home, who walk delicately and live in the soft places of the earth, remember also to do them common justice.

"Peace and freedom—are there two better objects for which a soldier can fight? Well, these are precisely the objects for which our soldiers are fighting in the Philippines. When there is talk of the cruelties committed in the Philippines, remember always that by far the greater proportion of these cruelties have been committed by the insurgents against their own people—as well as against our soldiers—and that not only the surest but the only effectual way of stopping them is by the progress of the American arms.

Conquer to Promote Civil Rule.

"Our soldiers conquer, and what is the object for which they conquer? To establish a military government? No. The laws w eare now endeavoring to enact for the government of the Philippines are to increase the power and domain of the civil at the expense of the military authorities, and to render even more difficult than in the past the chance of oppression.

"We believe that we can rapidly teach the people of the Philippine islands not only how to enjoy, but ho wto make good use of their freedom; and with their growing knowledge the growth in self-government shall keep steady pace. When they have thus shown their capacity for real freedom by their power of self-government then, and not till then, will it be possible to decide whether they are to exist independently of us or be knit to us by ties of common friendship and interest. When that day will come it is not in human wisdow now to foretell."

FINE STATUE TO M'KINLEY.

Unveiled With Notable Ceremonies at Muskegon, Mich.—Gift of Millionaire.

Muskegon, Mich., May 31.—One of the grandest and most impressive memorial services ever carried out in this city was the one leading up to and including the unveiling of the heroic bronze statue of the late President McKinley yesterday. The massive granite monument, together with the large bronze figure of the martyred president, is a gift to the public schools of Muskegon by Charles H. Hackley, a millionaire lumberman of this city, and it was erected at a cost of $30,000.

The day was flawless so far as weather was concerned. The hot rays of the sun were tempered by a mild southwest wind, making the day most pleasant. The forenoon exercises consisted of the simple decorating of the graves of the soldiers of the two wars by the surviving members of the G. A. R.

Among the organizations in the parade, which preceded the unveiling, were seven companies of the Michigan national guard, two companies of United States infantry, under the command of Major Wood, from Fort Sheridan, ills., and details of sailors from the United States revenue cutters Morrill and Fessenden.

On the reviewing stand facing the monument were Governor Bliss and staff, Mr. Hackley and Chas. N. Nelhaus, the sculptor. The program consisted of a prayer by Rev. Charles Hadden, an oration by Clarence W. Sisson and patriotic music.

GEN. BEAVER SPOKE.

Made Address at Memorial Day Exercises, In Des Moines.

Des Moines, Ia., May 31.—Memorial day, always observed in a very general way here, was of unusual interest yesterday. No business houses were open after 10 a. m. The day was delightfully cool and clear.

After the big parade of civil and Spanish war veterans, civic societies and citizens, the graves of several hundred soldiers and sailors in Woodland cemetery were strewn with flowers. Exercises were held in the Auditorium, including addresses by General J. A. Beaver, of Bellefonte, Pa., and Judge David Ryan, of this city.

AMERICANS TO BE FETED.

Italians Send Wreath to Fleet In Sampson's Memory.

Castellmare, Italy, May 31.—The American squadron which arrived here May 28, composed of the United States battleship Illinois, flying the flag of Rear Admiral Crowninshield, commander-in-chief on the European station, and the United States cruisers Chicago and Albany, will remain here for one week.

Many fetes have been arranged for the officers and crews of the warships. Yesterday, Decoration day, the vessels were dressed and salutes were fired. The municipality of Castellmare sent a wreath to the squadron in memory of the late Admiral William T. Sampson, which was inscribed, "To the Heroes of Santiago."

Many of the naval officers have visited the ruins of Pompeii.

FLOWERS ON M'KINLEY'S GRAVE

Placed by Widow, S. A. W. and G. A. R. Veterans.

Canton, O., May 31.—Floral offerings to be placed upon the tomb of the late President McKinley were received here Thursday night and yesterday, including a large crate of choice flowers from the White House at Washington. Other offerings came from Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburg and eastern points.

Later Mrs. McKinley took the flowers to West Lawn and had them arranged about the tomb. The formal celebration in Canton began at 1 o'clock yesterday, under the direction of the G. A. R. The Spanish-American war veterans placed a special design on the tomb of the late president. The G. A. R. placed at his tomb the flag of the order and a cluster of flowers taken at random from the supply provided for their dead comrades, making no distinction in favor of the late president.

Memorial Services at Gettysburg.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 31.—At the National cemetery the usual ceremonies of the Grand Army of the Republic were observed yesterday, after which the graves were strewn with flowers by the children and the veterans. At the rostum Rev. D. W. Woods, of Gettysburg, opened the exercises with prayer. An original poem was read by J. Griffin Hall, of Baltimore, and the oration was delivered by Hon. W. D. Foulke, of Washington. The ceremonies concluded with a benediction by Rev. M. Coover, of Gettysburg.

Exercises at Grant's Tomb.

New York, May 31.—Memorial services were held yesterday afternoon at Grant's tomb, in the presence of 5,000 people. The exercises were conducted by U. S. Grant post, of Brooklyn. "America" was sung and Lincoln's Gettysburg address read. Judge Thomas G. Jones, of the United States district court of Alabama, then was introduced and he delivered the oration. President Roosevelt sent a wreath of roses and the Chinese minister, Wu Ting Fang, a bed of roses.

Memorial Day at 'Frisco.

San Francisco, May 31.—Memorial day was fittingly observed in this city yesterday. Floral tributes were strewn on the graves at the various cemeteries, and at the National cemetery in the Presidio the military and citizens gathered to pay homage to the dead. The graves of the soldiers were covered with flowers, donated by organizations and individuals, many of the floral tributes coming from distant cities.

Memorial Day at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., May 31.—The feature of Memorial day celebration was a parade yesterday afternoon of military and civic organizations and the decoration of the graves of the veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American wars. The principal exercises were held under the auspices of department G. A. R. officers.

Memorial Services at Baltimore.

Baltimore, May 31.—Yesterday being a legal holiday in Maryland state, federal and municipal offices were closed, as well as the public schools, courts, banks and exchanges. The principal feature of the day was the decoration of the graves and memorial services by the Grand Army of the Republic.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS.

J. R. Sickles, ladies and gents' tailor, Tiffin, Ohio, writes: "I have been a sufferer from general debility, liver and kidney complaint, chills and fever, headache and lameness of the joints, cold hands and feet. I was a physical wreck; had been treated by some of as good doctors as could be found, and taken nearly all kinds of patent medicines, but it all availed nothing. I have spent hundreds of dollars trying to find a cure. This is a case of twenty years' standing. I got so far gone that I could not work more than six or eight hours per day, and would become perfectly exhausted. I was recommended by Messrs Clyne & Larey to try your remedy, BLOOD WINE, which I am glad to state has proved very satisfactory. I have gained strength, health, vigor, and am able to carry on my daily labor with the greatest ease. I would say that if this should reach the eyes of any sufferers from such complaints they should try BLOOD WINE, which is a safe and a sure cure, full of toning value, without danger of disturbing the action of the heart or stomach. I thank you, gentlemen, for the restorative power contained in BLOOD WINE."

MISS IDA M. SNYDER,

Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club.

Miss Ida M. Snyder.

MENSTRUAL irregularities are generally the beginning of a woman's troubles. With the vitality at a low ebb, the blood weakened, the digestion disordered, she goes about pale-faced, hollow-eyed and haggard, a piteous contrast to the blooming health of her former self. But over 1,000,000 women have found health again by taking Wine of Cardui. As a regulator of the menstrual periods Wine of Cardui has never been known to fail. It has seldom failed to restore perfect health, even in the most persistent and aggravated case of weakness.

Miss Ida M. Snyder, of No. 535 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., has used Wine of Cardui and she says it helped her into a new life. Health to Miss Snyder is worth a great deal. She is an attractive young woman with intellectual attainments and she occupies the position of Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club. This position marks her as a person of intellect, culture and refinement and it speaks highly of the respect and trust her fellow women have in her. She writes:

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would use more intelligence in the matter of medicines, observing results, they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

You may secure the same relief as Miss Snyder, if you take Wine of Cardui as she took it. Thedford's Black-Draught is the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui and it is a liver and bowel regulator which assists greatly in effecting a cure. If you take these medicines according to directions, the relief and cure is simple. Some cases are cured quickly and others take longer because the disease has run longer. Remember how Miss Snyder took Wine of Cardui and has health. The same medicines are offered you to-day.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.
